Changes Noted In Social Security Law

Monthly cash payments are made available to disabled widows as early as age 50 under the 1967 amendments to the Social Security law, according to Edward G. Phelps, District Manager for the Social Security Administration in Cumberland.

The new legislation also increases social security payments for all beneficiaries by at least 13 percent. Special payments made to people age 72 and older will also be increased to $40 a month for individuals and to $60 a month for couples. Mr. Phelps emphasized that the increase will first appear in the social security checks that will be paid early in March 1968. Beneficiaries do not have to do anything to get the increase and are asked not to contact the social security office about the amount.

Question

I probably should have learned this somewhere along the line, but, really now, why is it important that water expands when it freezes?

Answer

Water's expanding into ice when it freezes is so important that life as we know it would be impossible if it did not float. Here's the reason for this. Because water does expand when it becomes ice, it weighs less than pure water and is therefore able to float on the surface of the water which helped create it. If this were not so, the ice would sink to the bottom of its creating body of water. If this situation occurred year after year, all bodies of water would eventually fill up with ice, making the shortage of usable water so acute that today's methods of living would soon become extinct.

bent on spreading fear throughout the country if its people do not bow to them.

This British commentator thinks of Westmoreland as history thinks of Leonidas and Spartans at Thermopplae, John Sobrieski facing the Turks at the Gates of Vienna, Lord Dowding and fighter command in the battle of Britain, for each of these battles changed the face of the world for the better, or rather, prevented others from changing it for the worse.

"So it may be at this moment in Vietnam", he writes. He feels the fighting in Saigon is so that South Vietnam may stay free long enough to grow up so they can dispense with racketeers.

Where aggression is concerned appetite grows by what it feeds on. And if the Viet Cong would outlast the United States, it will be a sorry day for the world.

The writer reminds people that Australia, New Zealand, Thailand, South Korea, and the Filipinos know what is going on even if the British and many Americans do not. This Britisher wanted to make sure that people realize "America Is Fighting for Us". And if that isn't enough to think about, there's the film, "Anarchy U. S. A.," to make us think more deeply. For the pattern of Communist take-over in this country is following the exact pattern of what took place in many countries of Europe, in Cuba and in Algeria. Think, Americans!

Paragraph Opinions . . .

Rep. Durward G. Hall, Republican Congressman from Missouri is pointing out that LBJ's fiscal spending budget isn't really the "bare bones" budget the President says it is.

He points out that the federal government is interested in the social life of the blackbird to the tune of almost $62,000. The National foundation was awarded a $50,400 grant to the University of Washington for "an Ecology of Blackbird Social Organization", and an $11,200 grant to California Polytechnic for a study of "competition and social organization in mixed colonies of blackbirds".

Sunday Stabbing

on Sunday evening in the sheriff's office they testified that they had taken a booth near the door of Bob's & Madelyn's tavern. An argument had begun with Paugh coming over to the booth to make obscene sounds and curse. Others pulled the victim from the booth and the two accused later went outside. They then went to Mrs. Malcolm's home. Mrs. Malcolm was accompanied to the tavern by her 10-year-old son.

Brown was listed as an engineer at Garrett County Memorial hospital and the father of five children.

Jack R. Turney and William W. Grant were appointed by the court to serve as counsel for the defendants and Mr. Turney was present at the hearing Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Thayer said the licenses of the tavern are Robert D. and Madelyn Kemp.

Charcoal Plant Worker

Mr. Paugh had worked for the past four years as a machine operator at the Kingsford Charcoal Company plant at White Church near Gorman.

He is survived by his parents, Frederick and Dora Aronhalt Paugh, with whom he resided; four sisters, Mrs. Betty Hardesty, Deer Park; Mrs. Ruby Baker, route 2, Oakland; Mrs. Dorothy Cosner, Sang Run; Mrs. Nancy Uphold, Gorman; and five brothers, Charles, Albert, Jack, Frederick and Walter Paugh, all at home; and paternal grandmother, Mrs. Mary E. Paugh.

The body was taken to the Minnich Funeral home in Oakland. Funeral services were conducted Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the funeral home with Rev. James F. Remley, pastor of Bethel Methodist church, Mt. Lake Park, officiating. Interment was in Deer Park cemetery.

A Giant Clothespin? Not Quite!

Oak Sculpture One of Thirty To Be Shown Here

Bruce Colvin's amusing yet serious oak sculpture is one of thirty works of art included in "Maryland Artists Today," a touring exhibition assembled by the Maryland Arts Council. The show will appear in Oakland, at the Historical Society Museum on Center street, from March 7 to 24. The artists, all of whom have lived and worked in Maryland, are of top professional caliber and their works are represented in museum and private collections around the world. Styles and techniques range from the familiar academic to outright abstraction in a variety of new and conventional media.

Mr. Colvin's oak sculpture keynotes the publicity and promotion of the exhibition in colorful posters and catalog which accompany the showings around the state. Several local organizations in the thirteen communities that sponsor the exhibition have planned to coordinate it with other annual events.

In Oakland, the exhibition is sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's club, Gregg's Pharmacy and many other clubs and businesses cooperating with the Garrett County Arts Council.

The American Legion club is conducting an oyster dinner on Friday, February 23, beginning at 7 o'clock p. m. The cost is $2.50 per person. There will be oysters on the half shell and baked oysters.

Surgical Dressings Being Made For Cancer Patients

In a recent field trip to Oakland, representatives of the Maryland Division of the American Cancer Society met with the future nurses and instituted the project. Special World Day Of Prayer Service Set

A special United World Day of Prayer service will be held in the Glade Mennonite Church, near Bittinger, Friday evening, March 1, at 7:45.

Guest speaker will be Fannie Yoder, who is employed at Penn Alps, Grantsville. Host pastor is Rev. Melvin Nussbaum. Mrs. George Bowser, of Glades Mennonite Church, is chairman of the service, "Bear Ye One Another's Burdens".

Special music will be presented by the Glade Mennonite Ladies' Chorus. Other churches participating are the Maple Grove Church of the Brethren, the Methodist and Zion Lutheran Churches, Jennings, and Emmanuel Lutheran Church, Bittinger. The public is invited.

This is the eighty-first observance of World Day of Prayer which began in 1887. On the first Friday in Lent, Christians around the world will be uniting in a service of prayer and thanksgiving — prayer for a better world and thanksgiving for a Christian heritage.

In the United States, the day is sponsored by the General Department of the United Church Women of the National Council of Churches of Christ. Locally, an interdenominational committee of church women has assumed the responsibility for the promotion of World Day of Prayer.

Offerings received are used for scholarships for training women for Christian broadcasting in Africa; literacy program in U. S.; support of 13 colleges in Africa, India, Pakistan, Japan, Korea, Hong Kong, Taiwan, and Latin America; support of Migrant Ministry; reception and hospitality programs for students through the International Student Service; and provision of religious work directors for Indian youth.

The service this year is written by Mrs. Rathie Selvaratnam of Ceylon, chairman of the Women of the Asian Church Women's Conference. She has attended church women's gatherings in Africa, other parts of Asia and in the United States.

Refreshing Outlook

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
. . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

What an exciting, stimulating century we live in! There's so much to see and to do. From morning until night we're on the go, and sometimes we can't sleep because our minds are whirling with plans for a busy tomorrow.

It pays to take time to breathe . . . time to unwind. We need a way to restore our souls and bodies so that the demands of modern life will not be overwhelming.

The Christian faith offers in full measure that healing peace within us that the psalmist describes. The Christian outlook is refreshing in its sincere approach to the problems of our complex society.

Why not join your neighbors, and attend church this Sunday? Here is a way to find "that peace which the world cannot give."

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons.

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

THE SHEPHERD

Lesson for February 25, 1968

Background Scripture: John 10.
Devotional Reading: John 10:1-5.

While we were driving through Wyoming's Big Horn mountains this past summer, one of my sons spotted and called our attention to "hundreds of white rocks" on the road that climbed before us. As we drew nearer we recognized that the "rocks" were in reality sheep: a huge flock of sheep that nearly covered the mountainside was moving slowly in our direction.

Rev. Althouse

Our boys were delighted at the prospect of seeing so close at hand the fluffy, white animals. When at last we reached the sheep, however, engulfing our car on all sides like a swollen mountain stream, we were in for a surprise. Fluffy, white, "cute" at a distance, the sheep at close hand were not so white, not so fluffy, and not at all "cute."

Delicious Luxury

In fact, the sheep had an unpleasant odor. They were inhabited by huge flies. And as they continued to buffet the car — for no apparent reason except that the first had done so — it became apparent that they were none too intelligent either. Furthermore, the shepherd, when he passed us, was hardly the romantic figure we had envisioned. He looked tired, bored, and not in the best of moods.

Instinctively the twenty-third Psalm came to my mind and I remembered reading somewhere that most people misinterpret it entirely. Many repeat its words and envision beautiful green hillsides, lavender skies, snow-white sheep, and a fair-skinned shepherd who reminds us faintly of "mother." With this idyllic picture in mind, the psalmist seems to be suggesting that religious faith is a delicious luxury. As G. A. Studdert-Kennedy once put it, we think of religion, "not as life but as a kind of addition to life which is very nice to have but which we could quite well do without."

Yet the sheep in the Psalm look to the shepherd, not for luxuries, but the bare necessities. They seek no little niceties added to life, but the hard, cold realities of food, drink, shelter, rest, and physical protection. The leadership of the good shepherd is the religion of a realist, a pragmatist who is concerned with providing sufficient strength for the meeting of life's daily problems and difficulties. There is nothing of sentimental luxury here.

Not "Little Lambs"

Thus when Jesus says to them, "I am the good shepherd," he is offering leadership to us for the living of life where we are. He promises to provide for our needs, not our luxuries. He does not guarantee us a path without danger, but his sustaining presence in the midst of it. He is the companion who is with us, not only in our "devotional moments," our hours of worship in our churches, the circle of family prayer, but wherever we are, whatever we are doing, he is there.

Neither are we his "little lambs," regardless of how sentimentally sweet it might seem to think so. Like real sheep, we are hardly as white as snow as we might seem at a distance. It is not always the odor of sanctity that hangs upon us. And there are times when we too seem incredibly stupid, doing what we do, not because it is reasonable, but because we are merely copying someone else.

Concept And Reality

"I am the good shepherd," Jesus said. Yet Jesus was never satisfied with saying a thing: he practiced what he preached, he embodied what he taught. In a short while the words of Jesus would be turned to deeds: "The good shepherd lays down his life for the sheep . . . and I lay down my life for the sheep . . . No one takes it from me, but I lay it down of my own accord" (John 10:11-18 RSV).

The cross proved the integrity of those words. The concept of the good shepherd became more than an interesting theory. It became a reality at Calvary one spring afternoon.

What's New Today

What's the latest in practical home decorating accessories? It's slubbed silk lampshades treated with an invisible finish that resists ordinary and even oily soil and stains according to Mrs. Freda Denison, Extension Agent. These white or beige shades can be kept clean indefinitely by wiping with a sudsy sponge or by dunking in a tub of soap or detergent suds, she said.

CAPITOL COMMENT

by Charles "Mac" Mathias
Congressman, 6th District, Maryland

Our Students, Our Schools And The Draft

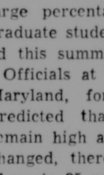
Last year, when the Congress passed legislation extending the draft for four more years, I voiced strong objections to the final version of the bill, and the lack of Congressional attention to reforms. In particular, I regretted that the House gave only about one minute to the complicated question of student deferments.

Now the consequences of that haste are becoming clear. Congress and the nation are waking up to the fact that, unless action is taken very soon, a large percentage of our male graduate students may be drafted this summer.

Officials at the University of Maryland, for example, have predicted that, if draft calls remain high and the law is not changed, there may be a loss of up to 25 percent of the University's entire graduate school enrollment — up to 2100 young men, out of a total expected enrollment of about 8320.

If this occurs, Maryland — and all universities — will lose, on short notice, many of the teaching assistants they had counted on to instruct undergraduates. Many important research projects will be delayed, and a serious crimp will be put in our programs for advanced teacher training. University planning has already been disrupted by uncertainty about enrollment, demand for fellowships, and needs for faculty and facilities. Of course the same uncertainty is troubling the students who could be affected — at least 200,000 in the nation as a whole.

The current problem arose because the 1967 law restricted student (2-S) deferments to undergraduates. Last year, those young men already in graduate schools were generally permitted to finish the academic year, so this June both they and the 1968 college graduates will be liable for the draft.



The new law gives the National Security Council authority to designate occupations and fields of study as "essential" and thus defer men in those fields. But although this provision is eight months old, the Council has never acted — apparently because of disagreements within the Administration as to how narrow or broad such exemptions should be.

Finally, under the law the President can decide, by executive order, which age groups should be drafted first. His present ruling is "oldest first", meaning that the 24-year-old graduate student who becomes I-A next summer is more likely to be called than a 19-year-old. This system could be changed to "youngest first", or the ages could be "mixed", but the President has not chosen to change the system.

All of the possible solutions at this point have liabilities. If student exemptions are extended to all in graduate school, advanced study could become a shelter for avoiding the draft forever. If occupational deferments are granted to some fields, imbalances and strains in the universities will be produced. Yet some action, among unhappy and limited alternatives, is imperative.

In a broader sense, this dilemma dramatizes the fact that the selective service system, which was created over 25 years ago, today imposes inequities and injustices on many individuals, and is inefficient and ineffective in serving national needs. The draft should not have been extended last year without far more thought, consideration and care. We should not wait another four years to seek reforms.

WHY PRESCRIPTION DRUGS CANNOT BE RETURNED

Sometimes a medicine prescribed for you by your physician does not accomplish the desired result, or has a disturbing allergic effect on you which is not beneficial. Your physician will direct you to stop taking that medicine and will usually prescribe another.

Unlike other pharmacy products, which are guaranteed by their maker, prescription drugs cannot be returned for a refund. Pharmacists are responsible for the potency and purity of prescription drugs. Once they have left the pharmacy and are no longer under our supervision, we cannot dispense them in a prescription for someone else. You would not want a medicine returned to us by a sick person.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound yours?

Volkswagen introduces the automatic stick shift.

After lo these many years our humble little bug has gone automatic.

Gone is the clutch.

Gone is the wifely whine, "It's cute, but I can't drive it."

Gone is an era of Volkswagendom. Sniff.

And in its place?

A Volkswagen you can drive all over town without shifting.

Only on the highway do you shift.

Once. (This is an economy move. Which, after all, is still the name of the game.)

But you do have a choice in the matter: you can drive it the easy way (described above). Or you can start out in low and take it through the gears like a regular stick shift.

The automatic stick shift is an option: you pay a little more.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Republican
Oakland, Maryland

We recently received a letter from a former resident of this area who still retains his insurance account with us although he is now living in Towanda, Kansas.

Paul Gnegy, formerly of Eglon, W. Va., moved to Kansas in 1965 following his work in the gas and oil drilling field. In his letter he described the weather there this winter as being mild compared to ours here, with only 3 snows this winter and only one staying on the ground over one day. Lowest temperatures at zero with daytime temperatures rising to 40 to 60 degree range, even as high as 75 this year.

It seems he was having some difficulty in getting his coworkers and acquaintances to believe our area experienced the severe winters he described. Then a recent issue of the Republican, to which he still subscribes came to his rescue with stories and pictures of the snows and drifts and once more his stories are believed. He gave us instructions to tell you that even though he is far away he would not feel right unless he received your newspaper and also asked us to request that news of weather and temperature continue to be part of the news coverage.

The Job Corps is another subprogram of the War on Taxpayers, better known as the "Poverty Program." The Job Corps is advertised as a program which will gather in the unfortunate youth of America and train them to be useful citizens. Can it be said that the Job Corps has performed as advertised and the Taxpayer is getting his inflated dollars worth? Yes, it can, but the following taken from Human Events, August 27, 1966, presents evidence to the contrary.

"More recently, an official OEO publication stated that there were 22,503 youths enrolled in the program at a cost of $292,619,391—which would come to slightly over $13,000 per trainee."

"The cost of some camps, of course, has been higher. At Tongue Point, Ore., the total cost per year per corpsman, according to an OEO official, was $17,500. At Camp Atterbury, Ind., it came to $22,000. At the Women's Job Corps Center in St. Petersburg, Fla., the bill for the first year was $39,205 per 'graduate.'

"But you haven't heard anything yet. At Camp Gary, Tex., Lyndon's Job Corps 'showcase,' only 15 corpsmen had been graduated and placed in jobs after $13 million had been spent on the camp. That sounds like pretty close to $1 million per alumnus, a rather exotic job placement and training fee."

The question is not how can we improve the Job Corps, but how soon can we get rid of it and can the taxpayer survive in the meantime?

Sincerely,
William P. Wright

Fifteen Are Killed On State Highways

Fifteen persons were killed on Maryland highways last week according to the weekly survey published by the State Police. Six of those killed were drivers, seven were passengers, and two were pedestrians. Alcohol was a contributing factor in three of the deaths, speed in eight, and driver error in fourteen.

"In just a few days the Maryland highway safety picture, which for the first few weeks of this year had improved over last year, has gone down hill", said Lt. Col. George E. Davidson, Chief of Operations of the State Police, "and it's hard to put most of the blame on anyone but the driver.

"Last week alone it was the driver who was responsible for the fatality in all but one instance; he was responsible because he failed to obey the rules of the road or because he failed to drive defensively".

Adirondack-Type Shelter Available For Many Uses

With working plans from the University of Maryland one can build an Adirondack-type shelter that is designed for recreational purposes such as scout camps, hunting shelters, and overnight lodgings on the foot trail.

It may also be used as a playhouse or a storage place for garden tools. Some shelters have been used as market stands for fresh produce, says Kenneth Felton, University of Maryland agricultural engineer.

Pole-type construction to fit the skill of beginning carpenters makes this shelter economical and easy to erect. When properly treated with preservative, the poles will last from 30 to 75 years, Felton says.

There is a wide choice of materials for the floor, sidewalls, and roof. Concrete flooring is recommended, but can be either tamped earth or gravel. Sidewalls are of rough-sawn 1-by 10-inch boards battened with 2- to 3-inch strips. The rafters are trussed units and can be prefabricated. The tongue-and-grove boards can be covered with cedar or asphalt shingles, composition roll roofing, steel or aluminum.

Build the shelter so that the back faces the prevailing wind, and the front slopes forward to keep storm water off the floor. For storage purposes close in the front of the shelter to protect it against weather.

Working drawings for USDA Cooperative Farm Building Exchange Plan No. 5998 are available from the Extension Service agent.

Several Hundred Watch Skiacrobat At Wisp Saturday

Several hundred persons were at the Wisp ski area on Saturday afternoon to see Art Furrer, one of the world's foremost skiacrobats, perform daring stunts on the ski slopes.

Furrer descended the slopes on one ski with the other inverted over his head. His antics included such things as purposely falling on the backs of his skis and bouncing back without so much as a sign of losing control. He turned, twisted, and danced on one ski while skimming across the snow as lightly as many skiers walk.

Born in Reideralp, Switzerland, Art became the youngest certified ski instructor in the history of the Swiss Ski association in 1958. In 1960 he won the slalom championship at Wallis, Switzerland. He has been acclaimed a daring skier, an inventive performer, a flawless stylist and a successful instructor.

He has taught skiing at the Roger Staub Ski school in Arosa, Switzerland and the Pontresina ski school near St. Moritz. He has teamed up with instructors Paul Valar of Cannon Mountain and Pinny Pitou at Belknap mountain, New Hampsire, and has given private lessons at Sun Valley, Idaho.

He has starred in ski movies and in several promotional films sponsored by United Airlines, the Swiss tourist office and others. He is technical director of Ski magazine and is correspondent for several European sports publications.

During the summer he is professional mountain climbing guide in the Swiss Alps. At present he spends his winters directing the ski school at Bolton Valley, Vermont.

Mathias Says Government Must Tell People Truth

Congressman Charles McC. Mathias, Jr., (R-Md. 6th) Friday night charged that the present Administration "has forgotten one of the central principles of our republic — that government must tell the people the truth".

In remarks prepared for a Lincoln Day dinner in Bel Air, Rep. Mathias stated that "the threat of a wider war, the decline of our cities, the pollution and waste of our natural resources are challenges which we cannot discount or disregard. But the greatest challenge we face is to restore the spirit of America — to bring candor back to Washington and confidence back to the people".

He declared that "this Administration has forfeited the confidence of the people".

Propose Changes In Game-Fish Laws of State

Twenty-four legislative proposals have been submitted by Governor Agnew's Fish and Game Commission to the 1968 General Assembly for consideration, the Department announced.

The twenty-four recommendations propose to: exempt senior citizens, 70 or over, from hunting and fishing license requirements; eliminate county resident license; raise the price of resident fishing license to $4.25; raise price of non-resident tourist fishing license to $4.50, and increase term to 7 days; raise the price of non-resident fishing license to $10.50; combine Virginia, West Virginia and Washington, D. C. residents' Potomac River fishing licenses, and raise price to $4.50; raise price of Trout stamps to $2.00.

Also, it proposed to: comoine firearms and archery deer stamps into a single Big Game stamp for deer and turkey for $5.25; prohibit non-resident trappers from taking beaver or otter; require that hunting license tag by displayed; enter reciprocal fishing license agreements with Virginia and West Virginia for the Potomac River only; enter reciprocal fishing license agreement with Pennsylvania for the Conowingo and Youghiogheny River Reservoirs only; extend the authority of the Commission to set opening dates of Small Game Season.

The Commission also wishes to: abolish payment of bounties statewide (Garrett County now pays bounties); abolish use of hand guns in hunting; eliminate non-salaried deputy warden system; increase penalty for night hunting to from $100 to $2,000; add the Department of Forests and Parks to "Assistance From Other Officials" in enforcing game laws; make effective fishing license changes Jan. 1, 1969; hunting and related licenses July 1, 1968.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear husband, father, grandfather, and great grandfather, Grover C. O'Brien, who passed away one year ago, February 25, 1967.
We did not know the pain you had
Or hear your final sigh
We only know you passed away
Without a last goodbye.
Gone dear Dad, gone forever
How we miss your smiling face
But you left us to remember
None on earth could take your place.
A happy home we once enjoyed
How sweet the memories still
But death has left loneliness
This world can never fill.
O how we miss you dear.
Sadly missed by Wife, Sons, Daughters, Grandchildren and Great Grandchildren.

Southern Drops 70-68 Decision To Terra Alta High

Barry Sanders, a thorn in the side of Southern High school all evening swished a 17-foot jump shot at the buzzer, handing Terra Alta a 70-68 decision over the Highlanders Tuesday night at Southern.

The score was knotted at 68-all in the final moments of a ball game during which neither team could gain a lead of more than five points. Terra Alta had control of the ball as the clock ticked off the last five seconds of play and Sanders who had already scored 23 points, took a fateful shot in a final, desperation effort. The ball went through the hoop and with it brought Southern's 14th defeat of the season in 17 games played.

With Sanders pacing the way Terra Alta assumed a 16-11 lead after the first period but Southern fought back to gain a one-point advantage 31-30 at half-time. The Highlanders, sparked by Pat Flanagan and Jack Alvarez, zoomed out to a 50-45 lead after three periods of play and the lead changed hands several times in the final stanza.

Flanagan finished with 20 points for Southern and Alvarez had 17. Andy Cosby turned in eleven while Harvey Speicher had ten for Southern. Hawkins and Flanagan fouled out with five personals. Hawkins had 8 points.

Southern had the edge in field goals 28 to 27 but Terra Alta had 16 of 24 fouls compared to 12 of 23 for the Highlanders.

Southern will wind up its campaign Friday night by hosting Aurora High.

An Ordinance

AN ORDINANCE of the Mayor and Council of Loch Lynn Heights, a municipal corporation of the State of Maryland, entitled "AN ORDINANCE REGULATING THE USE OF PUBLIC SEWERS AND PRIVATE SEWAGE DISPOSAL SYSTEMS."

BE IT ENACTED AND ORDAINED by the Mayor and Council of Loch Lynn Heights, as follows:

Section 1. It shall be unlawful for any person to place, deposit, or permit to be deposited in an insanitary manner upon public or private property within the Town of Loch Lynn Heights, or in any area under the jurisdiction of the Town, any human or animal excrement, garbage, or other objectionable waste.

Section 2. It shall be unlawful to discharge to any natural outlet within the Town of Loch Lynn Heights, or in any area under the jurisdiction of the Town, any sanitary sewage, industrial wastes, or other polluted water, except where suitable treatment has been provided in accordance with subsequent provisions of this ordinance.

Section 3. Except as hereinafter provided, it shall be unlawful to construct or maintain any privy, privy vault, septic tank, cesspool, or other facility intended or used for the disposal of sewage.

Section 4. The owner of all houses, buildings or properties used for human occupancy, employment, recreation or other purposes, situated within the Town and abutting on any street, alley, or right-of-way in which there is now located or may in the future be located a public sanitary or combined sewer of the Town, is hereby required at his expense to install suitable toilet facilities therein, and to connect such facilities directly with the proper public sewer in accordance with the provisions of this ordinance.

Section 5. Where a public sanitary or combined sewer is not available under the provisions of Section 4, the building sewer shall be connected to a private sewage disposal system complying with the provisions of this article.

Section 6. Before a commencement of construction of a private sewage disposal system the owner shall first obtain a written permit signed by the Clerk. The application for such permit shall be made on a form furnished by the Town, which the applicant shall supplement by any plans, specifications and other information as are deemed necessary by the Mayor and Council. A permit and inspection fee of Five Dollars ($5.00) Dollars shall be paid to the Town Treasurer at the time the application is filed.

Section 7. A permit for a private sewage disposal system shall not become effective until the installation is completed to the satisfaction of the Mayor and Council. They shall be allowed to inspect the work at any stage of construction and, in any event, the applicant for the permit shall notify the Clerk when the work is ready for final inspection, and before any underground portions are covered. The inspection shall be made within forty-eight (48) hours of the receipt of notice by the Clerk.

Section 8. The type, capacities, location, and layout of a private sewage disposal system shall comply with all recommendations of the Department of Public Health of the State of Maryland. No permit shall be issued for any private sewage disposal system employing subsurface soil absorption facilities where the area of the lot is less than fifteen thousand (15,000) square feet. No septic tank or cesspool shall be permitted to discharge to any public sewer or natural outlet.

Section 9. Constitution Cost Is Estimated and Is Controversial

An estimate as to what it would cost to implement the proposed constitution was made this week and was considered staggering—$153.9 million.

This would include building new court houses in all of the 23 counties and Baltimore city as a cost of $130 to $150 million.

The cost analysis was made by Michael J. Potthast, chief of the general accounting division in the Comptroller's office.

The cost projected assumed that many counties, because of expanded judicial duties under the new document, would build new court houses or expand existing facilities.

Fiscal Research Bureau is engaged in calculating added costs if the new constitution is adopted. Potthast also said an annual extra cost of $23.9 million could be determined. This would break down $2.5 million for the legislature; $955,000 for the executive branch and $20.4 million for the judiciary.

H. Vernon Eney, president of the constitutional convention, assailed as "grossly and shockingly incorrect" the estimate.

One of the items which Eney disputed was the assumption that new court houses would have to be built in all counties and Baltimore city. Eney called this the "most preposterous part of the statement".

Eney said the ratification of the new constitution should result in a reduction in the overall cost of government because of greater efficiency.

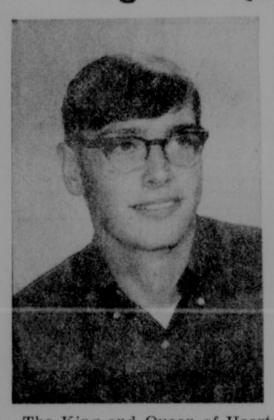
THE REPUBLICAN

VOLUME 91. OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD., FEBRUARY 29, 1968 PER COPY 10c NUMBER 52A

On Teacher Raise . . .

A request for an increase in teacher salaries was presented to the County Commissioners several weeks ago, which would raise the starting salary to $5,700 and gradually increasing to $8,960 at the end of thirteen years; and up to $9,800 for persons with master's degrees.



We believe the request is a valid one and one that the county commissioners could very well agree with and proceed in making it a reality. Many reasons are pointed out by responsible organizations, PTA's, business men, Board of Education, and others, that such a raise should be granted.

The present salary scale starting at $5,100 is lowest in the state. After taking off withholding tax for both state and federal, social security, and retirement, a single person just starting in his teaching career gets a take home pay of $298 per month. If married and three in a family he gets $329.70. The scale is particularly hard for beginning teachers.

The county spends less for education than any other county in the state. It has the lowest debt service

Guardian Wins Suit; Demurrer Is Sustained

Citation For Constructive Contempt Dismissed By Howard County Judge

A demurrer filed by the Guardian Publishing company, Inc., of Frostburg, its editor, Dorothy M. Martin, and John Martin, in answer to a petition for a citation for constructive contempt, has been sustained by Judge James McGill, of Howard county, who was called in as judge in the case. The citation for constructive contempt was dismissed. The order of court was signed by the judge on Monday, February 26 in the Garrett County Circuit Court. The state was ordered to pay the costs.

The judge observed that the citation showed that the judicial proceeding in question had been concluded at the time of the publication of the article in the "People's Guardian", and that for that reason the demurrer would be sustained and the citation dismissed.

The contempt proceedings were instituted last December because of a story which appeared November 30 in that newspaper concerning the hearings in juvenile court in Oakland for fourteen young men and women and which ended in dismissal of all cases after a lecture to teen-agers and parents.

The petition had declared that the printed article relating to the official conduct of Associate Judge Harold E. Naughton tended to scandalize and create a general disregard of the authority of the judge; that the writing treated falsely and contemptuously the Circuit Court and Judge Naughton, acting in his judicial capacity and that the publication of the article "is conduct that demonstrates a gross disregard of that respect and dignity which is essential to the maintenance of the authority of said court in the esteem of the people".

The petition also had declared the article was false and known by the defendants to be false, or printed with a reckless disregard for the truth. It had also indicated that language used in the article was designed and calculated to be contemptuous of the court.

The date for a hearing in the case had originally been set for February 15 in Oakland. Fred A. Thayer was to have argued the case for the citation which was signed by Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill. Defendant attorney was Leonard Kupelman, a member of the Civil Liberties

R. D. Kemp Is Charged With Alcohol Violation

In one of the five cases brought before Oakland Trial Magistrate Robert M. Maroney during the past week, Robert D. Kemp was charged with selling and permitting to be sold an alcoholic beverage on Sunday.

Kemp, charged by Tfc. R. D. Lashley, is the holder of a Class "D" license which permits beer to be sold on the premises only between the hours of 7 a. m. and midnight. No alcoholic beverages are permitted to be sold in county limits on Sunday.

He posted $200 cash bond at his February 21 hearing and is awaiting Circuit Court action in March. Maximum fine on the charge is $200.

In other cases, Edna Moorehead charged Charles Moorehead with assault upon herself on February 19 at Bloomington. Mr. Moorehead pleaded not guilty, but was found guilty and sentenced to six months under the jurisdiction of the Commissioner of Correction.

Norma Whitacre pleaded not guilty and was declared not guilty of an assault charge brought against her by James Whitacre.

Harry Hockman pressed charges against James Cosner for trespassing after having been duly warned by the owner of the property, and against Samuel Hockman for assault against the said Harry Hockman. In both cases, the accused pleaded not guilty, and were found not guilty by the Magistrate.

Mrs. Anne Bell Is Council Candidate

Mrs. Anne Bell, wife of Jay L. Bell, of Oakland, on Monday afternoon, filed her candidacy as a member of the city council, subject to the municipal election on Monday, March 11. She is the third candidate to file for the office.

Mrs. Bell and her husband operated Jan Florists from 1958 to 1964 and the former is still associated with the business. She is interested in civic activities, is a member of the Merchants association, a member and past president of the Business and Professional Women's club, serving on district and state boards of the Maryland Federation; is at present first vice-president of the Civic club of Oakland, a member of the recently organized Youghiogheny Glades chapter, D. A. R. She was one of five women to serve on the grand jury when women were first authorized to participate, and was clerk to the jurors in 1959.

The Bells have three children, Jay, student at the University of Maryland, residing at Hyattsville, who served with the army for three years, a portion of that duty in Vietnam; Lois, an employe of Browning Foodland; and David, serving with the U. S Navy, now stationed in Honolulu.

Also filing for city council later Monday afternoon was Bernard Nally, operator of an antique shop in Oakland.

Need For County Planning Cited

The need for comprehensive county planning was discussed at a meeting held Monday, February 26, in Oakland. The meeting was held at the request of the Technical Action Panel of the United States Department of Agriculture and was attended by some thirty-five representatives of farm and civic groups.

Richard Schaub, Maryland Planning Department, explained the advantages of planning for orderly development of counties and smaller communities. He stated that planning involves three major steps: the gathering of information about the county; its people, resources present development and its needs or problems. Most of this information has already been assembled for Garrett County. Second is the setting down of goals for future development; how and in what direction do we want the community to develop, and what needs should be met and what problems solved. The third step step is a statement of what should be done to properly use the county's resources, meet its needs and attain an orderly growth of the community or county. A good plan, Mr. Schaub pointed out, takes into consideration such things as population growth, housing, industrial development, schools, roads, water, sewerage, recreation and other things that will influence how the county will develop and what kind of place it will be for

Four Injured In Collision; One Seriously

Four persons were injured, one seriously, in a headon collision early last Saturday evening on state route 135, one mile east of Mt. Lake Park.

Mrs. Helen Thayer, 37, of Mt. Lake Park, wife of Percy Thayer, was the most seriously hurt and was transferred from Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland to the West Virginia university medical center at Morgantown. Attaches at Garrett County Memorial hospital said she sustained serious head injuries and was unconscious when taken to Morgantown.

Paul Douglas Thayer, 13, was listed at the hospital as "satisfactory" and William Deckman, 29, of Mt. Lake Park, was also admitted and was listed as "satisfactory." His left leg was pulled from the socket and he also sustained a chipped elbow, a number of cracked ribs, and two broken teeth besides multiple bruises.

Lisa Thayer, six, was treated and released. Mrs. Thayer was placed in the intensive care area of the medical center. She sustained a fractured skull, broken jaw, broken collarbone, both legs broken, both arms broken, three vertebra shattered, and three ribs broken. She was thrown from the car by the impact.

Deckman was pinned in the car for almost a half hour. The Oakland firemen were called because of the danger of fire and aided in forcing the door until the man could get his foot free.

According to Trooper S. R. Russell of the Maryland State Police, Mrs. Thayer was westbound and her car left the road and skidded on the shoulder. It then veered across the highway and into the eastbound lane of traffic and struck an eastbound car driven by Mr. Deckman.

Both the 1966 Rambler station wagon of Deckman and the Dodge Charger of Mrs. Thayer were completely demolished.

Commissioners To Hold Hearing On Community Action

Purpose of this meeting will be to provide an opportunity for citizens to express their viewpoints on the Community Action program in an effort to assist the Commissioners in making a decision regarding the future of this agency.

The public is invited to submit written comments to the Board of County Commissioners prior to the meeting date, and will be given an opportunity to voice opinions at the public hearing, Mr. Sines said.

Land Purchase For Jr. College Is Settled

Board of Education Selects Glotfelty-Wagner Area For Location

Agreements for the purchase of the land for the future junior college in the McHenry area, were reached on Tuesday afternoon by the Board of Education with the owners of three properties.

The site selected will be the Glotfelty-Wagner area and will include at least sixty acres, and perhaps more, if needed, it was announced by Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools.

Although previous options on the property had expired, Mr. Hawkins said the owners had agreed to continue the prices as previously specified, except that the board lost the $1,000 that had been paid on the first option and which had expired.

The price for the twenty-six acres owned by Gerald Glotfelty will be $26,000; $1,325 for the four acres owned by Robert L. Glotfelty; and $1,000 per acre for at least thirty acres of C. W. Wagner. Additional acreage will be available from Mr. Wagner for the same price, it was stated.

Mr. Hawkins said the tracts agreed upon were completely free of right of way restrictions.

The lands are now to be surveyed and appraised by qualified appraisers and then the work done presented before the Board of Public Works.

Mr. Hawkins said that all necessary procedures should be completed within thirty days and in the architect's hands by that time.

The site is located between the Mosser and the Bumble Bee roads. In the original recommendation it stated that the site provided adequate acreage, had a good road network already in being, with primary and secondary access and egrees points at any desired place along the two sides of the site, has best accessibility for majority of students, will have site development costs much less than other two proposed sites, is on high ground overlooking surrounding terrain; is an attractive site, providing view of Deep Creek Lake; is adjacent to developing residential-type neighborhood and is limited only by its irregular shape.

Northern To Play Valley in District Playoff March 5th

The Northern High Huskies will play Valley high school of Lonaconing in district playoffs, it was learned Tuesday evening, at which time Valley High won the class B championship of Allegany county by trouncing Bruce High school 68 to 40.

Bruce and Valley had tied during the regular season with one victory each.

The Northern Huskies won the county championship by defeating Southern on two occasions, but the district playoffs have nothing to do with the county championship since the two high schools in this county are in different classes, due to the number of male students in the senior high school. Southern is in class A and will play Frederick High school at Hagerstown on Saturday, March 9. Northern High school is in class B and will play on the Southern High court on Tuesday, March 5, at 8 o'clock.

This is the first time for a number of years that a district playoff will be held in Oakland.

Above is "Obiit," a casein painting by Robert Karsten, which will be one of 30 works of art displayed in the Garrett County Historical Society Museum on Center Street. The exhibit will be in Oakland March 7 through 24, and will include all types of work by contemporary artists.

*In memory of my Irish grandmother, who loved it:

Square Dancing

If Krushchev came once again to view the decline or affluence of a capitalistic society, I would ask him to change to his farmer clothes, grab a big handkerchief, and come along to the next square dance. He would never believe that men who had spent a full day at work could labor so heartily for a few more hours each night, to the bait of gay fiddle strings, a guitar, and a banjo, but after seeing one display of this distinctly American dance, and wiping his own pate if he danced, too, chances are slim that he could solemnly accuse our people of thinking always of the wealth of a few.

Square dancing in our mountains is a rollicking combination of heritages, for we do the German elbow swing and variations of Irish or English reels, as well as prominent native figures. Originally the square dance was derived from parts of the French cotillion, a sedate dance, and Kentucky variations of English folk dancing. You know it comes from the common work and sport of pioneers, also, after hearing "Reel the Reel", Chase that Rabbit", and "Birdie in a Cage". The beautiful thing about its form is the carefully constructed pattern which always emerges from a set of eight people who eventually get right back to their original partners, with four couples as perfectly balanced as they were at the start.

It is concentrated, clean fun; no one has much time to roll eyes or say sweet nothings, as he is busy dancing and his partner needs to keep in step. The music and that booming-voiced caller drowns out most conversation, so you smile, forget yourself, and dance. The floor shakes and you never were so hot from just moving, but the feet don't stop. "Old Joe Clark", "Fisher's Hornpipe", or "Ragtime Annie' take care of silent feet.

Synonymous with the square dance is the hall at Avilton, where the St. Ann's people for many years have hospitably welcomed and danced with all. It is within the memory of several generations, the gay nights and glad rhythms. Even the ride across the ridge, with a high sky and starry twinkles, was a signal for exhilaration, and when Claude Pope met you at the door, his smile completed all anticipations. What a night for fifty cents! Father Hilary and his long flashlight protected you during the recreation. The Crowes, Weimers, McKenzies, Hetzes, Wilhelms, and Broadwaters appeared from every chair, and if you didn't know the first name you just labeled by face, noodded the time of evening, and proceeded to dance. I am told that before a younger generation remembers, it was always the custom for the chivalrous gentlman to thank his partner for the dance and offer her a treat in the lunchroom maintained by pleasant, skillful ladies.

It takes rather hefty men, some of whom display the ruddy touch of outdoor toil on their faces, and not-so-dainty maids to keep up with Avilton dancers. Most of these people would stare in astonishment at the easy, soft style of a modern variation. You can cut the half sashay and endless counts for a gay "waltz right through" with another good waltzer. For my preference, it is quite true that when you "all join hands and circle the wheel", the more you dance the better you Do feel. And when one square hasn't made it quite round, there's one short moment to catch your breath before the next promenade, one moment that modern steps don't always allow.

Variety in intricacy of figures always caught inexperienced dancers in "Climbing up the Golden Stairs", a complicated one, but only those who have done it can recall the endearing charm of someone who really did stand back to watch her smile and then stand up to swing her awhile. It never failed to hasten giggles when you were a petite girl and ended doing "Upset the Cider Barrel" with the opposite man, a six-foot windmill resembling Ichabod Crane.

What a simple, pleasant process it seems to have been, growing up with a relaxed and safe recreation like square dancing. You knew all the figures from repetition; it was sheer joy to have your body in time with all and place your mind in abeyance to let the fun drift in.

The writer never fails to let all Marylanders know that from Cheyenne to California there never has been a more beautiful square dance pattern than our Garrett County "Mow the Wheat". Its memory stirs the mind to picture it again, just before the ride back over the crest of Pea Ridge. And may the true ancestral square dance of Western Maryland live on in the folk art of lighthearted mountain people.

Is Your Name FOLEY?

Foley, an old and honored surname, is of Irish origin. It is the equivalent of Foly and, according to authorities on the origin of names, is obtained from the Gaelic "fowladha" meaning "marauder". Ancient manuscripts indicate that the surname Foley originated in the present county of Waterford before the 10th century and that subsequently it became quite popular in southwestern Ireland. The coat-of-arms of the Foley and affiliated families bears the motto "That I May Be Of Use". It should be noted also that Worcestershire and adjacent counties in England have been the home of quite a large number of Foleys for a few centuries, but notwithstanding this fact it is the consensus of opinion that Foley is completely an Irish surname with no indication that in some cases it may be of English origin.

According to the Fifth Series of the Pennsylvania Archives, Favil Foley served in the Pennsylvania militia at the time of the Revolutionary War.

The first census of the United States, taken in 1790, has one listing of a person by the name of Foley who was a resident of Maryland and head of a family at that time. He was Henry Foley of Frederick County. The census records of Virginia for the same year contain four references to persons by the name of Foley.

There are nineteen listings of persons by the name of Foley in the latest directory of Phi Beta Kappa, the honorary scholastic society.

John Samuel Foley, (1833-1918) was ordained priest, Roman Catholic Church in 1856 and was consecrated Bishop of Detroit in 1888.

Thomas J. Foley (1866-1918) was vice-president, Illinois Central Railroad Company, with offices in Chicago.

Arthur Lee Foley (1867-1945) was professor and head of the department of physics, Indiana University for forty-one years.

Francis Drake Foley is rear admiral, U. S. Navy.

James Thomas Foley is U. S. District Judge, Northern District of New York with offices in Albany.

Henry Michael Foley is professor of physics at Columbia University.

Northern High 8th In Wrestling Tourney

Allegany county matmen won eight of twelve individual championships but Williamsport High school grapplers took the team title in the annual Maryland district one tournament last Saturday night at Hagerstown.

There were no finalists from this county. Doug Carey, 154-pound wrestler, reached the finals on Friday for Northern High school. Southern High wrestlers did not compete in the district tournament.

Bruce and Beall had three champions each while Valley High had two class winners. Joe Morgan, Valley, closed out his career by registering his 47th consecutive victory and upped his 4-year record to 53-1 by defeating Davis of South Hagerstown in the 103-pound class. Dave Hartman, 138-pounder, was Valley's other champion. He copped a district title for the third straight year.

Firemen Called Twice

Oakland firemen answered two alarms last Thursday and Friday. They traveled some four and one-half miles on Thursdsay morning to the home of Charles Tichnell, on the Gorman road, on account of a flue fire. There was no damage.

Damage to the extent of some $200 was done to the summer home of Lester E. Cook, of Baltimore, located on the Sang Run road on Friday morning. The fire was discovered by a power company meter reader, who went to the nearby home of William E. George, Jr., who turned in the alarm about 11:30.

The home was unoccoupied at the time and it was thought there may have been a short circuit in the wiring as an electric clock was stopped at 9:52 a. m.

Northern's FFA Week Highlighted By Many Activities

Future Farmers in Northern High School recently completed a week's activities revolving around the National FFA week slogan, "Challenging Youth in Agriculture".

Observed February 17 to 24, Northern's FFA week was highlighted by the announcement that the County Commissioners has signed fo the grant to improve agricultural facilities for tnat school.

A small teaching greenhouse, additional farm mechanics shop facilities and equipment replacements are to be brought about by the $90,000 grant.

Also of interest to the FFA boys was word that the replacement of their present farm tractor had been approved. Arnold Brothers, Oakland, submitted a low bid on a gasoline powered unit and an alternate low bid on a Ford diesel three-plow unit. The diesel unit was selected, in view of modern farming trends toward diesel power.

Now the FFA and vocational agriculture students are engaged in ways to purchase necessary equipment for the tractor's work on the school farm.

Vonda Lowdermilk was elected FFA Chapter Sweetheart and reigned over the 1968 Sweetheart Social and Dance, held in Northern's cafetorium. Mary Alice Jenkins, Joyce Railey and Sharon Wiley were runnersup. The FFA rated attendance as being the best in recent years.

WFRB radio station in Frostburg invited the Future Farmer officer to make a 25-minute, live broadcast during the week. Francis Harris, Northern principal, accompanied the officers, their sweetheart, Vonda Lowdermilk, and their FFA advisor to the station on Monday afternoon to present information on Northern High School and both Northern and National FFA and vocational agriculture programs.

To end the week, the chapter donated the soft drinks and the services of their advisor to the local Heart Fund Campaign dance held in the gym.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

February 26, 1968

Dear Sir:

In an attempt to inform the public about the need for the teacher salary increase, the following letter has been composed representing a composite situation in which many Garrett County teachers have found themselves. This letter represents the problems of many teachers; thus, the Garrett County Teachers' Association requests that you print it as a letter to the editor.

I am a former teacher in Garrett County who could not afford to stay. I spent four years in college to come here, teach school, and have my family do without while fellow classmates who never went to college make as much as twice my salary.

First, consideration should be given to the extensive preparation which is necessary for the teaching profession. In order to receive a standard professional certificate, a Bachelor's Degree, or approximately 128 hours of college credit is required. Specific requirements for education and subject matter courses are set up by the State Department of Education. It is now required that each teacher should, within a 10 year period, complete requirements for a Master's Degree or its equivalent. This means approximately 36 hours of additional college credit. All of this education is expensive; in fact, loss of salary during the time spent in school increases the cost of acquiring teacher certification to as much as $28,000. Thus, a teacher sacrifices a great deal of time and money.

After acquiring this costly education, a teacher should expect a comfortable salary. He, like others, struggles to meet the rising cost of living.

Six years ago when I started teaching, my salary was $3,400. I was married and had one child. After purchasing an automobile which was necessary for transportation to my school, there was not enough money left for a down-payment on a home. However, we were fortunate in finding a home for rent at $70 per month. After seven years of teaching and saving and having then three children, I was still unable to purchase a home. My salary was $6,000, but my take-home pay was only slightly more than $300 per month. Every summer I worked to supplement my salary.

Finally, the lure of higher salaries was too tempting. I accepted a teaching position in another county at a salary of $7,400. The beginning salary for teachers in that county is $5,800, which is $100 more than the proposed salary for beginning teachers in Garrett County.

I had always dreamed of raising my family in Garrett County. I enjoyed teaching the children, but I could not afford the loss in salary. Until this situation is remedied, many teachers will not be willing to accept positions in Garrett County and many of those who are there now will not return in the future.

Yours truly,
Garrett County
Teachers' Association

be invoked;

If necessary, a request for sanctions be made to MSTA.

It was revealed that a poll taken in each school to see what backing the association had for this course of action, showed some 90 percent of the teachers in favor.

It was pointed out that teachers felt they had asked for a fair request of the county government and even if adopted the scale still would be lowest in the state. It was also shown that while the county is not the poorest in the state the county spends less than any other county in the state for education. The county is the only one on the state minimum school budget required by law.

The report aired before the county council indicated that a crisis did exist. The non-competitive salary scale caused vacancies this year which made it necessary to fill 40 vacancies. Three still exist. Of new teachers 23 are uncertified. It was stated that some 40 to 50 qualified teaches would be able to retire within the next two years.

Mr. Myers declared that should the salary scale not be adopted this year as requested there would be a definite threat of a teachers' union in the county next year to bargain with rather than a teacher group.

Several recommendations to help were made and they were adopted by the council, which included:

Petitions of support from each PTA; personal letters from members of the organization; personal contacts with county officials; publicity campaign on radio and in newspaper be initiated; possiblity of a round-table discussion involving the county commissoners, teachers and interested persons on a Sunday afternoon

The Council agreed to create a speakers' bureau to provide speakers to interested groups to present the teacher cause. Interested persons could contact Lawrence Myers, GCTA president, or Paul Mateer, County Council PTA president.

Growth of County Shown In Book

The growth and industrial development of Garrett County is reflected in statistics released by Larry L. Liles, district manage of Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., at Baltimore, basing his facts on a physical count of the January, 1968 edition of the company's Reference Book, Mr. Liles reports that there are now 274 manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers located in the County.

The Reference Book lists those manufacturers, wholesalers, and retailers who seek or grant commercial credit, but it does not include some of the service and professional businesses, such as beauty and barber shops, security dealers and real estate brokers.

On Teacher Raise . . .

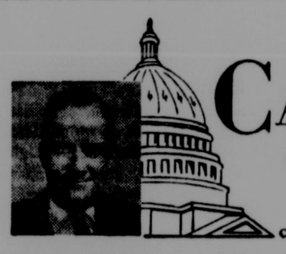
of any county in the state, and is understood to have a substantial unbudgeted surplus on hand because of the continual rise in the assessable basis which now approximates $75 million dollars.

Every county in the state except Garrett County has given a supplemental salary above the state minimum. Certainly a crisis exists, and is more critical than ever before.



The Commissioners should weigh this question on its merits and disregard the threats and attempts of teachers to force the issue by preparing to strike. This newspaper will support the teachers in their quest for salary increase as long as normal procedures are exercised, but this support will cease as soon as they endeavor to carry out the suspension of all extra curricular activities in the schools, and the calling of a strike.

The teachers have agreed to a contract to teach for the 1967-68 term. Should that contract not be honored, every teacher would be subject to dismissal by the Board of Education, with consequent loss of professional integrity, and possible loss of tenure.

Teachers, even though desperate and frustrated, have no right to jeopardize the credits of the students by making it impossible to complete their required number of days in order to obtain a diploma and thereby cause a cancellation of graduation.

Neither do we agree with the threat of "sanctions" by the teachers if a raise is not granted by a specified time. Once teachers strike and their professional integrity is violated their integrity in the future will also be open to question.

A contract is a contract and should be honored as such. Surely there is a better way to obtain an increase in salaries than to jeopardize the standing of the children.

CAPITOL COMMENT

Who Has Keys To Your Car?

Auto theft is the third most frequent felony in the United States, after burglary and grand larceny. About 1800 cars are stolen in the nation every single day — and although many of these are eventually recovered, the loss exceeds $140 million per year.

Auto theft is a major factor, perhaps the greatest single factor, in juvenile crime and delinquency. Over 80 per cent of all car thefts are committed by people under 25, and about 63 percent — almost two-thirds — by youth no older than 18. While many of these incidents are "joyrides", made without any deep criminal intent, they often lead to accidents, to criminal records, and in short to tragedy.

Stealing a car has become relatively simple, from a technical point of view, because of the great growth of the business of selling master keys. It is now possible to answer an ad in a magazine, and for under $10 receive through the mail a set of master keys which will open almost any car made in the United States in the last ten or fifteen years. One company alone sold 22,000 sets of these keys in an 18-month period — and a survey of key purchasers in several cities showed that 35 percent already had police records.

The House of Representatives this week struck a blow against this route to auto theft. We passed and sent to the Senate a bill which would prohibit the mailing of master keys — except to people with a legitimate need for them, such as locksmiths, garage operators, car dealers, and law enforcement agencies.

This bill will not, of course, stop all auto thefts, much less end crime. But it is a constructive step toward reducing the incidence of auto theft, and will remove one of the temptations which have all too often started American youths along the grim road of delinquency.

I hope this will be just the first of a number of anti-crime measures to be enacted by the Congress this year.

$25.9 Million For State Military Projects

The Department of Defense last week asked Congress to authorize a total of $1,877,687,000 for military construction, including $25,921,000 for Maryland projects.

The Maryland proposals include $6,433,000 for research, development and test facilities at Fort Detrick, and $167,000 for utilities at Fort Ritchie. I will encourage the House Armed Services Committee to consider these requests promptly.

Search for Missing Plane Called Off

The Maryland Wing of the Civil Air patrol on Tuesday evening called off the three-day search for a light plane believed down in the district after the pilot radioed Sunday afternoon that he was "out of fuel and going down in the tree tops."

Tuesday's search by 16 planes covered some 900 square miles southwest of Cumberland, in southern Garrett county and parts of Mineral, Grant and Hardy counties in West Virginia. Maryland CAP pilots flew 23 sorties Tuesday. Most planes had a pilot and one observer and some had two observers.

West Virginia state police said they had no report of an aircraft missing. A helicopter from the Eastern Air Rescue service at Andrews Air force base near Washington also took part in the search.

The unidentified pilot was in radio contact with a Cumberland area private pilot. The pilot reported he was lost and low on fuel. He said at that time he was approximately northwest of a radio navigation facility at Kessel, W. Va. On the last call he said he was out of fuel.

Vernon Cosner, Bayard, reported seeing a low-flying light blue plane as he and his family were driving north on West Virginia route 42, about half a mile south of Mt. Storm. If it crashed it would have come down between Scherr and Keyser.

Eastern Garrett Fire Company Progresses

Eastern Garrett County Volunteer Fire company, instituted just a year ago, is making progress, according to Charles Arnold, president.

The group purchased a fire truck and erected a three-bay fire house on the Finzel road, off Route 40. At present members have about $12,000 in the building, still incomplete. Funds are derived from projects sponsored by the company and auxiliary.

Meetings, first held in the old school building later at Caton's store, now are held in the fire building.

A tanker truck from Civil Defense is being readied for use and sirens are to be installed soon.

The company covers the area from Finzel road west to Robeson's restaurant on route 40, including the Avilton area to the Lonaconing road and north to the Pennsylvania line. In the event of a fire residents call the radio station WFRB which announces its location. Wives of members then make necessary calls alerting firemen.

The Frostburg Fire department is also called to assist on all fire calls.

Members of the department at Finzel have been trained by the University of Maryland fire service.

This will be the second conference of its kind to be held on Estate Planning, and has been arranged following many requests for such a meeting, Mr. Tusing said.

children to grow up and live and work in.

Opinions expressed by those in attendance indicated the belief that the County is growing and will continue to grow; and that this growth will be less expensive, and the end result much more desirable, if it is guided by a properly developed comprehensive plan for the County.

Union.

The decision would probably have the effect of voiding other pending suits. The Guardian had filed suit in Federal court charging two circuit court judges with attempting to deprive it of freedom of speech and freedom of the press.

Several other citations involving the newspaper by Judge Naughton, which were filed several months ago, had been removed to Howard county with no hearing date set.

Ten Studying to Be Community Aides

Ten persons have joined the Community Action program recently, Lowell Bender, director of Community development announced. To be called Community Aides, these ten are in their second week of a training program scheduled to last one year, he added.

The first three months will consist primarily of classroom work. The first three weeks are being spent in Community Action indoctrination, learning about the background of the program, its philosophies, objectives, and resurces, which include various county agencies such as the Welfare Board, the Board of Education, and the unemployment office.

After the first four weeks, the class will move from its Grand Jury room meeting place to the Frostburg area. Approximately one-half of the 9 to 5 day will be spent on the campus of Frostburg State College, where the group will study human inter-relationships, with psychology and sociology added, Mr. Bender said.

The remainder of the day will be spent in doing survey work in the Georges Creek area, making boundaries around areas where the more needy are clustered.

The final segment of the year will consist of on-the-job training, so that the aides may become aware of the conditions under which they will be working while they are still under direct guidance.

This particular project has no funds set aside by the OEO, so is being financed by funds from Operation Mainstream.

Those who are in the class are Donald Beitzel, Mrs. Ivadine Cummings, Mrs. Helen Durst, Mrs. Mary Humberson, Mrs. Ethel Kelly, Mrs. Edna Livengood, Mrs. Frances Martin, Mrs. Elizabeth Nicklow, Mrs. Sandra Smith, and Mrs. Vivian Tasker.

According to Mr. Bender, the program is aimed at making these aides "resource people"; someone those in need can turn to with confidence.

Truck Is Ditched Near Bloomington

Brake trouble was indicated as the reason the driver of a dump truck was forced to ditch the two-ton vehicle about six-tenths of a mile west of Bloomington Sunday afternoon.

The driver, Glenn Elwood Miller, a former Deer Park resident who currently lives in Springfield, Va., leaped to safety without injury as he ditched the partly-loaded truck, which was demolished. The owner of the truck, Jimmy Louis Edmondson, Woodbridge, Va., was following Mr. Miller down the east slope of Backbone Mountain in a pickup truck when the accident occurred.

Tfc. Stephen M. Russell, of Oakland, who investigated the incident, said it was the first truck ditching he could recall on this dangerous stretch of Backbone Mountain since new truck ditching signs have been installed along the road.

The truck had been driven from the vicinity of Deer Park, where Mr. Miller's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Miller, live.

Christmas Tree Growers Meet

The Annual Winter meeting of the Maryland Christmas Tree Growers association was held in Hagerstown on Saturday, Feb. 24. Some 65 members and guests spent the day discussing problems of the Christmas Tree industry. In general all growers seemed to have had a good season, there was a good demand for high quality trees, indicating that the natural tree is regaining its place in the market. As the quality of green trees improve they seem to be replacing the artificial tree that had once threatened the industry, according to local members who attended.

Daymon Thatch, from the University of Maryland, presented the results of a survey he conducted last summer. Among other things he found that Garrett County produces the most Christmas trees of any county in Maryland and has the largest plantations. James Gibson, a prominent Christmas tree retailer in the Washington area, spoke to the group of the importance of striving for quality in Christmas trees. According to Gibson there would always be a good demand for quality trees.

Attending from this county were Dr. and Mrs. F. D. Custer, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mateer, Virgil Steyer and sons. Dr. Custer was elected as Maryland's trustee to the National Christmas Tree Growers association. Paul Mateer was re-elected secretary-treasurer for the eighth consecutive year.

Old News of Area Is Rediscovered

Old news of the area was rediscovered a few days ago by Ross Lichty, of the Gortner area, who found two Republicans dated March 8 and March 15, 1917, of the vintage of almost 51 years.

Among the interesting items:

Candidates for municipal election were Henry Lauer, Walter Hardesty and W. Ernest Shirer, Republicans; and Dr. John D. Darby, George Little and Charles F. White, Democrats. Lauer, Hardesty and Dr. Darby were elected with 165 votes being cast for the highest candidate.

A condensed report of the Garrett National Bank showed total resources of $798,267.56 with deposits of $626,542.47.

The town's electric current failed by the breaking of a crank shaft on the large 125 h.p. gas engine which drove the machinery to furnish the current.

A. D. Naylor prepared to leave for a trip through the central west.

A snow storm of more than two feet fell in the county.

Gas consumers were notified that after April 1 rates would be raised from 25 cents net per thousand feet to 34 cents.

Among the advertisers were D. M. Dixon and Company, C. H. Browning of Deer Park, Offutt's, Northern Natural Gas company, Garrett National Bank, C. N. McIntire, D. E. Bolden, First National Bank, Davis Cash grocery, A. D. Naylor and company, and E. C. Liller, tailor.

NEWS FROM THE Ruth Enlow Library

BY EDITH BROCK

When the wind blows too cold for skating and sled-riding, reading can be a pleasant way to enjoy the winter world. A group of "winter's tales" for all ages has been placed near the front of the library.

Fun and fantasy for the youngest members of the family may be found in picture books old and new - "The Big Snow" by Berta and Elmer Hader, "The Runaway Giant" by Adelaide Holl and "The Mitten" by Alvin Tresselt among others. Adults who read these books to children will enjoy looking at the colorful winter landscapes on every page.

Animals are the center of attention in these picture books and also in many of the longer stories which may be shared by families or read by children themselves. Both story and illustrations are delightful in Robert Lawson's "The Tough Winter". All those who liked "Rabbit Hill" will want to read the winter adventures of George, Willie and Father Rabbit.

Dogs are the leading characters in a new book by Herbert Best, "Desmond and the Peppermint Ghost". This story of small-town boys and girls and their pets has many things young readers will enjoy - a mystery, a fire, a haunted house, and plenty of sled-riding fun.

Skating is the important thing in "Far Out the Long Canal", a story of the Netherlands published in 1964. Meindert DeJong gives us a vivid sense of the excitement of winter in a land where skaters are not confined to shall ponds or rinks but can skim for miles along the frozen canals.

Winter is a world of icy enchantment in two new books for children of the middle grades. In "The Month Brothers" Dorothy Nathan retells the Eastern European folktale of the twelve months who meet in the snowy forest on New Year's Eve and of lonely young Katya who shares their campfire.

"It was as if the snow treasures of Heaven had been opened". So begins Isaac Singer's "The Fearsome Inn", a tale of magic and witchcraft in a wintry setting by the distinguished author of many adult books.

For those who prefer fact to fantasy, two older books show the challenge of a real winter. "Snow Treasure" by Marie McSwigan tells of the brave Norwegian children in World War II who saved part of their country's gold by carrying it hidden on their sleds through a Nazi camp. This exciting story is based on a true incident.

Also based on the real experiences of brave people is "The Long Winter" by Laura Ingalls Wilder. Courage was needed by American pioneers like the Ingalls family who faced the hard prairie winter without snowplows or furnaces. Like the other books in the "Little House" series, this book has been a favorite for family reading.

The best of the children's books have an appeal not limited to one age group or even one generation. As many parents have found, the world of children's books has much to offer to every member of the family - beauty, humor, excitement, a way of understanding ourselves and others, a vehicle for traveling through space and time.

SRC Snow Removal Cost Is $335,000

A report issued last week by Lewis D. Metz, assistant district maintenance engineer for the State Roads Commission, shows that so far this winter $335,000 has been spent to keep roads open in District 6.

Of the three counties in that district, Garrett reported 30 storms, Allegany 28, and Washington 14.

The Garrett snowfall total to date is 86 inches, regarded as about average. Snow plowing work has been considered normal except from January 13 through January 22, when 14 inches of snow covered the county.

During this time, high winds shifted from east to west creating blizzard-like conditions and making it necessary to operate five snow blowers in the county to keep roads open to two-way traffic. Heavy falls have accumulated due to the extended periods of cold weather.

The amount spent so far, according to the report, was for 8,210 tons of chemicals, 9,150 tons of abrasives, and for wages and equipment.

Included in the district are 69 trucks of three- to five-ton size equipped with snow plows and chemical and abrasive spreaders; four trucks of eight-ton size equipped with V plows, side wings and chemical of abrasive spreaders; eight graders equipped for snow removal work; 23 front end loaders; one large snow blower unit and four snow blower units which can be mounted on front end loaders.

Dear Pat...

I know it has been a long time since I've written. As you can imagine, I've been very busy getting settled here. Everyone has been wonderful, and what an experience it is teaching these first grade children! It's a real thrill to watch them as they learn to read. I've already met some wonderful people, both here at school and in church ...

So she writes her letter, and although "it has been a long time . . ." these words will stretch across the miles and the fibres of this friendship will be as strong as ever.

If you were never to write a letter you would lose touch with people who mean a great deal to you. By the same token, if you never were to go to church, you would fail to keep the fabric of your faith woven tight and strong. True, you might still believe firmly in God, but the affirmation and continued growth of this faith requires worship in His presence and in His house.

Thinking about a friend isn't the same thing as writing a letter to him — wanting to be in that person's presence. Believing in God isn't the same as professing that belief by attending church regularly.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

WHEN GOD DELAYS

Lesson for March 3, 1968

Background Scripture: John 11.
Devotional Reading: John 14:1-11.

Someone has suggested that the burning theological question today is not so much, "Is God dead?", but "Why isn't he more prompt?"

What they mean, of course, is that faith is more surely threatened when God seems to delay in answering our prayers. Many may doubt not so much his existence as his love. "If God really cares," we ask, "then where is the help I need?"

Rev. Althouse

Two Days Longer

We sense some of this same attitude in the hearts of Martha and Mary. Anxiously they waited for Jesus to come while their brother's life ebbed ever lower. Often when human help fails to come, it is the result of someone's negligence or some other human failure. But it is not this in Jesus's case. The delay is purposeful: "So when he heard that he was ill, he stayed two days longer in the place where he was" (John 11:6 RSV).

If, as John says, Jesus loved Martha, Mary, and Lazarus, then why did he delay? That's a strange way to show love! When at last Jesus arrives in Bethany, there seems to be a thinly-disguised reproach in Martha's voice: "Lord, if you have been here, my brother would not have died" (John 11:21 RSV). Apparently others felt the same thing, for as Jesus is led to the tomb of Lazarus, a bystander asks: "Could not he who opened the eyes of the blind man have kept this man from dying?" (John 11:37 RSV). The question seems fair enough, like some which we ourselves have perhaps asked.

Our Ignorance

So why does the Master delay? Jesus says to his disciples: "Lazarus is dead, and for your sake I am glad that I was not there, so that you may believe." By the time the messenger arrives with news of Lazarus's sickness, Jesus knows that his friend has died in the meantime. There is no need to rush off to Bethany to save a life that already is gone. Therefore, Jesus' delay was partly dependent upon the fact that he knew what the others did not know.

So it may be with our prayers to God. We pray in our ignorance, but he answers them out of the context of his divine knowledge and wisdom. What we may ask may not be really wise or good in the long run. He gives his children what they need, not necessarily what they ask for. Cannot all of us say, "Thank God I have not received all from God that I have asked for?"

For example, a boy and girl break off their engagement. Later the girl has a change of heart and begins to pray that God will lead her ex-fiancee back to her. Not an unreasonable desire, until she learns that he has since married someone else!

His Way And Ours

When Jesus arrives at the tomb, he does not ask God to do anything. Instead he thanks God for what he has already done! Even though Lazarus is still in the tomb, Jesus prays: "Father, I thank thee that thou hast heard me . . . " (John 11:41 RSV). Jesus has been praying for Lazarus all along and now in perfect confidence he looks to the fulfillment of those prayers. He did not delay in helping his friends, but he was helping them in a way that they did not expect.

So it may be with our prayers. We ask for help and expect that God will give us that help according to our terms, to follow our directions. If we want him to help us, we must let God be God, for him to help us as he knows best. Just because we cannot see the answer to our prayers, does not mean they are not being answered.

Jesus delayed returning to Bethany because he loved Mary, Martha, and Lazarus. Even from this tragic death God would wring a blessing. In fact, if he delayed, the blessing would be even greater!

And so Jesus said, "Lazarus, come out!" and he came out and their faith was justified. Thus also may our faith be justified if we continue to trust in him, even though he seems to delay.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Mrs. Carrie V. Skipper, Swallow Falls Road, who departed this life March 3, 1966.

March brings sad memories
Of a loved one called to rest,
But who will never be forgotten
By those who loved her best.
Sad and sudden was the call
Of one so dearly loved by all.
We often think of how you died
Without a chance to say goodbye
Before you closed your eyes.
Your memory is a keepsake
From which we shall never part
Tho God has you in His keeping
You are always in our hearts.

Ten Are Killed On State Highways

Ten persons were killed on Maryland highways last week, according to the weekly survey published by the State Police. Six of those killed were drivers and four were passengers. Alcohol was a contributing factor in four of the deaths, speed in five, and "driver error" in eight.

"In four of the deaths on Maryland roads last week alcohol was a contributing factor", commented Lt. Col. George E. Davidson, Chief of Operations of the State Police. "Evidence of the hazards of driving while under the influence has mounted steadily over the years, and there is also a great deal of evidence that we are not doing all that we should to effectively control the problem.

"A continuous effort to convince all motor vehicle operators of the hazards of driving while under the influence undoubtedly causes many drivers to adjust their driving habits so as to preclude the possibility of such operation. This, of course, is an ideal solution, as far as it goes, for it is in keeping with the theory that it is every driver's responsibility to contribute his share of highway safety.

"Unfortunately, human nature being what it is", concluded Lt. Col. Davidson, "there are many drivers who cannot be reached by this reasonable approach and this is where the problem becomes difficult. It is believed by many experts on the subject that the requirement of an alcohol test of all drivers who are suspected of driving under the influence would serve as a substantial deterrent to many who otherwise would take a chance of getting away with it".

PHARMACY PHACTS

Question

In our women's group, the old question of aluminum poisoning from cooking utensile has come up again. Can you give us some information on various metals used in the manufacture of cooking utensils?

Answer

Government research experts have by now pretty well exploded the old myth that aluminum cooking utensils could cause aluminum poisoning. They state, and flatly, that the use of aluminum cooking utensils is not poisonous. They also go on to state that there is no scientific reason to believe the use of stainless steel cookware will make your food more nutritious. If you have been worrying about the possibility of the new no-stick linings coming off your utensils and contaminating your food, you'll be glad to learn there's no need for concern on this point. On the other hand, it is important to remember that copper must be lined with another metal, tin, for example, since copper actually is poisonous (toxic) when food contacts it in a cooking utensil.

Glotfelty-Faulkner Wed Jan. 28

St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, Oakland, was the setting for the January 28 wedding of Carolyn Suzanne Faulkner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Faulkner, 137 E. Liberty Street, and Gary Grant Glotfelty, son of Mrs. Lena E. Glotfelty, Accident.

Rev. Shelby Walthall officiated at the double ring ceremony, held before an altar decorated with white carnations and candelabra. Mrs. Neil Fraley, organist, accompanied Joseph DiSimone, who sang "How Great Thou Art" and "Ave Maria". While the couple knelt at the altar, he sang, "O Perfect Love".

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a street-length white velvet gown, fashioned with long, tapering sleeves, a round neckline, and bow accents on the shoulders. Her shoulder-length bouffant veil fell from a crown of seed pearls and flowers. She carried a cascade bouquet of carnations and baby's breath.

Serving as matron of honor was Mrs. Carroll Vitez, who wore a street length dress of green velvet fashioned after the bride's, with lace accents at collar and cuffs. She carried a cascade of yellow carnations.

Donald Ringer, brother-in-law of the groom, served as best man. Ushering the guests were Carroll Vitez and Bill Faukner, brother of the bride.

The bride's mother wore a gold wool dress with brown accessories. The groom's mother chose a navy blue bonded crepe dress and navy and whtie accessories.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at Faukner's Restaurant. The bridal table, centered with a four-tier wedding cake, was set up beneath decorations of white wedding bells and streamers.

More Corn—Less Cob

with

Southern States Hybrids

See the big healthy ear of corn on the right with the deep kernels and the small, well-filled cob? That's a typical Southern States hybrid ear. Now, compare it with the hybrid on the left. Note the small, shallow kernels and the big cob. You get more corn on less cob with Southern States hybrids. Want further proof? Shell them out and see for yourself. The Southern States hybrid gives you more shelled corn. Remember, a few dozen of these extra kernels per ear makes a big difference in your total yield.

So ask for Southern States hybrids. They grow more corn on less cob . . . and they're doubly guaranteed!

Youth Corps Now Has New Openings

The Out of School program of the Neighborhood Youth Corps in this county now has openings for males and females, 16 to 21, who dropped out of high school before graduation and whose family incomes are below the established poverty lines, it was announced through the Community Action agency.

Youths must have been withdrawn from school for at least three months prior to application.

Once accepted into the program the trainees receive work experience totaling 32 hours a week for which they are paid at the hourly rate of $1.40 per hour. In addition to work experience the trainee attends school for six hours each week to receive fundamental education designed to prepare him or her for high school equivalency examination.

Youths interested may contact the Maryland Employment Service office or the Community Action agency so that they can arrange to meet with a representative of the Youth Corps staff.

J. R. Gallon, project director, pointed out that the goal of the Neighborhood Youth corps is to insure a better future for youth from low income families by helping increase their employability.

Plenty Of Gas

It was mistakenly indicated last week that the Garrett County airport was in short supply of aviation gasoline, and that the plane that landed at Red House was unable to obtain all the gasoline it needed.

The pilot obtained only enough gasoline to get back to Winchester, Va., but Cloyd Saylor, airport manager, said this week there was plenty of additional gasoline available at the airport, had the pilot expressed a desire for more.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Whether one is pro-Vietnam war, or anit-Vietnam war is perhaps not the major issue.

For it undoubtedly seems that at the core of the controversy in the Asian conflict is rampant confusion over the American foreign policy which has prevailed for some three decades.

C. W. Harder

On one hand, there is supposedly official abhorrence of non-democratic forms of government, yet there is no protest when a military junta takes over in Greece, neither did such a position ever impede the grants of foreign aid to Communist Tito's Yugoslavia.

And perhaps the best example of what creates public confusion over this matter of foreign policy is the stance taken on the subject of Rhodesia.

In a manner somewhat reminiscent of the happenings around Boston Harbor, Lexington and Concord, this small country decided to pull away from British rule. This did not particularly set well with the current socialistic Labor government at No. 10 Downing Street in London.

The upshot of all this, as is well known, was for the United States to support the British plea to invoke economic sanctions against her former colony.

As a matter of fact, the United States went even a little further in this direction, decreeing criminal penalties for any American engaging in commerce with Rhodesia.

So now comes the really silly situation.

The metal chrome is extensively needed for both industrial and defense purposes. Rhodesian mines had been the principal source of this nation's chrome supply. This supply was cut off by official edict.

But now, according to a reputable national magazine,, the U. S. is getting its chrome from Russia which presumably is a great help to the communist economy giving it dollars.

In addition, as is well known, Russia has been quite active in supplying arms and munitions to he Viet Cong, and has told the world it intends to do so.

Thus, while there is not the remotest possibility of tiny Rhodesia launching an assault on the United States, Russia is considered to be the potential enemy, and yet it is this communist economy that the imports of chrome are enriching. It is said that there are no comic pages in Russian newspapers. Obviously for laughs Ivan and Olga do not need them. Dispatches from Washington are often much more comical than any cartoonist could possibly dream up.

Weather Pattern Broken By Snow

With only slight variations the majority of the past week has followed the same weather pattern. Last Thursday seemed to set the mold, with an early morning temperature reading of 2 degrees under clouded skies.

Beginning Thursday afternoon and continuing over the weekend, the days became sunny and windy, with temperatures moving from near or below zero to the upper 20's.

On Monday, no one could believe their thermometers when they saw the —6 reading, since the frigid effects of the winds had finally stopped. From —6, the mercury soared under cloud-free skies to a high of 34. Tuesday followed the same pattern, although it was not quite so cold in the early morning. The temperature climbed 25 degrees between 8 a. m. and the afternoon high of 34.

The pattern stopped with Wednesday which had an early reading of 28 and snow-obscured skies. Snow flurries fell during most of the day, although they soon melted under the effects of the 32-degree high.

Thursday was not so fortunate; snow which had fallen during the previous evening was still covering the ground, and still more snow was falling at 8:30 a. m. The temperature this morning was 24.

Still Waiting...

At the risk of escalating your blood pressure dangerously, we will remind your again, for only a moment, that a recent decision of the Supreme Court of the United States held that a Communist may not be denied employment in a defense plant in this country. We bring this up again only to point out that a non-union member, on the other hand, is denied such protection in a defense job. And we think that this strange contradiction deserves review.

The Supreme Court was overturning the Subversive Activities Control Act of 1950, and it is now the law of the land that Communists may work in our defense plants, if they are dues-paying union members.

But what of patriotic Americans who refuse to pay dues to a union? Well, they're barred from defense plant employment, for all practical purposes. The real-life application of the Court's decision is that a man may work in a sensitive industry no matter what organization he may choose to identify himself with—even one dedicated to the overthrow of the government of the United States—but his neighbor may not work in a sensitive industry unless he joins and pays dues to a labor union, albeit doing so is against his will. The fact that the worker may consider it an invasion of his privacy and a restriction on his personal freedom to have to join and pay dues to a union is ignored. The result is that we have freedom to join, on the one hand, and the denial of freedom to refrain from joining on the other.

Across the country there is a growing belief among proponents of right-to-work legislation that the Court's decision in the Communist case will bring an end to compulsory unionism in the land. In both California and in Oklahoma there are presently test cases in the courts which challenge compulsory unionism, and the feeling is that the Court cannot guarantee the rights of a Communist without guaranteeing the rights of the patriotic citizen.

Both the Congress and the Court have side-stepped the compulsory unionism issue for too many terms and there is more than a little irony in the fact that the rights of a Communist could be decided so quickly while the rights of the working men who prize freedom and independence still await protection.

Both logic and the law seem now to be on the side of right-to-work. —U. S. Press Association, Inc.

Janet Del Signore Is Bride Of Thomas L. Dettmer

Miss Janet Pauline DelSignore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren DelSignore of Gormania, and Thomas Leroy Dettmer, son of E. L. Dettmer, Baltimore, and Mrs. Lois Mechem, Oakland, were married in the Church of St. Peter The Apostle at Oakland, on Saturday, December 23, 1967. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Regis F. Larkin before an altar decorated with vases of white poinsettias. Mrs. Robert Garrett of Deer Park, organist, accompanied the soloist, Joseph DiSimone of Oakland who sang traditional wedding songs.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a full length gown of silk crepe "A" line, long tapered sleeves and detachable mantle Chapel train. Beading encircled the oval neckline and a beaded "Ming Tree" covered the front of the dress.

The bride wore a designer's head dress which matched her gown of re-embroidered lace flowers and pearl trim, with a full silk illusion veil. She carried a cascading bouquet of white orchids and holly. She wore a pearl necklace, a gift from the bridegroom and a pair of blue star sapphire earrings encicled with diamonds as a traditional gift from her parents.

Mrs. Brenda Shank, sister of the bride, Bayard, W. Va., was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Rose Bosley, sister of the bride, Gormania, W. Va.; Miss Cynthia Arnold of Deer Park; Miss Leslie Hinebaugh of Deep Creek Lake. Miss Aleta Fate DelSignore, sister of the bride, was Junior bridesmaid.

The girls wore floor length rouge velvet "A" line gowns with Empire waist lines, and matching satin panels revealed by inverted back pleats with rough satin bows. Their headdressses were matching rouge satin Dior bows with rouge illusion netting. They carried white fur muffs with red roses and holly on them.

James Shank, brother-in-law of the groom, served as best man. Ushers were Gary Bosley of Gormania, W. Va.; Carmen DelSignore, cousin of the bride, of Gormania; William Welch of Oakland. The bride's mother wore a street length dress of aqua blue satin and the matching jacket was accented with embroidered design, with mink matching accessories. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a pale blue brocaded dress with matching coat and matching accessories. Both mothers wore white orchids.

A reception was held at the American Legion Home in Oakland. A buffet luncheon and dinner were served and later cake and refreshments were served. The bridal table was decorated with candlelabra, asters and holly. The five tiered cake was completely covered with white butter cream frosting. The top ornament was a flower arched spiral staircase with a miniature bridal party on the stairs. Decorations adorning the cake were of large and small sugar molded bells, doves, and pink roses. The cake was over 50 inches high.

Mrs. George Stanya, aunt of the bride, cut and served the cake. Miss Carol Stanya, cousin of the bride, served the punch. The Ladies' Auxiliary served the food. Mrs. Lee Shockley registered guests. Music was furnished by Bill Rennie and his band.

For their wedding trip they spent one week at Deep Creek Lake and then flew to Denver, Colorado for 10 days. For going away the bride wore a brown wool dress with brown and orange matching coat. Accessories were brown. She wore a white orchid corsage lifted from her bouquet.

Mrs. Dettmer is a 1967 graduate of Suothern High School Oakland. Mr. Dettmer is also a 1967 graduate of Southern. He is now employed by a construction company in Longmont, Colorado. The couple is residing at 1728 Duchess Drive, Longmont.

Commissioners Ask For Information On Grantsville Schools

A motion requesting various statistics on Grantsville schools was introduced at the February 19 meeting of the County Commissioners by J. Ross Sines.

Seconded by Hubert Friend, the motion called for a complete inventory of all buildings and properties owned or rented for school use; the size and number of rooms and number of students attending each school, and the approximate construction date of each building.

The motion was made following a request from the Garrett County Board of Education for an addition to the Grantsville school in the amount of $184,000.00.

In regard to other business before the Commissioners, Mr. Friend made a motion that all expenses of the Garrett County Liquor Board, including group insurance, be assumed and paid for by the Liquor Control Board beginning with fiscal year 1968-69. The motion passed with a unanimous vote.

Sheriff Frantz appeared before the Commissioners to discuss the matter of painting the sheriff's residence. The Board agreed unanimously to paint three rooms and a bath at present, and to finish the job at a later date.

Harold Mosser, a senior student at Frostburg State College, requested the use of the County tranquilizer gun to aid in attaching electronic devices to deer, as part of a research project. Permission was granted.

A motion was made by Alan S. Paugh that Irvin R. Rudy, Jr., be appointed and authorized to reactivate the Garrett County Overall Economic Development Program.

George Comp, director of the Garrett County Civil Defense, conferred with the Commissioners in the matter of Fall-out shelters. Mr. Comp reported that supplies for the shelter at Hoyes Run had been received and further reported that the kilns at Silver Knob concrete plant are available for shelters. A Civil Defense meeting is scheduled for March 14 at 10 a. m. in Pikesville.

Section 2. It shall be unlawful to discharge to any natural outlet within the Town of Loch Lynn Heights, or in any area under the jurisdiction of the Town, any sanitary sewage, industrial wastes, or other polluted water, except where suitable treatment has been provided in accordance with subsequent provisions of this ordinance.

Section 4. The owner of all houses, buildings or properties used for human occupancy, employment, recreation or other purposes, situated within the Town and abutting on any street, alley, or right-of-way in which there is now located or may in the future be located a public sanitary or combined sewer of the Town, is hereby required at his expense to install suitable toilet facilities therein, and to connect such facilities directly with the proper public sewer in accordance with the provisions of this ordinance.

Section 5. Where a public sanitary or combined sewer is not available under the provisions of Section 4, the building sewer shall be connected to a private sewage disposal system complying with the provisions of this article.

Section 6. Before a commencement of construction of a private sewage disposal system the owner shall first obtain a written permit signed by the Clerk. Ski School Director Is A Man of Many Talents

KARL GUMHALTER—Director of Wisp Ski Resort.

The Alpine flavor of Wisp Ski Area has been enhanced this winter by the addition of an authentic Austrian ski school director. He is Karl Gumhalter from Vienna, who arrived on the Garrett County ski scene in December and has been busy ever since getting beginners started, helping intermediates become more proficient, and developing experts into more spectacular experts.

Karl is a professional in every sense of the word. He was certified on the Arlberg in Austria in 1956 and taught five years at St. Anton's in the Tirol Mountains. He came to the United States in 1963, taught a year at Vale, then two at Aspen in Colorado. Last year he was the private pro for Italian Count Rossi and his family at their winter home at St. Moritz in Switzerland. A "want ad" in the Rocky Mountain Ski Instructors newsletter brought him to Wisp.

He is a man of many talents, having majored in English and physical education at the University of Vienna. He has spent a year as assistant physical education lecturer at the University of Hull, Yorkshire, England. During vacations there he taught a ski class of university students at Inverness, Scotland. He also has sojourned in Sweden and Switzerland.

When skiing season ends, Karl will return to Austria to prepare for his summer vocation as a swimming and diving instructor. He coaches a racing team which competes nationally, and he has produced a national champion in the 400 meter free style, plus winners in various age groups. Years ago, Karl himself competed in Austria's national junior races. His classes train every day for 2½ to 3 months of the swimming season. Between skiing and swimming, Karl tutors in English.

He began skiing at the age of 10 in 1946, right after World War II, when ski lifts were non-existent and it meant a 3 to 4 hour climb up the mountain in order to ski down.

Karl teaches the "new American" technique, based originally on the Austrian technique, and now coordinated throughout the United States so that a student learning at Wisp can pick up where he left off at Sun Valley. Karl received his American certification in the Rocky Mountain division in 1966 in Arapahoe, Colorado.

Karl and his wife, Inge, are the parents of a 3-year-old daughter Eva. They are expecting a new addition to the family and, consequently, Mrs. Gumhalter remained in Austria this winter.

What Karl sees at Wisp is nothing but growth, capturing ski enthusiasts from the Washington-Baltimore-Pittsburgh area and points in between. The heavy influx of skiers will remain for week-ends and holidays, when even now Karl is run ragged instructing the invading hordes. He has help from several part-time instructors and, so far, has been able to cope with the demand. His only fulltime instructor, Bob Lohr, of Oakland, went into the army last Monday. During the week, things cooled down enough for Karl to handle the ski school by himself, but with continued good skiing weather and greater participation by local skiers, even this might have to change and another full-time instructor added to the ski school staff.

The striving for perfection is what spurs a skier to greater efforts, because with perfection comes greater thrills. Perfection is precisely what Karl Gumhalter offers his many skiing students.

Karl demonstrates control in schussing the face of Wisp's steep slope.

Now Self Supporting

By unanimous action of the Vestry of St. Matthew's Episcopal church last Wednesday evening it was voted to assume all financial aid from the Episcopal diocese and to make the parish self supporting by June 1.

The congregation has been an aided parish since its founding in 1874. Nine years ago when the Rev. W. Shelby Walthall, rector, assumed his position, the church received $2,700 per year. Gradually this has been reduced to a point where nothing is to be sought from the diocese.

VOLUME 92. OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD., MARCH 7, 1968. PER COPY 10c NUMBER 1.

Hopeful Signs . . .

There are some hopeful signs on the national scene which indicate that the Federal government is taking more seriously the expanding danger in 1968 of mammoth "Black Power" rioting and revolutionary guerilla warfare in American cities. Congress is ahead of the White House and the Department of Justice (excepting the FBI) in recognizing the nature of the threat and its connections with World Communism. Sen. McClellan's investigations and his disturbing speeches in the Senate have awakened some Congressmen; and FBI Director Hoover's statements of warning may have gotten through to the President and Attorney General Ramsey Clark. At least this is the opinion of Dr. George S. Benson, president of the National Education program and author of the column, "Listen Americans."

The attorney general continues to oppose a wire tap and electronic surveillance law which most law enforcement authorities consider indispensable to safeguarding the American society. Mr. Hoover said the growth of "Black Power," promoted by Carmichael, Brown and others last year, has "created a climate of unrest and has come to mean to many Negroes the

School Project At Bloomington Gets Approval

A resolution requesting a loan of $100,000 from the State Board of Public Works and State Aid Grant in the amount of $92,198, for the purpose of financing a school building project in Bloomington was approved unanimously at a meeting of the Board of County Commissioners on February 26.

The motion was made by Allen S. Paugh seconded by John Ross Sines, and made unanimous by Hubert A. Friend.

A copy of the resolution and a copy of the application, together with letter from Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools, were attached to the minutes of the meeting.

The commissioners also stated than an answer to the request for teacher salary increase would be forthcoming on or before March 19.

Members of the School Board, George Edwards, C. W. Englander and Mrs. Diane Thayer had conferred with the board of Commissioners concerning the salary increase requested by the teachers at the February 26 meeting.

The board asked that a satisfactory increase be granted to eliminate the possibility of a strike by the teachers.

Willard Pike and a friend discussed the county schools with the board. Mr. Pike declared that "good schools staffed by qualified teachers was a necessity and any necessary increase in tax rate was of little or no importance compared to importance of good schools".

In other business conducted Earl George appeared to request a trash dump be established and maintained for North Glade area. A letter was sent to the State Department of Forests and Parks asking for action on an application made for the trash dump site on December 26, 1967.

Robert Stemple, Welfare director; Bradford Rinard, Community Action director, and Thomas Sluss, Roads engineer, with board members, discussed problems and requirements to be met in order to provide jobs on county roads for welfare recipients. The matter is to be given further consideration.

Edwin Michael, of district 15, asked that Michael road be improved. The board promised to investigate.

Weather Postpones Mathias' Speech

Stormy weather kept Congressman Charles McC. Mathias from giving his scheduled speech at Southern High School March 1.

His talk, which was to cover the Middle East problems and his recent trouble-shooting journey to Israel and Jordan, had to be postponed until an indefinite future date.

According to Mrs. Leo Helbig, a member of the A. A. U. W. which is sponsoring Mathias' visit, a possible time may be set for April. The definite date will be published as soon as it is known.

Delegates Okay Four Garrett Bills

A bill to provide for two terms of Circuit Court in this county, instead of four each year, has been passed by the House of Delegates and forwarded to the State Senate.

The measure, HB594, was introduced by Delegate B. O. Aiken and repeals the section requiring non-jury terms of court in June and December. Only the two jury terms would remain, these beginning the second Monday in March and the second Monday in September of each year.

HB595, also passed and sent to the Senate, applies to both Calvert and Garrett counties. It decreases the mileage allowance paid to jurors from 15 cents to 10 cents per mile for those traveling over five miles; and increases the pay of all jurors from $8 to $10 per day.

HB596, also passed and sent to the Senate, increases the pay of the court baliff from $3.50 to $12 per day, and requires the County Commissioners to levy the funds and the treasurer to make payment at the close of each session of court.

Repealed under HB593, sent to the Senate, would be a number of sections pertaining to a court crier, rules, practices, court stenographer, indexes and clerk to the grand jury, described as obsolete.

Grand Jury To Meet Monday

Several Changes Made From Lists Selected Two Weeks Ago

The March term of the Garrett County Circuit court will get under way at Oakland on Monday, March 11, when the Grand jurors will assemble to hear Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill deliver the usual charge before they retire to their chambers to begin their deliberations.

The State's Attorney's office ndicated there would be at least two unusual cases, both of which resulted in deaths from stabbings. Fred A. Thayer, state's attorney, said in addition to the two murders up for investigation, there will also be heard by the grand juries information concerning two cases of being an accessory after the fact in the two murders, and other alleged infractions of the statutes.

Sherman Ralph Pyles, 50, of the Vindex area, was stabbed to death at his home December 22. His son, Charles Pyles, 20, was charged with the murder but entered a plea of not guilty when appearing before the trial magistrate Robert M. Maroney. He is being held without bond.

Two were jailed as the result of the fatal stabbing of William Paugh, Deer Park, on February 18, in a tavern. Delone Emerson Brown, 39, of Deer Park, was formally charged with murder and Mrs. Ruth Lucille Malcomb, 36, also Deer Park, was charged with being an accessory after the fact. They are also held in custody.

Huskies Edge Valley 56-55; Reach Finals

Will Play Saturday Evening In Hagerstown In District Finals

Terry Goehringer's foul goal in the closing seconds of play broke a tie score and gave Coach Pat Wolfe's Northern High Huskies a 56 to 55 upset victory over the Black Knights of Valley High School, Lonaconing, on Tuesday night at the Southern High gymnasium in Oakland.

The victory advanced the Huskies into the finals of the District One, class B tournament set for Northern Hagerstown High School's court on Saturday evening at 8:30. Northern will play the winner of the Brunswick-Williamsport game scheduled for tonight at 8 o'clock at North Hagerstown.

Northern, defeated by Valley twice during the regular season by close scores, 56 to 54 and 58 to 49, held a six point lead with less than three minutes to play in the final quarter but the Knights rallied with three baskets to tie the score at 55-55. Goehringer missed a layup but was fouled in the act of shooting. He made the first goal but missed the second which settled the issue. There was one last wild throw by a Valley player as the buzzer sounded.

As the game ended and the officials, Jim Gossard and Terry Mose, of Hagerstown, passed the Valley High rooting section one of the referees was struck by a spectator and suffered a cut tongue. There was some pushing before order was restored.

The Huskies took a 15-14 lead at the quarter, held the long end of a 33-29 score at intermission but trailed 45 to 43 going into the final quarter.

Unidentified Flying Objects Observed

Three unidentified flying objects, "UFO's", were sighted Sunday evening about 9:45 in the Mason Road, Red House area.

Spotting the objects were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ridder and daughter. The objects were traveling northward. Mr. Ridder said they did not appear to be traveling very fast as they watched them for several minutes. They were lighted continuously with amber lights, and the two in the rear appeared to have apparent "jet streams" to their rear. Airplane lights would have been flashing or blinking, he pointed out.

They must have been seen later on as news reports over the Johnstown radio and television stations noted that they had been observed in Pennsylvania and Ohio areas also.

Mr. Ridder said the objects were too far away to determine their shape. Two were flying side by side with the third some distance to the front.

There will be competition this year in Oakland's municipal election, not only among the candidates for city council but for the office of Mayor.

The election will be conducted on Monday, March 11, at the city hall with the polls open from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m.

Candidates for mayor will be Russell L. Smith, incumbent, and Harvey D. Swartzentruber. Smith will endeavor to be elected for his seventh two-year term.

Mr. Swartzentruber has owned and operated a harness shop in Oakland since 1946 and served two terms as county commissioner, but not consecutively.

There are six candidates for city council with three to be elected. The three incumbent councilmen, whose terms expire this year, all filed for re-election, and in addition three more persons filed for the office.

Those seeking re-election include Willis Shaffer, Allen Naylor and Harry L. Stemple. The three others seeking council office are Mrs. Anne Bell, Bernard Nally and Paul W. Hoye.

Only one person filed for the position of city treasurer and she was Mrs. Beryldine Stanton, who seeks re-election.

Arts Council Sets Art Viewing Hours

At its February 29 meeting, the Garrett County Arts Council decided that public viewing of the 30 art works being brought here from Baltimore would be from 7 until 9 p. m. during weekdays, and from 2 until 4 p. m. on Saturdays and Sundays.

The traveling works of art will be lodged in the Garrett County Historical Society Museum on Center Street from March 7 through 24. The main floor of the building has been cleared to house the presentation.

Aza Stanton, as acting chairman for the council proposed that the council be organized and officers elected. The group elected Mr. Stanton chairman; Miss Frances Patterson, a Southern High school art teacher, vice chairman; and Lynn Beckman, secretary-treasurer.

Other business brought up during the meeting included granting Miss Patterson the use of a slide show of the art works being brought to the county for presentation to her students.

The group also is considering bringing a center stage presentation to Oakland from Baltimore, and it was agreed that a performance be scheduled at Southern High school sometime between April 23 and May 5. Ticket cost was set at $1.50.

Chaplain Wounded

A Lutheran chaplain in U. S. Navy was wounded late in January during an artillery and rocket attack on a marine unit based near the demilitarized zone in South Vietnam.

He was Lt. Comdr. John F. Seibert II, native of Elmhurst, Ill., who was hit in the left leg by shrapnel. He is the son of the Rev. Luther Y. Seibert, Sr., retired pastor in Elmhurst, and a twin brother of Luther Y. Seibert, Jr., who was a former pastor of St. John's Lutheran church, Red House.

Legislature Gets Bill On Teacher Raise

Measure, Effective Next Term, Would Provide $400-$700 Increase

A measure to increase the salary of public school teachers of the county, $400 to $700, depending upon their classification, beginning with the 1968-69 school year, was introduced in the Maryland legislature Tuesday by House of Delegates member, Benjamin O. Aiken, and State Senator George R. Hughes.

The bill would impose certain requirements upon the County Commissioners of the county with respect to the teacher salary scales.

The section to be added to Article 77 of the annotated code of Maryland (1965 replacement volume and 1967 supplement), under chapter 8, reads as follows:

"Beginning with the school year 1968-1969 and thereafter, the County Commissioners of Garrett County shall supplement the Teachers' salary scales in Sub-section (b) of this section by an amount not less than the following additional sums on each step of the salary scale: non-degree provisional teacher, $400; degree provisional teacher, $500; standard professional teacher, $600; advanced professional teacher, $700. These amounts shall be paid in addition to those specified in Subsection (b) of this section and the County Commissioners shall provide the necessary local revenues to defray the costs of these additional salary payments".

The act is declared to be an emergency measure which would take effect from the date of its passage.

After introducing the measure Delegate Aiken and Senator Hughes signed a joint statement concerning the financial condition of the county and their responsibility in presenting the measure for enactment. This statement appears below:

"Public education in Garrett County is rapidly approaching a danger point which will explode with tragic consequences for our 5,500 school children unless corrective measures are effected immediately.

"For the past ten years, we have financed public education at only the minimum state level, with no additional funds being appropriated by the county. We had limited resources to provide for Garrett County's governmental needs because 25% of our total land is not subject to the payment of county real property taxes.

"To reverse the trend of expanding centralized government in Washington, Maryland took a realistic look at its problems and the financial resources available to meet the cost of solving them. Last year this resulted in the enactment of a comprehensive income tax reform program enabling our state government to greatly increase its financial support to our counties. No longer must they depend exclusively upon real property taxation as their major source of revenue. Specifically, Garrett County will receive for local use this fiscal year in excess of $330,000.00 in additional state funds.

"After this tax reform program became law, our local board of

Overloading Brings Man $1,111 Fine

A Gormania man, Henry Olan Martin, Jr., was fined $1,111.00 and costs by Oakland Trial Magistrate Robert M. Maroney for exceeding the formula weight of his vehicle by 21,850 pounds.

Martin was also charged with failing to comply with the Maryland Road Fuel Tax law, and was given a $20 fine plus costs. Mr. Martin noted an appeal in both cases.

Russell Eugene Lambert, also of Gormania, pleaded not guilty but was found guilty of failing to comply with the Maryland Road Fuel Tax law, and was fined $20 plus costs. He, too, noted an appeal.

Glenn Elwood Miller, Springfield, Va., pleaded not guilty and was declared not guilty of operating an unsafe vehicle.

Also entering a plea of not guilty was Robert Scott Paugh, Deer Park, who was found not guilty of leaving the scene of a property-damage accident.

Carl Sweitzer, Swanton, pleaded not guilty but was found guilty of operating an un-

The Republican, in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service, Baltimore District, will publish each week in this column, tax information that will enable taxpayers to become more familiar with the Federal income tax laws.

Questions and Answers

Q. My son held down a full-time job before going into the Army last fall. I just got his W-2 statement. Does he have to file a return?

A. Yes, your son has to file a return if he meets the filing requirements. However, if he is stationed overseas, he has additional time to do it.

Taxpayers overseas have an automatic extension from Apr. 15 to Jun. 15 to file 1967 returns. If your son is in Vietnam, his return isn't due until 180 days after he leaves there.

Q. I understand there is a new rule on dependent children of divorced parents. What is it?

A. A new provision added to the tax laws last year provides that the parent who has custody of the children for the greater part of the year will usually be able to claim their dependency exemption. However, if the other parent contributes at least $600 during the year to the support of the child he or she, under certain circumstances, may be entitled to the exemption. There is also a special rule for a parent who does not have custody and furnishes more than $1,200 during the year.

The new rules only apply if the divorced or separated parents together provide more than half of the child's support and have custody for more than half the year.

Q. The tax form I got in the mail only shows my name on the label. Since I'm filing jointly with my wife this year should I use the label or not?

A. Use the label on the form you file but add your wife's first name and social security number to it. Write this in ink at the bottom of the label.

Q. I have a refund coming. Where should I send my return?

A. Send the return to your regional service center. An envelope addressed to the service center was included in the 1040 tax packages. If you don't have one of these envelopes, look on page 10 of the 1040 instruction booklet for the proper address.

Q. Is an assessment for sewer or sidewalk construction deductible?

A. The law generally does not permit deductions for assessments for local benefits that tend to increase the value of the property. Capitalize the amount of assessment, however, and add it to the basis of your property.

Q. Is it true you can now deduct one-half of your medical insurance premiums even if you don't itemize your deductions?

A. No, that is not the way this new provision works. One-half of the premiums paid for medical insurance up to a maximum of $150 may not be deducted without regard to the 3 percent of income limitation on medical expenses, but only when the taxpayer itemizes his deductions. The balance is included with other medical expenses subject to the 3 percent rule.

Previously, the entire amount of these insurance premiums had to be included with the taxpayer's other medical expenses and only the amount of the total in excess of 3 percent of income could be deducted.

Procedures for handling medical expenses are described in the 1040 instructions. Be sure to read them carefully before starting on your 1967 return.

Q. If I file my return now, how long will it take to get my refund?

A. The normal processing cycle for refunds is 5-6 weeks if the return is accurate and complete. Send your return directly to your regional service center for better service.

To avoid delays, be sure your Social Security number is entered accurately, all W-2 forms are attached, and the return is signed. Both husband and wife should sign if it is a joint return. Where the wife has income, her Social Security number and W-2 forms must be included

Q. Is there any tax on Social Security benefits?

A. No, these benefits are not subject to Federal tax.

Q. What is the purpose of the gas tax tables in the 1040 instructions? I thought you could just deduct 10 cents a mile for use of your car.

A. The gas tax tables provide a convenient method taxpayers can use to determine how much they can deduct for state gasoline tax for the personal use of a car. The 10c per mile figure you mentioned only applies to the business use of a car.

Q. What should I do with the statement I got from my savings bank showing the interest I earned? Does it have to be filed with my return like a W-2?

A. The Form 1099 you received is the bank's report to you as to the amount of interest you earned. Use the amount shown on the statement when you report your interest income for the year adding it to interest earned from other sources.

Large Group at Estate Seminar

One hundred and fifty-four persons attended the Estate Planning Seminar sponsored by the Trust Department of The First National Bank of Oakland held in the Community Room of the bank Tuesday evening.

Panel members for the discussion meeting were Lewis R. Jones, S. R. Pagenhardt, W. Dwight Stover, and Fred A. Thayer, Attorneys-at-Law, of Oakland. The moderator was Courtney R. Tusing, Vice President and Trust Officer of The First National Bank.

George K. Littman, President of the bank, extended a welcome and John J. Robinson, Senior Vice President and Trust Officer, participated in the question and answer period following the presentations by panel members.

Mr. Stover explained the purpose of a will, and pointed out the importance of having a will properly drawn, witnessed, and kept in a safe place.

Mr. Pagenhardt, in his remarks, dwelt upon joint ownership of property, the advantages, in some cases, and the disadvantages in others.

Mr. Thayer described the several types of Trusts and their usefulness in connection with Estate Planning, the benefits provided both for the trustor and the trust beneficiaries, and how such instruments may be used in the place of a Will, as well as supplementing the advantages provided under some wills.

Mr. Jones discussed the various so-called death taxes, especially the State Inheritance Tax law and the Federal Estate Taxes. He also outlined the provisions of the Gift Tax law and the liability for tax payments so easily incurred by gifts.

The question and answer period followed the regular discussions with questions being directed to each of the panel members as well as the bank officers.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Amendments Make Soc. Sec. Changes

The Social Security Amendments of 1967 have made changes in the medicare program, according to Edward G. Phelps, Social Security District Manager, in Cumberland.

One important change, Mr. Phelps stated, is that more people will be eligible for hospital insurance. Under the old law, people who reached 65 in 1968, and were not entitled to monthly social security or railroad retirement, could not get hospital insurance unless they had six calendar quarters of coverage or about 1½ years of work under social security. Now under the new law, this requirement has been reduced to three calendar quarters, or about nine months of work.

The amount of work needed to qualify for hospital insurance after 1968 increases by three quarters each year. Eventually, for those reaching 65 in future years, the amount of work required for hospital insurance protection will be the same as that required for monthly cash payments.

Mr. Phelps further explained that persons who plan to continue working when they reach 65 should also apply within the three months prior to the month in which they have their 65th birthday. By applying for social security they will be covered by hospital insurance and can make their decision on voluntary medical insurance coverage. Later on, when they retire or have reduced earnings which will permit payments, monthly checks can be started without delay.

The social security office is located at 6 Pershing Street. Hours are from 8:45 a. m. to 5 p. m., Monday through Friday. In addition, the office remains open Thursday evening until 7 p. m.

"Beloved Enemy" Feature of Rally

"Beloved Enemy," winner of the National Evangelical Film Foundation award as the best evangelistic film of the year, will be shown at Mt. Top Youth for Christ's Campus Life Rally, March 16 at 7:30 p. m. at Southern High school with no admission fee.

Sweeping from the ski slope of Northern Michigan to guerilla infested jungles of the tropics, "Beloved Enemy" tells the dramatic story of a young space-age scientist who is rejected by the girl he loves because of his unbelief. "Beloved Enemy" is a film for both teens and adults.

The "Impact" activity for Mt. Top YFC teens for March is a "Skate Date," March 30, for roller skating at the Hi-Lan Roller Rink in LaVale. Tickets can be obtained at the rallies or at the YFC office for $1.50 to cover skate rental, transportation insurance, and admission. Buses will leave from the two county high schools, Southern and Northern, at 5:45 and return about 11:00; chaperones will be provided from YFC staff.

By C. WILSON HARDE

Now that we're all paying more for mail service, and the mailman is better paid, will the mail-carrying service improve? Probably not, although many businessmen complain that service has declined steadily as rates have gone up in recent years.

C. W. Harder

Perhaps Congress provided a ready alibi for the Post Office when it passed a combination of the postal pay-and-pay increase which will guarantee continuation of the postal deficit. To its critics, the Post Office can say, "Sorry, but we can't provide more service—we're operating at a loss now."

The postal deficit has become a fixture of the Federal economy, continuing even when rates are boosted with the idea of balancing the postal budget.

The deficit has mushroomed since the 80-year-old "penny postcard" passed from the American scene in 1952, to be replaced now by a 5-cent card; since the first-class letter went from 3 to 6 cents and since the air mail from 5 to 10 cents. Talk about inflation!

Congress could have eliminated the deficit recently when it increased rates and thus boosted post office income by about $900 million a year. But it gave most of this to the postal workers in pay increases, so continues a postal deficit of about half a billion dollars a year continues not counting a big deficit due to government mail costs.

What is irritating too, is the likelihood that third-class bulk mail, "junk mail," which has been a losing proposition to the post office for years, will continue to be subsidized.

The third-class rate was increased but probably not enough to make it pay its own way. Nor enough to keep it from glutting post offices and mail boxes.

From 1947 to 1966, the junk mail volume increased more than 250 per cent, while all other classes increased just 80 per cent. Despite the public's apathy toward junk mail, advertisers have considered it a great bargain. And no wonder, with taxpayers footing part of its cost.

When the recent legislation was under debate, Congressman Ken Hechler of West Virginia gathered comments from postmasters to show how they feel about junk mail. Nearly all said it is disagreeable and bothersome to handle and often interfers with other mail.

One postmaster wrote: "Some patrons request us to do what we cannot do: throw it in the wastebasket and not deliver it. Those who get mail through boxes stand in the lobby and sort out the circulars and throw them in the wastebasket. This is another time we handle it. . . at the incinerator."

Another postmaster said that carriers deliver circulars to rural boxes one day, and then see the advertisements littering the highway the next.

Congress might have taken care of the postal deficit and contributed to the "Keep America Beautiful" campaign at the same time.

Thirteen Killed On State Highways

Thirteen persons were killed on Maryland highways last week according to the weekly survey published by the State Police. Three of those killed were drivers; five were passengers; and five were pedestrians. Alcohol was a contributing factor in one of the deaths; speed in four; and "driver error" in nine.

"One of the causative factors in highway accidents most difficult to pinpoint definitely, noted Lt. Col. George E. Davidson, Chief of Operations of the State Police, "is the relationship of driver fatigue to the accident, but nevertheless we know it's a rather important factor.

"It is certainly a well-proven fact that fatigue has a substantial effect on slowing down a person's mental and physicial ability to cope with rapidly changing situations. In business this fatigue might result in a man's losing a sale, in sports he might lose a golf game, but on the highway he has a pretty good chance of losing his life."

Lt. Col. Davidson concluded: "Investigators are of the opinion that fatigue was a contributing factor in three of the fatalities in Maryland last week. Obviously, there are varied reasons why the driver continued to operate his car after he had reached the fatigue limit to do so safely. Whatever the reason—it was certainly the wrong one."

Area Agronomy Meeting Planned

With spring crop planting close at hand, farmers in Garrett County may be vitally interested in the agronomy meeting planned for Thursday, March 14. The meeting will be held at Barton's Restaurant, Rt. 220, Pinto, from 10:00 a. m. to 2:30 p. m. according to James A. McHenry and David Platts, Extension Agents, Garrett and Allegany counties.

Featured on the program will be Dr. V. Allen Bandel discussing plant analysis and soil testing; Dr. James R. Miller, head of the Agronomy Dept., discussing grades and fertilizer analysis and figuring plant food; Dr. James V. Parochetti discussing weed and insect control in alfalfa and corn; Joseph Newcomer discussing varieties, planting rates for corn silage and fall seeding of forage crops; Dr. N. A. Clark discussing sorghum-sudan management. Mr. McHenry pointed out that all topics covered by these University of Maryland specialists have been of vital concern to Garrett County farmers.

A luncheon will be served at 12:00 co-sponsored by the Cumberland Fair Association and the Garrett National Bank of Oakland. Reservations may be made at the County Extension office.

Mayor and Council Settle Issues At March 4 Meeting

The Mayor and Town Council were kept busy at their March 4 meeting with accepting, donating, approving, and requesting.

The group accepted the tabulations of the monthly collections and expenditures for February. A total of $36,179.23 was collected, which included $1,197.87 for water; $30,438.07 for 1967-68 taxes; $90.75 for use of the city thawing machine; $40.80 for meter violations; $30.00 filing fees; and $3,197.00 from the gas tax fund.

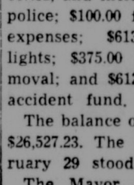
Expenditures amounted to $9,447.81, and included $1,370.00 for police; $100.00 for police school expenses; $613.51 for street lights; $375.00 for garbage removal; and $612.32 for the state accident fund.

The balance on February 1 was $26,527.23. The balance on February 29 stood at $53,258.65.

The Mayor and Councilmen decided to donate $400 to the Chamber of Commerce for new Christmas street decorations, and also decided to have the ceilings in the offices in City Hall building painted.

Approved by the men were the specifications for a new City police car, and the ballot form to be used in the up-coming municipal elections.

The car specifications listed a 1968 four-door sedan with an 8-cylinder engine, accessories, and power steering. Bids will be solicited in the near future.



Listed on the ballot were the names of Russell L. Smith, and Harvey D. Swartzentruber for Mayor; Anne G. Bell, Paul W. Hoye, Bernard S. Nally, Allen Naylor, Willis T. Shaffer, and Harry L. Stemple for councilmen; and Beryldine F. Stanton for treasurer.

A request for bids on garbage collection will be sent out soon, according to Mrs. Gladys Nordeck, clerk, since the present contract expires May 1.

Mayor Smith brought the group up to date on the Wilson Watershed Project before the meeting adjourned, and note was taken of the nine requests for use of the city pipe thawing machine during the past few weeks.

40,000 Communist troops died over a four-week period.

from Clinton W. Englander

In a recent issue of the American Family Physician, the official publication of the American Association of General Practice, Dr. Mac F. Cahal, executive vice-president of the AAGP wrote as follows: "Most people who make noises about 'generic (drug) equivalents' don't know an aspirin tablet from a jelly bean. They will shout that frozen tutti frutti pies 'aren't as good as Mother used to make' —and then turn right around and claim that generic and trade name (drug) products are like two peas in a pod." Dr. Cahal also went on to note that a cow can be bought for $25 or $250 or a one-carat diamond for $300 or $2,300. Here in our pharmacy, our drug buying decisions are based purely on the quality of merchandise being offered. We draw on our experience where high quality performance has been demonstrated. This is why we place our faith in trade-named drugs for your best possible health!

Christmas Seal Campaign Reaches $19,720 Total

The Allegany-Garrett Tuberculosis association has received $19,720.74 to date in its annual Christmas Seal campaign. The campaign will officially end March 31. The drive is $345.02 ahead of the final total for last year.

A breakdown of the figures show that Garrett county residents have contributed $2,666.50 to date, up $159.09 over the final total last year. Allegany county's total was $17,654.24, an increase of $185.93 over last year.

Money will be used to continue free chest X-rays and services to patients. Mrs. Dorothy Shank, executive secretary of the association said X-rays taken by the mobile unit last year resulted in the finding of 101 chest conditions. There also were 19 cases of tuberculosis reported in the two-county area in 1967.

Wirt Co. Family FFBL Champions

The Farming For Better Living program, now in its 29th year, closed its books on 1967 at Elkins on February 10 with the naming of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Cale, of Elizabeth, Wirt County, W. Va., as the Grand Sweepstakes Champions. The award was presented by Monongahela Power president Cecil G. McVay, at the region III banquet.

The champions operate a 347-acre dairy farm. They began their dairy herd in 1958 with 16 cows and have increased its size until they are now milking 75 head. Comprised mostly of Holsteins the herd averages 12,500 pounds of milk per cow per year. Mr. Cale serves as president of the Wirt County Board of Education.

James L. Copeman, Fairmont, who directs the program, has set a goal of 1,800 members for the coming year. The program is sponsored jointly by Monongahela Power and the Cooperative Extension Service of West Virginia university. It is implemented by local businessmen.

Since Garrett County joined the program there have been three sweepstakes winners from the area. All winners must first win in their county, and then be named regional winner before being eligible for the top award. Previous winners have been Mr. and Mrs. Clark Schlossnagle, Friendsville, 1952; Mr. and Mrs. Lenwood Bittinger, Mt. Lake Park, 1957; and Mr. and Mrs. Claude Wagner, Jr., 1966.

On Lengthy Letters . . .

The Republican advised this week that letters to the editor should be brief and confined to the issue at hand. For some time now the newspaper has been receiving letters which are far too lengthy and which in many cases ramble far from the subject.

Since space in the newspaper is limited, there will be many times when these lengthy letters will not be published. To make it more probable that letters be used, writers should remember this advice and keep their comments to a minimum. —The Editor.

the three Northern players in double figures. Reichenbecher scored eight field goals and 19 points, Goehringer collected six goals and 15 points while Umbel had 10 points on five field goals. He missed two foul attempts. Aiken also had one field goal with Braskey getting 6 and Georg 4.

The Northern players scored only six of 21 fouls.

Bill Simpson and Dave Wilson were Valley's top scorers with 21 and 20 points. Simpson had eight goals and 21 points while Wilson scored ten field goals and 20 points. B. James had 10 and Nicol 4. Valley made good on seven of nine foul tries. Andrew Burt of Valley fouled out with only a few minutes remaining. Braskey was the only Northern player in foul trouble and he had four personals.

The Northern Huskies outscored Valley from the field 25 to 24.

Close guarding was evident by both teams. Valley went into its full court press on a number of occasions but Northern solved the situation by getting players down under the basket for easy layups.

Prior to Tuesday night's game Valley had a 15-7 record while the Huskies were 16-3. Northern's only loss other than two previous defeats by Valley was to Terra Alta.

The game brought together two of the area's top scorers in Gary Reichenbecher of Northern who had scored 529 points in 19 games for a 27.8 average. Bill Simpson, of Valley, had a 20.8 average with 437 tallies in 21 contests. Reichenbecher got 19 Tuesday night. Simpson got 21.

'power' to riot, burn, loot and kill."

Mr. Benson continues: "Of vital importance too was his remark that the U. S. Communist Party, linked directly to Communist World headquarters in Moscow, had been 'deeply involved' in 'the planning and execution' of the 'Peace March' assault on the Pentagon last October and in other anti-Vietnam demonstrations. According to Congressman Gerald Ford, Attorney General Clark is withholding from the public the full story of Communist domination in these demonstrations.

"Senator McClellan, who undoubtedly is the best informed man in Congress on the nature of last summer's widespread rioting, told the Senate in a formal address on January 19: 'Mounting crime—murder, rape, robbery, theft, rioting, and civil disobedience — has reached a level and momentum that borders on open rebellion and insurrection and is the most critical internal danger confronting this nation. The day of reckoning with this agonizing threat to our security and survival is upon us.'

"The amended 'Omnibus Crime Control Act' which Senator McClellan was supporting in his Senate speech, would establish within the Justice Department a bipartisan 'Law Enforcement Assistance Administration' to operate independently of the Attorney General. The amended legislation would make legal carefully supervised wire tapping and electronic surveillance, would restore 'the rule of reason and justice' in the admissibility in evidence of voluntary confessions, would modify the 'Mallory Rule' to give police greater freedom in interrogation and arraignment of suspects, and would otherwise give vital aid to law enforcement agencies—so they could begin to cope with the 'agonizing threat to our security and survival.'

"Senator McClellan spoke for all citizens when he said: 'We will never have safe streets, safe homes, and safe places of business for our citizens until we get the self-confessed criminals and all others who commit serious crimes off of our streets and in the jails where they belong.' It is to be hoped that the Supreme Court, the President, and the Attorney General were listening and will take heed."

A REPLY TO LAST WEEK'S EDITORIAL

As president of the Garrett County Teachers Association, I feel duty-bound to answer the editorial published in The Republican on February 29. In particular I would like to comment on the resolutions passed by the teachers—curtailment of extra-curricular activities, withdrawal of professional services, and sanctions - that you discussed in the latter part of your editorial.

The Garrett County Teachers Association did not intend these resolutions to be interpreted as threats. They are simply the open, public announcement of what the over-whelming majority of Garrett County Teachers intend to do, if necessary, to secure relief from a situation that they find intolerable. They are not the rash acts of an irresponsible group acting on the spur of the moment, but are the considered, deliberate thoughts of a dedicated group aimed at safe-guarding the educational opportunities of Garrett County's five thousand students by making sure that quality education continues to be offered in the schools throughout the county.

In the final analysis the quality of education offered in any school system is determined by the quality of teacher in charge of the classroom. The excellent buildings and ample supplies which we have in Garrett County mean little without a realistic, competitive salary schedule to attract and keep qualified teachers to carry out the educational program. That our present salary scale is unable to do this was amply proven by the large turn-over in the teaching staff last year - about forty teachers left the county. With the salary scale offered in Garrett County it was impossible to replace all of these teachers with certificated teachers - as a matter of fact nearly two-thirds of the replacements who were hired do not meet the minimum certification requirements of the state of Maryland.

This then is the crux of the situation - the deterioration of the educational system because of inadequate financing for teachers' salaries. This is the point that Garrett County teachers feel so strongly about that they are willing, if necessary, to use the extreme measures mentioned in the resolutions to secure a successful settlement of the issue. That these measures may have undesirable side effects - loss of public support for teachers, tarnishing of professional image, alienation of specific groups - cannot be denied but it will be a small price to pay for the results to be obtained. After all the teachers' main concern has to be the welfare of the students.

No one likes to become involved in controversies and teachers in particular seem to have an aversion to it, but there comes a time when all must take a stand. The Garrett County Teachers Association is making every conceivable effort to resolve the controversy before March 19, 1968, but if the matter is not settled by then the teachers fully intend to follow the course they have charted. An honest conscience will allow no other decision.

In summation the teachers of Garrett County have made a reasonable request; they have allowed ample time for thorough study of the proposal by the public and responsible county officials; they have repeatedly stated their willingness to appear before any and all groups to justify their request; they have used all available types of news media to present the problem in sharp focus; they have met with all responsible county officials to discuss the situation; and they have willingly worked with any group ready to share the problem. If overt acts must be resorted to, it will be because all other means have failed, and the people have failed in their duty of supporting teachers.

Sincerely,

Lawrence K. Myers
President

Members of the Business and Professional Women's club will meet on Thursday evening, March 14, at 6:30 at the Four Seasons dining room. They are planning a spring dance, set for April 27th at the National Guard armory. Tickets will be available after the March 14 meeting.

Where Economy Should Start...

Civilian personnel on the federal payroll for fiscal 1969 will exceed the total population of each of 27 states in the nation. It will be greater than the combined populations of Alaska, Delaware, Nevada, Vermont and Wyoming—plus about half the total for Hawaii.

The federal government, according to the Budget message, will pay $42.55 billion to 6,502,695 persons on the government payroll during the next fiscal year.

The major share of the payroll, $25 billion, will go to an estimated 2.9 million civilian employees (approximately 170,000 more than last November.) The 3.5 million in uniform will receive an estimated $17.5 billion.

Few if any government employees are losing their jobs as a result of the spending cuts ordered by Congress and the Administration. In fact, when questioned about retrenchments, an Administration spokesman said, "We are abiding by the guidelines, principally by attrition."

It seems to us that the federal government could attain a higher level of efficiency with fewer people, and at the same time free additional capital for job creation in private enterprise.—Industrial Press Service.

University Women To Hear W. Grant On Constitution

Members of Garrett Branch, American Association of University Women, have arranged for William Grant, local attorney and the county's delegate to the Constitutional Convention sessions in Annapolis recently, to discuss the constitution at a regular meeting on Tuesday evening, March 12, at 8 o'clock at the Southern High cafetorium.

The public is invited and there will be discussion following Mr. Grant's presentation. Mrs. Dick Travis is chairman of the program which was arranged by Mrs. Holly Dopple.

Members were hopeful of a large turnout of citizens.

Winter Remains In Command Here

A Cumberland woman has reported sighting a robin outside her home, but it may be some time before Garrett residents see that forerunner of spring. Winter is still too much in command on the mountaintop for wise robins to appear.

For instance, last Thursday snow fell continuously and the temperature remained constant at 24.

Friday, the snow accumulation had reached 10 inches, while fast-moving winds blew roads shut almost as rapidly as they were plowed. School was called off and several events in the area were postponed. Saturday brought more of the same, with continued snowing and blowing.

Sunday was clear and sunny but quite cold—high temperature was 14. Monday also was clear, although much warmer, with an 8 a. m. reading of 21. At least a small part of the 12 inches (or more) of snow covering was melted by the high of 38.

A high of 46 was noted Tuesday afternoon, with cloudy skies. A light rain which began to fall late in the evening changed to snow before midnight, although not much accumulation was possible due to a steady temperature of around 35.

Snow continued intermittently Wednesday, but because the thermometer refused to leave the 34-35 degree level, the snow disappeared before any accumulation could be noticed. The temperature dropped below freezing around 5 p. m., with the result that Thursday dawned to show a small frost-like covering. The 8 a. m. reading was 16.

A letter supposedly signed by all 82 surviving members of the Pueblo crews ask the U. S. to admit the ship was inside Korean waters.

Three Births Listed

Three births, one girl and two boys, were reported by the Garrett County Memorial hospital during the past week.

Born on Leap Year day, February 29, was a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Maurice Moreland, Elk Garden.

An infant son born on March 1 to Mr. and Mrs. John Wesley Michaels, of Friendsville, lived only until the next day.

On March 2, a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Larry William Gordon, Gormania, W. Va.

The hospital admitted 38 persons and discharged 36. The 8:30 census this morning showed 46 beds filled.

NEWS FROM THE Ruth Enlow Library

BY EDITH BROCK

Several books have been presented recently to the Grantsville Branch of the Ruth Enlow Library in memory of Harry L. Renwick. Mr. Renwick was the Chairman of the Remodeling Fund Committee for the Grantsville Branch.

Other books have been presented to the Grantsville Branch in the past few months in memory of Darius G. Rembold, Christ Bowers, Norman P. Myers, John Folk, Clayton Edwards, Mrs. Anna Stanton, Mrs. Lola Peck and Mrs. Jane Davis.

Books have been given to the Ruth Enlow Library in Oakland within the past few weeks in memory of Victor W. Pritts, Paul R. Mateer, Sr., Guss T. Hilleary, Isaac Moon, Mrs. Julia Anderson, Earl Zepp, Kenneth James Keller, Harry Edward Rice, Charles V. Stonebraker, Mrs. Lester R. DeWitt and Mrs. Ward Hinebaugh.

Books suggested for Lenten reading are on display at the front of the library. These include, among others, Alan Paton's new book, "Instrument of Thy Peace," "A Diary of Prayer" by Elizabeth Goudge, "The Compassionate Christ" by Walter Russell Bowie, "Victory Through Surrender" by E. Stanley Jones and "Footprints in a Darkened Forest" by Bishop Fulton J. Sheen.

Recent books about the Bible and the Holy Land include "Your Bible" by Louis Cassels, "Everyday Life in Bible Times" by the National Geographic Society, "The Land, Wildlife and Peoples of the Bible" by Peter Farb and "Archaeological Discoveries in the Holy Land" by the Archaeological Institute of America.

There's a Better Way

The federal budget for fiscal 1969 calls for the expenditure of $14,400,000,000 interest on the public debt.

Compared with a total budget of $186,100,000,000 this staggering sum for interest may seem relatively small. Yet, it's so large that it's hard to comprehend.

So, let's see what that $14,400,000,000 could do for the American people if they didn't have to give it to the tax collector.

That $14,400,000,000 could provide a pair of $12.00 shoes for every other month for a whole year for every man, woman and child in the United States or

It could provide nice new $15,000 homes for 960,000 families, or

It could mean shiny new $2,500 automobiles for 5,760,000 proud owners, or

It could build 14,000 million-dollar grammar schools to meet expanding community needs, or

It could build 3,000 completely equipped high schools at a cost of $4.8 million apiece, or

It could provide a college education for 1 and one-half million young Americans.

If the same amount could be invested in industry, it could create more than 630,000 production jobs.

The next time somebody tells you—"Don't worry about the debt, we owe it to ourselves", just think of the hundreds of better ways this same amount could be put to productive use in building a bigger and better America for all.—U. S. Press Service.

SENSING THE NEWS

By Thurman Sensing
EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT
Southern States Industrial Council

Dealing With The Lawless

In sending back to Congress the "civil rights" proposals he unsucessfully submitted last year, President Johnson has taken an approach that may antagonize many Americans who are deeply concerned about safety in the streets of the nation.

The real civil rights violations these days have to do with the lawabiding people who are victims of street hoodlums. They also concern the cities that have been the targets of politcal incendiaries who try to burn down those communities which they can't dominate.

Yet the Johnson administration declines to regard street crime as belonging to the class of civil rights violations. Instead, it is bent on trying to further violate the rights of property owners by insisting on compulsory "open housing". It is not surprising, therefore, that Washington observers report that Congress this year may not enact any of the "civil rights" proposals advanced by the administration.

The real mood of Congress was revealed during the President's State of the Union Address. The strongest applause was reserved for Mr. Johnson's words about anti-crime action. But presidential words have not yet changed presidential policies or legislative proposals. The criminal elements still enjoy the protection of various Supreme Court rulings. Every time members of Congress try to remove the special privileges that the Supreme Court has reserved for lawbreakers, the White House is against corrective action.

Furthermore, the administration is still wedded to the notion that the way to end crime in the streets and to prevent riots and arson is to authorize larger federal giveaways. It wants to construct more public housing, extend the War on Povety boondoggle, and lavish funds on a mixture of political and sociological experiments. The street gangs and the would-be arsonists of another "long hot summer" no doubt laugh at such fanciful proposals.

What lawbreakers understand is tough policing. Firm law enforcement, fully supported by the courts of the land, is the most efficient way of ending the crime wave that is rolling across this nation.

An example of what can and should be done may be seen in Miami, Fla. Police Chief Walter Headley made a dramatic announcement earlier this winter that he planned a "get tough" war on crime in that city. With scarcely a shot being fired, there has been a dramatic lull in the hoodlum reign of terror in Miami's Negro districts. For the first time in many years, the wire services report, many Negro citizens are not afraid to walk the streets after dark.

But it should be borne in mind that "liberals" around the country were furious when Chief Headley announced his "get tough" policy. The American Civil Liberties Union, which pushes "liberal" causes, even announced court action against the police department's new, realistic policy.

President Johnson could have voiced praise of Miami's determined effort to end street crime, but not a sound was heard from the White House. The administration apparently was afraid of antagonizing the organized "liberals" who excuse crime in the streets and promote civil disobedience. Yet it is time that the administraton starts worrying about the vast majority of law-abiding citizens who are sick of special "civil rights" for hoodlums, arsonists and looters.

The federal government had better get firm in a hurry, for this April the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. is planning another mammoth march on Washington that could result in an orgy of lawlessness. Rev. King wants to stop the wheels of government from turning. If the administration bows down before Rev. King, supporters of law and order throughout the country are certain to be outraged — and properly so.

Time is running out for the lawless in America and for those in high places who condone or apologize for civil disobedience. Last summer the rioter and the looter went on a rampage and did as much damage to the country as foreign enemies of the nation might achieve in a war. Two great cities —Detroit and Newark—were warred on from within. That can't be permitted to happen again.

The way to stop major insurrections in the streets is to stop the daily acts of lawlessness by the most intensive, tough policing. Putting young hoodlums on government anti-poverty payrolls is simply a form of tribute to lawbreakers. If there are elements in the streets of America who can't understand the usages of civilization, they certainly can understand the language of the police nightstick. Now is the time to use the lawful instruments in the police arsenals to restoe order and public safety in the streets of the American Republic.

Anti-Poverty Program

Far down in the text of the newsletter issued by one of the nation's largest banks there appears this sentence, which we would like to elevate to headline status:

"It is at least worth raising the question as to whether the 10 percent rise in food prices since 1964 may not have done more harm to those living under conditions of poverty than all the anti-poverty programs have done good".

It's a good question, not to be lightly ignored. Inflationary pressures are pushing prices upward at an annual rate of 3 percent. Price levels inflated at only half the rate in the period from 1958 to 1964. But in the last two years inflation has speeded up. Who is hit hardest by this inflation?

We've said it many times, but not often enough for the lesson to be learned: low-income families, the poor, and those on fixed incomes. There simply is no means by which these citizens can increase their income to compensate for a 3 percent price-level increase. And if their income is shaved 3 percent each year by inflation, clearly their situation becomes increasingly perilous. Inflation creates poverty. Indeed, the experience of the last 2 years suggests that it creates more poverty more rapidly than federal anti-poverty programs can begin to counteract it. It is simply impossible for any anti-poverty program or combination of programs to reach the millions of people who have been robbed of 3 percent of their income each year. Instead the poverty programs tend to focus on segments of the population which attract the attention of "social workers" by pressure-group activity.

A prize example of this is the familiar Haryou antipoverty program in Harlem. It was one of the original, model programs. A few days ago Dr. Kenneth Marshall, one of the three men who planned that much-heralded program, told a conference of social workers: "None of it worked, and the $20-million that went into it has disappeared without a trace".

And then Dr. Marshall put his finger on the alarm button, observing that in their planning they had not given sufficient consideration to "how this country is really run politically and economically".

The best of all possible anti-poverty programs would be a determined anti-inflation program. That means an immediate and drastic curtailing of government spending.—U. S. Press Association, Inc.

ducation, supported by our superintendent of schools, recommended that Garrett County eachers be granted a salary ncrease. While this recommendation was rejected, a 55 ents reduction in the county eal property tax rate was dopted, causing a number of eachers to leave our school ystem. Numerous teaching posiions were vacant when school tarted last September because ualified teachers could not be ound to fill them at the salary evel our county was willing o pay.

"When this refusal was later eaffirmed, a study commission nvestigated all factors involved. We have carefully studied nd evaluated the commission's eport which discloses that:

"1. Garrett County will need t least 241 teachers next fall.

"2. According to past experience, about 10% of our teachers vill leave at this school year's nd for reasons other than reirement. Nearly 50 teachers reigned or retired last year.

"3. Nearly 40% of our teachers have taught for at least 20 ears, and 43 teachers will be eligible to retire this year.

"4. In Maryland only Garrett County pays its teachers at the minimum level. Somerset County pays its teachers an average of $500.00 more per year than we do, and its salary level oo is next to the lowest in the tate. While a teacher with a tandard professional certificate an receive a top salary of nly $7,400.00 in Garrett County, hat same teacher can reach a top salary of $8,800.00 in Allegany County.

"As elsewhere, in Garrett County the most important single function of local government is public education. Of the total money available to Maryland's counties for the operation of local government, 41% is spent for public education, but Garrett County spends only 22% of such funds for this purpose. Since the rest of Maryland is spending on the average nearly twice as much as Garrett County, our children cannot be offered the same quality of education as is being offered elsewhere as long as this policy remains unchanged.

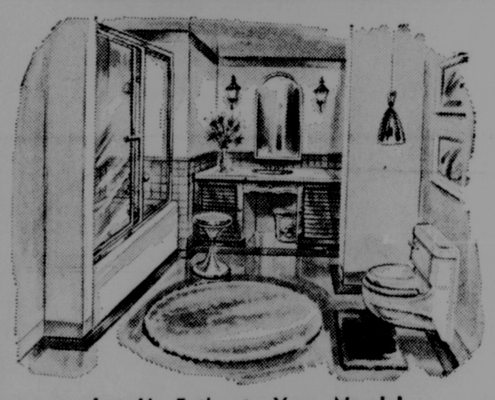
"Only if we are firmly convinced that Garrett County does not have the financial resources to sustain a greater effort can we accept this decision to provide less money for public education than any other county. Several counties with less assessable wealth per pupil pay their teachers much more than we pay in Garrett County. Our assessable wealth is $10,070.00 per pupil and we pay our teachers between $5,100.00 and $7,600.00. Calvert County has only $8,683.00 assessable wealth per pupil, but its teachers' salary scale starts at $6,000.00 and reaches $9,200.00 per year, an average of over $800.00 more per year per teacher.

"We have more students per teacher than any county in Maryland. The statewide average is 48.8 teachers per each 1,000 students while our ratio is only 43.1 teachers per each 1,000 students. Since state law requires a minimum staffing ratio of 45 per each 1,000 students Garrett County loses state funds each year because it has failed to meet this minimum standard. We are now only three teachers below this goal.

"Garrett County's own financial condition is also an important factor to be considered. Our ratio of bonded indebtedness for capital improvements is Maryland's lowest and our local government has more than $325,000.00 in surplus funds, although local law permits only $100,000.00. These funds are not needed for current operating costs or the payment of capital improvements. Private business can properly accumulate large cash surpluses from its earned profits, but government has no right to burden its citizens with taxes to produce revenue it does not spend to finance essential services.

"In view of this year's 20% reduction in our local real property tax rate and the current critical situation in public education, we can hardly conclude that our county government is providing those services it can financially support which are needed by our people, especially in the field of public education.

"Despite a dramatic increase in state funds, an unduly large surplus in the county treasury, the lowest bonded indebtedness in the state and a major reduction in the county tax rate, a majority of our county commissioners decline to increase our financial support for public education. If this decision is not altered, it will gravely affect our county's 5,500 school children. While the primary responsibility to correct this situation is not ours, we cannot ignore the consequences of not doing so.



"Our county's future and the welfare of our school children require that teachers' salaries be increased sufficiently to insure that our school system will continue to function effectively and without interruption. We are introducing legislation to accomplish this purpose. There is no alternative. The bill's new salary level will barely raise Garrett County teachers' salaries above the next lowest county in Maryland, and indications are that Somerset County is going to raise its salary level this year. If this bill is enacted, still there will be at least 22 local school systems in Maryland paying teachers more than we will be paying. County government must plan now for future improvement beyond what this legislation provides.

"Because state government pays nearly 70% of public education's cost in Garrett County, we favored last year's tax reform program to expand that support. Our purpose was not to enable local government to hold the line or lessen its support in the field of education. Our present action reaffirms last year's commitment.

"We sincerely urge our county commissioners to re-examine Garrett County's present ability to increase teachers' salaries. If local action is taken before the end of this session of the General Assembly to accomplish the goals contained in this legislation, the bill will not be enacted or signed into law."

A RECORD AND A PROGRAM

I have served you for the past twelve years as your Mayor and have filed my name for another two year term during which time I want to complete the following program:

1—The Old Deer Park Road project.

2—Place a new and safe bridge over the Little Youghiogheny River, South Third Street.

3—Widen and rebuild the narrow railroad overhead bridge on South Third Street.

4—Build the Broadford Run Dam to insure Oakland and adjacent communities of an ample source of fresh water for many years to come.

5—To maintain the sound financial condition of our Town.

You know my record of the past twelve years and I am offering you a program which I believe is both sound and progressive.

If you believe in Oakland and its future as I do, I would greatly appreciate your support on Election Day, Monday, March 11th, 1968.

Volkswagen's automatic stick shift. It's easier to use than it is to say.

It's quite a mouthful, isn't it?
But once you get by the name, the rest is easy.
There isn't a clutch pedal to contend with.
And for all practical purposes, you can drive everywhere without shifting.
On the highway, you shift once. (This is like an overdrive: you go faster, your engine goes slower, and your automatic bug won't turn into an automatic hog.)
And when the going gets rough (like up a ridiculously steep hill), you can shift into low.
What could be simpler?
One thing: the automatic stick shift is an option.
So you'll have to pay a little more.
But compared to other automatics, it's a bargain.
Because with every automatic stick shift, we include a remarkable money-saving device:
A Volkswagen.

Wages And Jobs . . .

Minimum wage laws result in partial and temporary benefits for a few and a long-range hardship for the many, according to Professor Yale Brozen of the University of Chicago.

Professor Brozen's paper states that "employers cannot afford to pay a worker $1.60 if his skills are worth only $1.25" This is a sure way to go broke, thereby resulting in the loss of all jobs in the affected firms. The low-wage workers whose skills do not justify the new minimum are liable to be cut loose. The rising wage floor results in unemployment for people who have the most need for gainful work, among them the physically and mentally handicapped.

The employment figures from 1954 to 1967, indicate the American economy grew substantially, that the unemployment rate went down from 5.5 per cent to 3.8 per cent, but the statutory minimum wage increased from 75 cents an hour to $1.40 an hour, and the unemployment among the non-white teen-agers went up from 16.5 per cent to 26.5 per cent.

The clear result of the minimum wage, he concludes, is that "such groups as unskilled teen-agers, women over 45, Negroes and people living in economically handicapped sections of the country... lose one set of jobs and then are forced to take lower wage employment in non-covered occupations or remain unemployed".

Let us hope that Congress takes a good look at Professor Brozen's findings before it considers still higher minimum wage rates and throws still more people out of work.—Industrial Press Service.

CAPITOL COMMENT

by

Charles "Mac" Mathias

Congressman, 6th District, Maryland

The Government Has The Goods

We are all familiar with the tales of international intrigue set in foreign capitals where the government keeps a dossier on every citizen. We are also acquainted with George Orwell's 1984, in which the State — "Big Brother" — was constantly watching everyone. Reading such stories, we have assured ourselves that this type of fiction could never become fact in America.

Yet now a Congressional committee has released a startling report which shows that the Federal Government is a long way down the road to having a file — or several files — on the intimate details of the personal life of each American. This survey, by the Senate Subcommittee on Administrative Practice, showed that Federal agencies have a staggering amount of information on individual citizens — and that not all of this material is really confidential.

Obviously there is a Federal file on you if you have ever received a social security number, filed an income-tax return, served in the armed forces, obtained an FHA or VA mortgage, or applied for a Federal job. The survey showed that these files and others total at least $111,467,000 — and include a breathtaking 27.2 billion separate items of information! Since there are now about 200 million Americans, clearly these records include data on Americans now deceased — and more than one file on many of us.

The information collected covers practically every detail of an individual's life, from his name, age and family background to his employment record, military service, and financial history. The Subcommittee reported that Federal files include the following:

—2,354,620,000 current and past addresses
—1,253,697,000 income records
— 190,942,000 records of checking and savings accounts
— 53,610,000 mortgage delinquency reports
— 264,594,000 police records
— 342,018,000 medical histories
— 279,636,000 psychiatric histories
— 187,762,000 reports on security clearances or other similar investigations

The Subcommittee's findings are hardly reassuring to those who value individual privacy and believe that individuals should be able to keep such details of their lives in confidence. For one thing, while the great bulk of this information is considered "confidential" within the collecting agency, the precise meaning of "confidentiality" and the safeguards employed vary widely. Second, there is obviously no guarantee that the files on you in any particular place will be complete or up-to-date; rather, it seems quite possible that an isolated bit of unfavorable information might pop up to plague one years after the fact. Finally, no comprehensive study has been done of the need of the government to know so much. Justifying every item of information, agency by agency, would be a tremendous job — but one which may be necessary in the near future.

The whole question takes on an atmosphere of urgency in the light of recent discussion of the possibilities for creating a Federal "data bank" or some other system of combining the files of many agencies into a central collection. Ironically, one protection of individual privacy has been the sheer volume of records and the absence of coordination. But already about one-fourth of these 3.1 billion files are in computers, making retrival and use relatively simple.

As methods of data collection and storage improve, and the range of Federal activities continues to grow, the Congress will have to act firmly to insure that only essential information is gathered, and that its use is carefully restricted. Otherwise we will indeed be on the road to 1984.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of our beloved dad, Charles I. Wright, who passed away two years ago, March 8, 1966.

He was just a plain dear daddy,
With a loving smile each day.
Always trying to do for us,
As he journeyed on his way.
To those who have a daddy,
Treat him with love and care.
You will never know his value,
Until you see his vacant chair.

Sadly missed by his children, and grandchildren, and his wife, Mary.

Deadline Nearing For Feed Grain, Wheat Programs

Friday, March 15, is the final date for enrolling in the 1967 Feed Grain and Wheat Programs, I. William Umbel, Chairman of the County ASC Committee, reminded farmers today. He urged those interested to visit the County ASC Office in Oakland as soon as possible.

The voluntary Feed Grain Program provides for payments to producers for diverting corn and sorghum from production. Diverted land must be devoted to conservation uses. Participating farmers are also eligible for price support payments on feed grains grown on permitted areas, when the entire feed base has not been diverted, he pointed out.

The 1968 Wheat Program makes certificate payments and price support available to producers who harvest within their allotment and meet certain other requirements. The Wheat Program does not provide payments for diverting land from production.

The chairman reported that 103 producers have now enrolled in the Feed Grain and Wheat Programs. The land diverted from feed grain production on these farms amounts to 773 acres.

Area Heart Fund Totals Are Given

Heart fund collections over a portion of the county, were announced this week by Mrs. James Glotfelty, area chairman for Accident, Bittinger, Cove, McHenry and North Glade. The total as of March 1 in this area was $855.86. Plastic hearts were yet to be reported.

A king-queen contest provided $278.26 and a heart dance $31.96, with a total of $310.22 for special events. Memorials totaled $44.

A total of $290.74 was collected on Heart Sunday with $40.50 from Accident; $64.05 from Bittinger; $77.85 from Cove; $45.14 from McHenry and $63.20 from North Glade. Churches, clubs, and organizations provided $147.90 and business places $63.00. The business breakdown included Accident $3, Bittinger $7, Cove $6, McHenry $42 and North Glade $5.

Damage after prisoners set fire to Moundsville Pen is estimated at $100,000.

Two Chosen To Represent Club At County Contest

The Monte Vista Sr. Girls' 4-H Club held a meeting Monday, March 4 at the home of Ann Feaster. Mrs. R. T. Hoffman, Valerie Smouse, and Linda Weimer were present to judge public speaking talks given by the girls in preparation for the County Public Speaking contest to be seld in Bittinger.

Winners of the contest were Ann Feaster and Pam Frantz, with Sherry Frantz as alternate.

Four Area Youths Enlist In Army

Four are youths have enlisted in the U. S. Army during the past several weeks, according to local recruiters.

The new enlistees and the career field they selected are George A. Friend, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben E. Friend, route 2, Deer Park, regular army unassigned; Willard W. Goff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence W. Goff, route 2, Swanton, stock control and accounting; Robert V. Rentschler, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert V. Rentschler, Oakland, personnel administration; Merle M. Parks, son of Mrs. Ruth Parks, Mt. Storm, personnel administration.

Following eight weeks of training at Fort Bragg, N. C., the recruits will be assigned to schools in their career fields.

Local Girl Scouts Holding Contest For Best Posters

The Girl Scout Troops of Oakland, Mt. Lake Park and Loch Lynn are holding poster contests in their individual troops this week.

The posters, to be designed on the theme of personal hygiene, will be judged by persons connected with each of the troops.

Prizes for the winners are being donated by Bob's Mountain Top Tire Service, Gregg's Pharmacy, Proudfoot's Pharmacy, Youthland, Dee Ann, Oakland Discount Store, Helbig Jewelers, The H-P Store, Browning's Hardware.

The winners will be announced next week.

Unwanted Clothing May Be Donated To World Needy

Persons wishing to donate clothing and/or blankets for the world's needy may leave such items at the Oak Park Church of the Brethren during the week of March 11-17, it was announced by Rev. Eldon Shingleton, pastor.

A truck from the Church World Service Center at New Windsor will pick up the items on March 18 for distribution. All items should be packed in sturdy cardboard cartons or clean cloth bags for shipment.

Such items as hats, bathing suits, ties, formal clothes, girdles, nylon stockings, military or Scout uniforms, bulk bedding, (such as pillows), pocketbooks, or materials made of plastic or rubber are not of use to Church World Service.

Most needed is warm clothing for children, young people and adults. Such items should have enough wear left in them to justify the expense of shipment. Blankets are urgently needed; in lieu of a blanket, a contribution of $3 permits the Church World Service to purchase a good quality blanket through a special arrangement.

It is suggested that donors provide 10 cents per pound for clothing and 25 cents per blanket for the cost of shipment overseas. Any money for poundage or to purchase blankets can be left at Oak Park Church or mailed by check to Church World Service, P.O. Box 188, New Windsor, Maryland 21776.

Aiken Casts Deciding Vote Against New Tax

Delegate Benjamin O. Aiken, Garrett County representative in the House of Delegates, cast the deciding vote against levying of sales tax on the purchase of soap powders and detergents.

Delegate Aiken, who at first declined to vote on the bill, was reminded that he could still vote after the House Ways and Means Committee was deadlocked 12-12. Mr. Aiken said the matter was a difficult one for him to decide, since it would be nice to give the State the additional $700,000 sales tax money; on the other hand, he said, "My wife would certainly be mad at me" for supporting the measure.

The delegate decided the matter by flipping a dime, heads as aye and tails as nay. The coin voted nay.

These special services were held under the auspices of the Oakland Area Council, Church Women United. The next Executive meeting of the Council will be Friday, March 15, at St. Mark's Lutheran Church, 7:30 p. m.

Many of the troops being rushed to Vietnam to bolster forces already there have served in Vietnam before.

BARBED WIRE and Babbling Brooks

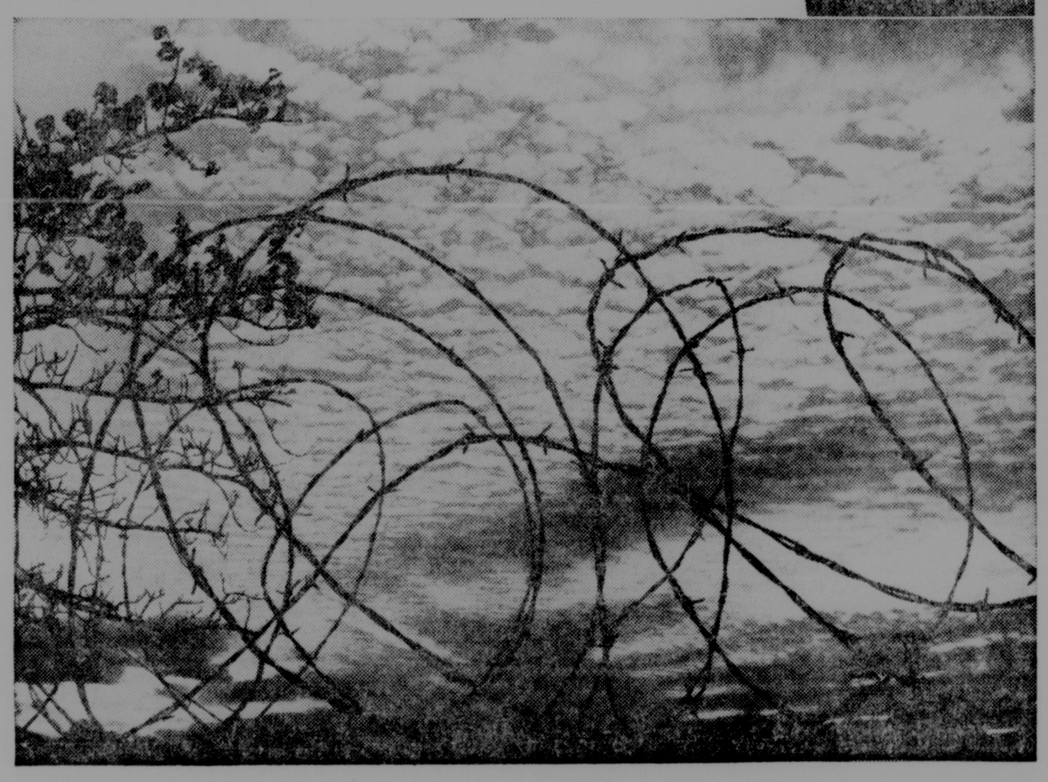
Spring sun shines on babbling brooks — and barbed wire. A bird song lilts prettily on fragrant air — and a sniper shot splits the silence. New green burgeons through brown winter grasses — and red blood drenches jungle earth.

One's description of the season depends upon location. In some parts of the world there are happy people, enjoying the spring, looking forward to Easter services. Other faces of this globe find suffering people, anguished by the sunshine, hungry, afraid, lonely, dying.



Centuries ago on black Calvary hill, Jesus of Nazareth demonstrated perfect love. Down through the ages, His life and teachings have pointed the way for mankind to heal the ills of the world.

So, in this Lenten season let us offer ourselves—our time and talents —to the service of His Church, in its task of making His kingdom come upon earth.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

HOW FAR?

Lesson for March 10, 1968

Background Scripture: John 12 and 13.
Devotional Reading: Philippians 2:1-11.

Nothing is more sobering to a preacher than the knowledge that he usually "talks a far better game than he plays." He is aware that the moral dimensions of his preaching and teaching must go beyond the limitations of his own accomplishments. Thus he can hardly help saying in effect: "Do as I say, not as I do," although actually it is not "as I say," but as the Word of God instructs us.

Rev. Althouse

The minister who holds up himself as the model to which the people should aspire is both thinking too highly of himself and pointing his people at too low a target. He may rightly strive to "practice what he preaches," but he ought to aim higher than "preaching what he practices."

The Message

This is true of any Christian, particularly the Christian parent. He ought to strive to set the best example possible, but not forget it is Christ himself who sets the example we need. Just as we ourselves ought to be continually dissatisfied with our level of spiritual and moral growth, so we need also to point our children to a level that is ever higher than the one on which we stand.

With Jesus, however, it was different. He not only had a message for his people, he was the message. He was the embodiment of the Good News he brought, the incarnation of all to which he exhorted his followers. His preaching and practice were all cut from the same bolt of cloth. To do what he said was nothing more or less than to emulate what he did.

We see this at work in his last evening with his disciples. It is his plan to give them a "new" commandment: "that you love one another" (John 13:34). Oh yes, THAT commandment! That's the ONE with which we have so much trouble and frustration. What do you mean by "love," Jesus, and how is it possible in a world like this? Aren't you asking for something beyond the grasp of we ordinary folk?

The Example

Jesus, however, did not intend for his "new" commandment to become just an interesting philosophical question. He left no doubt as to what he intended: "even as I have loved you, that you also love one another". The questions of "how much love?", "what kind of love?", etc. were taken care of by that one yardstick he gave for measurement: "even as I have loved you . . ."

The love of Jesus was something which they had already experienced in so many ways. Yet he did not rely upon their memories of the past, but instead gave them a new example that pinpoint the meaning of his command in dramatic form for the rest of their lives: he "girded himself with a towel . . . poured water into a basin, and began to wash the disciples' feet" (John 13:4-5 RSV). His preaching and his practice were a single, indivisable message.

The Limitations

What was he teaching them? Was he merely commanding them to practice foot-washing? No, he was giving them "an example" of the love which was implicit in his command to "love one another." This love he demonstrated was not a mushy sentiment (washing dirty feet is guaranteed to keep us from sentimentality!). It was nothing they deserved or had a right to expect of him. It was something done to them (not necessarily felt toward them), not because they were "lovable," or because Jesus felt "loving." No, despite their unworthiness, he humbled himself, doing what he didn't have to do, performing something he owed to no one.

If he, the Christ, could humble himself to undeserving, unlovable men, his disciples were to respond with no less a love than that.

"And how far should such love be expected to go?" we ask, hoping for some "sensible" limitation. "As far as he did," comes the unsettling, though not unexpected, answer: "As far as Calvary!"

Munson-Younkins Nuptials Held

Miss Audrey Younkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin A. Younkins of Boonsboro, became the bride of John Clary Munson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald E. Munson of Hagerstown, on Sunday, December 31, 1967. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Wilson P. Ord, D.D. in Trinity Lutheran Church of Hagerstown at 2 p. m.

Pre-nuptial music was played by the church organist, Clair A. Johannsen. Mrs. Jay L. Bell, aunt of the groom, of Oakland, sang "Wedding Prayer" and "O Perfect Love." During the ceremony she sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white satin, fashioned with an empire waistline, scoop neck and long pointed sleeves. Her skirt spread to a restrained "A" shape, terminating with a panel train that flared to chapel length.

Her bouffant veil of crisp illusion was arranged from a Tudor crown of lace and iridescents. She carried a cascading bouquet of white Fuji chrysanthemums, centered with a corsage of green cymbidium orchids.

Attending her sister as maid of honor was Miss Gail Younkins. She was attired in a gown of gold colored lace over taffeta. Her cascading bouquet was of gold Fuji chrysanthemums.

Best man for Mr. Munson was his brother, Lynn Gerald Munson.

Ushers were Donald Munson Bryon Middlekauf, both cousins of the groom, Harold Younkins, and Charles Boden, brother and brother-in-law of the bride.

Mrs. Younkins chose for her daughter's wedding a brown knit suit, with darker brown accessories. Mrs. Munson, mother of the groom, wore a sheath style dress of winter white knit with black accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of green cymbidium orchids.

A reception was held immediately after the ceremony in the church social room. The tables were decorated with pink and white floral arrangements and candelabra, and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake, which was topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Guests were served by Mrs. Earl Hargett, Jr., Mrs. Charles Boden, both sisters of the bride, and by Mrs. Lynn Munson, sister-in-law of the groom. Miss Lois A. Bell, cousin of the groom was in charge of the guest book.

The couple spent their honeymoon at the Bell cottage at Deep Creek Lake, with a trip to Niagara Falls, N. Y., and Detroit, Mich.

The bride was graduated from Boonsboro High school in 1963 and is employed as a secretary at the same school. Mr. Munson was graduated from North Hagerstown High school in 1959, served three years in the army, eighteen months in Turkey. He is now employed as a mail carrier at the Hagerstown Post Office.

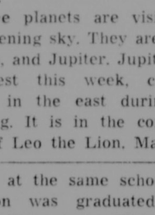
The bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Munson, entertained members of the wedding party and families at their home following the wedding rehearsal on Saturday evening.

Mr. Munson is a grandson of the late Mrs. Alma Bell of Loch Lynn and a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Jay L. Bell of Oakland

Events Above The Mountain Top

by P. S. Frank, Jr.

This morning at 4:21 a. m. the moon was in its first quarter phase. Next Thursday at 1:53 p. m. the moon will be full.



The sun will rise earlier and set later each day this week so that next Thursday the day will last fourteen minutes longer.

Three planets are visible in the evening sky. They are Mars, Saturn, and Jupiter. Jupiter, the brightest this week, can be found in the east during the evening. It is in the constellation of Leo the Lion. Mars and Saturn can be found in the southwest in the constellation of Pisces, the Fishes. This week Mars is brighter than Saturn. The two planets are close together as we see them and they set about 3 hours after sunset.

Sirius, the brighest star, can be found southeast of the constellation of Orion. One can easily identify Orion in the southwestern sky by his belt of three stars. Orion is a legendary hunter. In his left shoulder is found the very bright star, Betelgeuse. Betelgeuse is a Red Super Giant which is the brighest star in the constellation of Orion. The second brightest star in Orion is diagonally opposite Betelgeuse in the southwest corner of the constellation below the belt. This is a blue star. It too is a very bright super giant which forms the foot of the hunter. The northern most star in Orion's belt is just about on the earth's equator if one were to extend it into the sky.

In the planetarium this week Mrs. Athey's Jr. High Science classes from Southern will study Climate, Mr. Slagel's ninth grade Science classes from Southern will study Bright Stars and Constellations. From Dennett Road Mr. Athey's sixth grade classes will study geography.

BEWARE OF LSD.

IT IS DANGEROUS.

LSD, or lysergic acid diethylamide, was discovered nearly thirty years ago and only recently became the subject of intense research. It has possibilities for great good if we can ever learn how to control it.

It has been said LSD is presently the most dangerous drug we have had in a long time. Its results are erratic, unpredictable and highly potent. Evidence indicates it damages the user's chromosomes, leading to mental retardation and birth defects. We will not, under present conditions, stock or sell LSD to anyone.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Republican:

Considering the fact that continued progress of our school system practically "hangs in the balance", depending on whether the teachers of our County get an increase in salary, which has long been requested, and now justly demanded, I feel that we, taxpayers and parents, should make our wishes known to our County Commissioners, so they may be guided toward making a decision favorable to the salary increase.

Certainly Garrett County hasn't gotten so hopelessly into the "poverty stricken" class that we are unable to help raise the salary of our teachers to the amount requested—which still would be somewhat less than salaries paid teachers in most of the other counties in our state,—especially since almost two thirds of the present cost of operating our schools is provided thru the "State Equalization Fund".

I suggest we express our wishes concerning this matter by writing to the County Commissioners, at Oakland.

Sincerely
Walter C. DeBerry

February 29, 1968

Dear Sir:

In your editorial of today you made three good points.

The first was that the teachers in Garrett County are the lowest paid in the state. Pathetic, indeed.

The second was that Garrett County spends less for education than any other county in the state. It's shameful that such a statement has to be made.

Your third, and most important point, was that "a crisis exists, and is more critical than ever before". Then you went on to purposely disqualify some of the only means left by which the teachers of the county are attempting to rectify the situation.

You say that you will support the teachers in their quest for salary increase as long as "normal" procedures are exercised to bring about this end.

Question. Is begging a normal procedure? Teachers of this county have sent repeated pleas to the public for a salary raise. One direct request should have been sufficient to evoke action. No action of any value has been taken, nor is any in evidence.

You say that students will be jeopardized if there is a stoppage of outside activities and finally, a strike.

Queston. Which is more of a threat? A late graduation and no prom for this year's seniors, or no qualified teachers for all of next year's students? No reasonably intelligent person could choose the former.

You called the teachers "desperate and frustrated". How sad, Mr. Editor, that such terms are necessary to describe professional men and women. In this phrase you contradicted the whole theme of your editorial.

If so many other avenues are open to the teachers, why should they appear desperate and frustrated? Do you think that any young educators reading this piece would want to work where their mental health is in such jeopardy? Especially when they can collect a better salary almost any place else? Come now!

I also ask you. What is professional integrity in the face of a lack of respect that has been regularly dealt to teachers in this county? What is professional integrity to one who has fought (and as a college student, I know that is the correct term) his way through at least four years of college, only to find that his buddy, who dropped out in tenth grade is earning twice as much?

In regard to extra-curricular activities. Teachers don't receive pay for helping with them. No law requires them. They take up time a teacher could spend with his own family. By and large, the only comment made of them is criticism when the public isn't satisfied.

Lastly, the teachers are in no way guilty of jeopardizing the standing of our county's children. They have written letters, made telephone calls, arranged meetings, given speeches, attended meetings and acquired outside opinions and aid. Now, through the efforts of some of the county legislators, they are at the end of a long line of rebuffs.

If a scapegoat must be found, don't look to the teachers. They have tried every other way. Their time is short. They are human beings and cannot be degraded any longer.

The man on the street is the one who is jeopardizing the future of his own children. He and his apathy have pushed the crisis to its summit, and the only ways down are a climb with everyone helping or a headlong fall, each using his own devices.

If a choice is to be made, it is not one of the teachers'. It is a choice of the people. A choice should not have to be made. People like you are forcing the issue to a sad end.

Very truly yours,
Sheila D. Travis

Editor, The Republican
Dear Sir:

As a teacher, a member of the Garrett County Teachers' Association and especially as a parent, I thank you for your stand in support of the teachers' salary request which is awaiting the approval of the County Commissioners.

I feel though that the teachers as a result of their integrity and concern for the county's financial situation have asked for the minimum increase in salaries. Their request will barely make Garrett County competitive with the other counties in Maryland on the teacher market during the 1968-69 school year. Any less than the amounts requested practically eliminates Garrett County's chances of attracting well-qualified personnel for our children's classrooms.

Perhaps had the Teachers' Association more experience in these matters similar to that of a Labor Organization, they would have requested a larger sum so that there could be a cushion on which to compromise. Garrett County Teachers did not do this as they honestly asked for what they felt the County could afford. It would seem that there can be no compromise under these conditions. Many teachers feel this way especially after the way their request was handled last year.

The teachers of Garrett County are between the devil and the deep blue sea, so to speak. They can give in on their salary proposal and watch the school system gradually erode away to less than mediocrity as the well-qualified people retire or are enticed away by better conditions in other places. Or they can take all the steps necessary to insure the future of Garrett Conty Schools. The only steps open are those outlined: work stoppage after four o'clock; complete work stoppage and sanctions. Are there any other alternatives that you can suggest? One might be to resign in June, but will running away help Garrett County?

The basic question remains. Which is worse, the long years of decline and then the long hard climb back to where we are now or cessation of school until the people demand that the Commissioners they elected and who constantly state that they are acting in the best interests of the county, act in the best interests of our children, the County's future, and support education comparative with that in the rest of our state?

Not one educator in the county wishes to stop work in any manner. If work stoppage occurs, only the county authorities can be held responsible. If sanctions are placed on the Garrett County Schools, again only the County Commissioners can be blamed. During the last two years, the teachers have had the support of the Board of Education in their efforts to create more attractive working conditions in Garrett County. Last year the Commissioners ignored Educators, the children of Garrett County and the future economic growth of the County. Should the teachers, responsible for the education of our children, stand idly by again this year as more damage is done to our schools? The teachers welcome suggestions and alternatives. Can you offer a concrete, practical solution? Or do you advocate the devil, or the deep blue sea which ever we choose as long as no stand is taken?

I hope that the Commissioners approve the teachers' request and that the educators of Garrett County can always have the support you have given them in your fine editorial last week.

Sincerely,
Paul S. Frank, Jr.

PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION OF MARYLAND
Order No. 57046

In the matter of the proposed Rate Schedule of Monongahela Power Company identified as General Service Rate (Optional) Schedule "TEC"

* * * *

Before the Public Service Commission of Maryland

CASE NO. 6185

On January 25, 1968, Monongahela Power Company filed with this Commission revised sheets to the Company's Maryland Electric Service Tariff P. S.C. Md. No. 1, to become effective March 1, 1968. The filings included a General Service Rate (Optional) Schedule designated as First Revision of Original Sheet No. 8A1, proposing to cancel effective Commercial Service Rate (Optional) Schedule "TEC," Original Sheet No. 8A1 for the purpose of broadening the application to other classes of customers using electric energy for space heating and have characteristics of use similar to those of commercial customers.

The Commission has concluded after consideration that the General Service Rate (Optinal) Schedule TEC-1 designated as First Revision Original Sheet No. 8A1, should be suspended in order to provide opportunity for the Commission to determine the justice and reasonableness of the said tariff.

IT IS, THEREFORE, this 14th day of February, in the year Nineteen Hundred and Sixty-Eight, by the Public Service Commission of Maryland, ORDERED: (1) That the proposed new tariff designated as Original Sheet No. 8A1, filed with the Commission by Monongahela Power Company be, and the same is hereby suspended for a period of not more than 120 days from March 1, 1968.

(2) That proceedings as to the justice and reasonableness of the tariff hereinbefore suspended, be, and the same are hereby, instituted by the Commission.

(3) That this proceeding be, and the same is hereby, assigned for hearing at the office of the Commission, Baltimore, Maryland, on Wednesday, March 13, 1968, at 10:30 o'clock, A.M.

(4) That Monongahela Power Company shall cause publication of the scheduled hearing at least one time before March 8, 1968, in a newspaper of general circulation in Garrett County, Maryland.

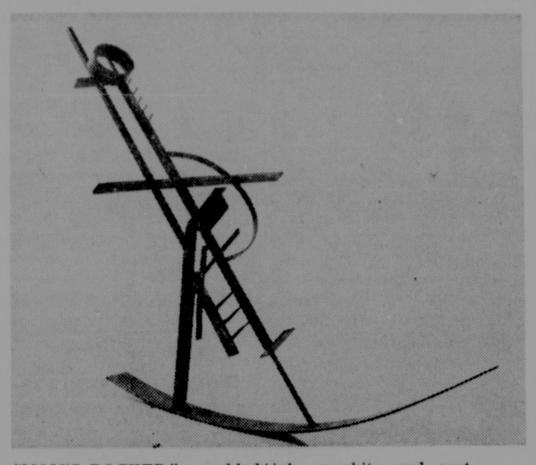
Seeks Corrections On Tag Discrepancies



Commissioner of Motor Vehicles John R. Jewell has appealed to Maryland motorists to assist the Department in correcting any discrepancies which may appear on their 1968 tag applications.

"In past years it was only necessary to process relatively few revisions, mostly concerned with recent name and address changes," the Commissioner said, "but this year, due to recent mandates from the Federal Highway Safety Bureau, it has become necessary to remake the entire registration record of each vehicle as the Department implements its transition from manual to computerized filing."

Owners of Maryland-registered vehicles are asked to carefully examine their tag applications for inaccuracies in name and address, and to compare the serial numbers with last year's registration card.

Corrections should be noted on the application form and returned to the Department of Motor Vehicles for processing. There are more than 1,700,000 records to be transcribed.

Welded Sculpture On Display

"MOM'S ROCKER," a welded metal sculpture by Richard W. Wagner, is one of thirty works of art now on display at the Garrett County Historical Society Museum on Center street in Oakland.

The exhibti was assembled by the Maryland Arts Council and is sponsored in Oakland by the Garrett County Arts Council and 18 local businesses and service clubs.

Other sculptured pieces are fashioned from bronze, oak, steel and lacquered polyester. Media used in the paintings included in the exhibit are oil, watercolor, acrylic polymer, casein, ink, graphite and soot.

The free admission exhibit will be open to the public from 7 until 9 p. m. each Monday through Friday evening and from 2 to 4 p. m. each Saturday and Sunday afternoon. It will be on display until March 24. Aza Stanton, chairman of the local arts council, has expressed the hope that there will be a large attendance to encourage the group to obtain other exhibits of this nature in the future. In planning stages now for the local Arts Council is the presentation of a Center Stage of Baltimore production later in the year.

Program Planning Meeting Is Set For Homemakers

The program planning committee of the County Homemakers council will meet at the home of Mrs. Clayton Livengood in Grantsville on Monday, March 11, to make plans for the special spring meeting on May 15, it was announced by Mrs. Freda S. Denison, extension agent. The time is set for 1:30 p. m.

Other regular meetings also were announced:

March 12, 1:30 p. m., Mars Hill club, home of Mrs. David Beachy; 7:30 p. m., Deer Park Club, home of Mrs. Rodney King.

March 13, 1:30 p. m., McHenry club, in EUB church basement; 7:30 p. m. Route 40 club, at the Route 40 school.

March 14, 10 a. m., Meadow Glade Club, home of Mrs. Leslie Friend; 7:30 p. m., Oakland Club, home of Mrs. Jack Wilson.

Mrs. Denison also listed some points on better laundering techniques. She said detergent manufacturers had improved their formulations. Products developed for cotton work more effectively to clean and whiten fabrics made of acetate, triacetate, nylon and polyester. They also work effectively with permanent press polyester cotton blends, which create special problems with regard to oily stains, she said.

She listed tips for permanent press laundering: for moderately soiled garments, use full amount called for; for those heavily soiled, use one half to one measure more than amount called for; pre-soaking is helpful; heavy stains should be prespotted with full strength liquid detergent; those with pleats of creases should be turned inside out prior to machine washings and drying in order to reduce wear at sharp edges.

The U. S. is tightening censorship of details of Communist attacks, including casualties and damage, to "deny the enemy information of intelligence value".

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our infant daughter, Lavonne Sharlene, who passed away March 8, 1948.
No stain was on her little heart,
Sin had not entered there.
And innocence slept sweetly on
Her little face so fair.
She was too pure to be on earth,
Too beautiful to stay.
And so God's holy angel bore
Our darling one away.

In order to make it more convenient for citizens to register who have not previously done so, the Board of Supervisors of Elections has set up a schedule for mobile registration, it was announced.

This will be the only mobile registration in the county for the three elections this year: the Constitutional referendum on May 14; Presidential Primary Election on September 10; and the Presidential Election on November 5.

Mobile registration would take care of change of address, changing of names from maiden name ot the woman to married name, and transfers when a voter has moved from one district to another. No change of party affiliation will be allowed at this time, the last date for changing party affiliation was March 10, it was pointed out. In order to vote a person must have lived in the state one year and in the county six months.

The schedule follows: The Elbow, District 11, at George's Creek Church of the Brethren, on March 26 from 2:30 to 4:30 p. m.; Grantsville, District 3-1, at the Fire Hall on March 26, 7 to 9 p. m.; Accident, District 5 at the Fire Hall, March 27, 2 to 4 p. m.; Friendsville, District 2, at the Fire Hall, March 27, 6 to 8 p. m.; Gorman, District 8-1, at the Fire Hall, April 2, 2 to 4 p. m.; Bloomington, District 4, at the Fire Hall, April 2, from 6 to 8 p. m.; Kitzmiller, District No. 13, at the Council Chambers, April 3, from 4 to 6 p. m.

Voters in other districts may register at the office of the Board of Supervisors of Elections located in the K. of P. building, 12 S. Third Street. The office is open from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. Monday through Friday. The last day of registration prior to the Special Election is April 15.

Police Investigate Wednesday's Pileup On Third Street

A chain-reaction pileup on Third Street Wednesday afternoon involving a school bus and two cars is being investigated by Oakland Police Chief Percy Lawton and Officer Stancie Bowers today.

Those involved in the accident were Bertram H. Upole, driver of a school bus owned by Emile Germain; John Weber, Oakland, driver of a station wagon, and David Nine, formerly of Terra Alta, who is currently living on Oak street.

The mishap occurred as the bus, with several children aboard, was halted at the corner of Third and Center Streets waiting to make a left turn.

Northern Wins District Title; Meets Easton

Huskies Defeat Williamsport 59 to 54 Last Saturday

Northern High school's Gary Reichenbecher and Terry Goehringer came through with some quick baskets midway in the final period at Hagerstown last Saturday night to lead the Huskies to a spot in the state tournament this week-end.

Behind at the time 43 to 42 Reichenbecher connected for a basket with Goehringer following with a little more than four minutes to go. The Huskies went on from there to a hard-fought 59 to 54 victory over Williamsport High to win District 1, Class B Championship.

The Huskies will play undefeated Easton High of Talbot county at College Park tomorrow evening at 6 o'clock.

Dave Cole, sophomore and son of former National League pitcher made an effort to get Williamsport back in the picture with a 12-foot field goal. That made it 46 to 45 with 3:37 left but a minute later Williamsport lost Cole on personal fouls, just as Northern had lost Bill Aiken and John Braskey in the third quarter.

The Huskies weren't fearsome at the free throw line in the closing minutes, but they apparently didn't have to be as Goehringer turned two of the misses into field goals with rebound tap-ins.

Northern, while outscoring Williamsport 23 to 20 from the floor, actually had its biggest advantage on the boards. The Huskies out-rebounded the Wildcats 44 to 34 with the six-seven Reichenbecher hauling down 17.

Two Reports Made On Seeing Fireball

...e request for information on the bright meteor fireball which passed over this area on March 3, brought two replies to Paul Frank at the school's science center on Green Street.

Those reporting as having seen the ball were Mrs. Linda Friend, Deep Creek Lake; and Mr. and Mrs. John Menges, Keyser Ridge.

They reported seeing the object on that day about 10 o'clock p. m. It was traveling from south to north. It had a shaped head and long tail and they kept it in sight for 30 to 60 seconds. Mrs. Friend reported seeing two sections, while Mr. and Mrs. Menges reported seeing three.

They heard no unusual noises. The object was about 30 degrees above the horizon.

Mr. Frank said they were the only ones reporting seeing it from east of the path of the fireball. The information was sent to Von DelChamberlain, director of the Network for Rapid Analysis of Fireball Trajectory, at Michigan State university.

Mr. Frank said officials were of the opinion it was a Russian Zonde 4 satellite which was falling out of its orbit and back to earth.

Russell L. Smith failed by nine votes in his bid for a seventh term as mayor of Oakland, and was defeated for the position by H. D. "Hub" Swartzentruber, in Monday's municipal election. The vote was 209 to 200.

More than eighty-three percent of the voters, or a total of 415 citizens, turned out to elect Mr. Swartzentruber and return all three of the incumbent councilmen and city treasurer to their posts.

Harry L. Stemple was high man on the ticket with 250 votes, while Allen Naylor received 249 and Willis Shaffer 214. Mrs. Beryldine Stanton received 326 votes for re-election as city treasurer. She had no opposition.

Car Snaps Utility Pole, Halting Area Electric Service

Electrical service to the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park area was disrupted for a time about 3 p. m. Monday, following a car-utility pole crash on East Oak Street.

The driver of the east-bound 1961 Oldsmobile which struck and toppled the pole was 24-year-old Tommy Roger Bucklew, formerly of Terra Alta, who is currently with the U. S. Navy at Jacksonville, Fla. He entered guilty pleas to charges of reckless driving and operating under the influence of alcohol. A fine of $12 and costs was levied by Oakland Trial Magistrate Robert Maroney in the first charge; while a fine of $100 and costs was suspended on the second charge. Tfc. Robert Lashley, of the Maryland State Police, investigated. Members of the town police force helped keep the area free of traffic until repairs were made.

A passenger in the auto, Paul Friend, escaped injury in the mishap, which caused approximately $200 damage to the car. Electrical service was resumed shortly following the accident, and a new pole was erected in place of the splintered one.

Raymond McCullough New Supt. of Schools

Dr. Raymond O. McCullough

Dr. Raymond O. McCullough, former resident of Friendsville, and teacher in this county for a number of years, has been appointed superintendent of Garrett County Schools, to succeed Willard L. Hawkins, who submitted his resignation several weeks ago, to become effective July 31 of this year, it was announced this week.

Dr. McCullough's appointment was approved by the County Board of Education a number of days ago and received the approval of the State Superintendent of Schools just this week.

Dr. McCullough currently is assistant superintendent of schools of Howard County and prior to going to that county was professor of Education and Director of the Graduate Program in Frostburg State college at Frostburg. He received his Doctor of Education degree in secondary education at Pennsylvania State college, with a minor in public school administration.

Born in Damascus, Va., he moved to Friendsville at an early age and attended public schools there, graduating from Friendsville High School.

He was graduated from Washington college, Chestertown, with a B.S. degree in chemistry and a minor in mathematics. He received his master's degree in secondary education at Duke university, Durham, N. C., with a minor in mathematics. He studied comparative education abroad under a Fulbright grant for a period of two months in 1960. He has also attended graduate schools at the University of Maryland, University of Wisconsin, Johns Hopkins university and the University of Wyoming.

Dr. McCullough taught science and mathematics in the county schools prior to World War II when he served three years as a sergeant-technician in the U. S. Army engineers, participating in the landing on the island of Iwo Jima.

He also served as head of the mathematics department of Allegany High school, was principal of Central High school, Lonaconing; principal of Allegany High, Cumberland; and superintendent of Schools in Talbot county.

Dr. McCullough is married to the former Jessie M. Guard, of Mill Run, near Friendsville, and they have one daughter, Laura Lee, 13, now a pupil in the eighth grade. He and his family are now residing near Baltimore but expect to move to Oakland during the summer months.

He will assume his official duties August 1st.

Grand Jurors Are Charged By Judge Hamill

Points Out Duties; Calls Attention To Conditions In Court House

Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill, Jr., delivered the charge to the March term grand jurors when they convened Monday morning in the Court House in Oakland

He pointed out in general terms the duties of the jurors and also recent federal court decisions which had hampered officers in the apprehension and conviction of alleged criminals and also called attention to the responsibilities of the jurors.

The entire charge was similar to that delivered to the last term of grand jurors with one notable exception which concerned the conditions at the court house. He told the jurors he had recently received complaints from various persons employed at the court house relative to its condition as to cleanliness and had been requested to mention it to the grand jury.

He indicated that in recent months the Court House had been very dirty and told the jurors they may find it clean this week because two extra men had been helping the janitor to prepare the Court House for inspection. He suggested

County Head Start Gets $60,633 Grant

A federal grant of $60,633 from the Office of Economic Opportunity will assure summer Head Start in Garrett County Schools for the fourth consecutive summer, Rep. Charles McC. Mathias announced last Thursday in Washington.

The grant is made to the Garrett County Community Action committee and the program will be conducted by the Garrett County Board of Education.

Willard L. Hawkins, Garrett County superintendent of schools, said the Head Start program will function in about 11 schools around the county. Rep. Mathias' office reported that the Head Start program will operate for eight weeks and will involve about 225 children who will enter the first grade next September.

Garrett County's share of the cost of this program will be $18,297. The federal grant includes $15,261 of unexpended balances from previous programs, which is being re-programmed, and $45,372 in a new grant.

The Head Start program is designed for so-called culturally deprived children and includes medical, dental, social and psychological services.

Mr. Hawkins pointed out that the Garrett County school system started kindergarten on an experimental basis last September. About 100 children are voluntarily attending the first public kindergarten at Oakland.

Next September it is hoped that kindergarten can be offered at Bloomington, Grantsville, Kitzmiller and the Route 40 School west of Frostburg. Only Friendsville and Accident lack facilities for a kindergarten, he said.

Court Of Appeals Reverses Decision

The Maryland Court of Appeals, in an opinion rendered during the past week, has reversed a decision made in the Circuit Court in Oakland on September 9, 1966, in a case involving David G. Dixon and wife and Iva F. Frantz and husband, of the Blooming Rose section.

Jack R. Turney and W. Dwight Stover represented the Dixons while William W. Grant represented Mr. and Mrs. Frantz.

The circuit court in 1966 had granted an injunction to Mr. and Mrs. Frantz, compelling Mr. and Mrs. Dixon to remove any obstruction and to refrain from obstructing a certain road, and decreed that the right of way should be 20 feet wide.

In its reversal the Court of appeals stated that the width of the road should be determined as it was located and used in 1905 when the original reservation was made; that the evidence produced falls short of supporting the complaint of obstruction and hindrance.

The case was argued in the Court of appeals on February 8.

The Dixons had recognized the roadway as approximately 16 feet wide. In 1905 Garrett Dixon owned "Blooming Rose", a 270 acre farm fronting on a public road. In March of that year he conveyed to Edwin Dixon, 97 acres fronting on the public road. He inserted in the deed: Save and excepting the right of way or road as it is now lo-

Parties Differ Over Sewage Treating Plant

Town Of Oakland And Health Unit Disagree On Matter

The dispute between Oakland and the Maryland Health Department was taken a step further last week when the Garrett County Sanitary District's appeal from a May 23, 1967 decision in Garrett Circuit Court was heard in Annapolis.

William W. Grant, city attorney for Oakland, said the dispute stems from a difference of opinion on sewage treatment plant construction.

Mr. Grant said the state health department proposed a single plant able to take care of 3,500 people, the inside-town-limits population.

The town, in turn, resisted the state proposal and advocated building four smaller plants, with the total being able to handle the demands of 6,000 people, the estimated "floater" population of the town and its suburban areas.

The attorney noted that the town had included business, industrial and educational facilities in their estimate that led to the four-plant proposal.

Mr. Grant, who represented the town before the five-judge Maryland Court of Appeals in Annapolis last week, said that the state health headquarters in Baltimore has initiated a suit against the town which has not yet been heard.

Subsequent to the state suit, he said the Garrett County Sanitary District filed suit against Oakland and this is the suit which was decided last May 23 in the town's favor by Judge Stuart F. Hamill and heard in appeal Wednesday.

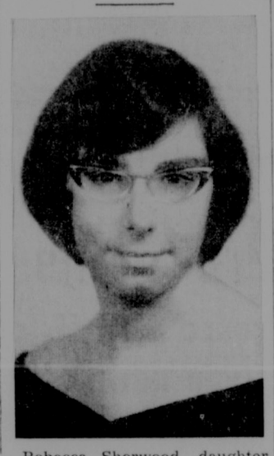
Mr. Grant said a decision on the appeal is expected in about four weeks. He added that he does not know when the initial suit, filed by the state health unit, will be heard.

The Oakland attorney did indicate, however, that the Town of Oakland intends to maintain its stand on the amount of sewage treatment facilities needed by the community.

Commissioners Plan To Make CAP A Separate Agency

A motion presented by John Ross Sines, president of the Board of County Commissioners, at their March 4 meeting proposed that the Community Action Program henceforth operate as a separate agency.

At first, all three commissioners okayed the motion, which further proposed that the Board dissolve itself of any future obligation beyond that presently agreed upon in the present program ending August 31, 1968.



Since 98 per cent of funding comes from Federal sources, the Board said it felt that the program should be operated in accordance with federal regulations, without the necessity of county control. If in the future, problems between the groups arise, the problems would be handled on a time to time basis, according to the board's minutes.

Although all three commissioners first voted in favor of the proposal, on March 5, Allen S. Paugh asked that he be counted as not voting; on March 11, the vote of Mr. Paugh was removed from the voting records.

In other business before the meeting, a committee consisting of Lawrence Myers, Carl Everly, Foster Riggs, Wayne Johnson, and Dick Clever came before the board to discuss matters concerning school teachers

Rebecca Sherwood Gets Scholarship

Rebecca Sherwood, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Lawrence Sherwood, recently received word from Samuel M. Ross, Dean of Men at West Virginia Wesleyan College, that she has received the Conference Honor Scholarship. It will cover $1,200 a year, for four years, with the requirement that she keep a 3.0 average.

Becky is a member of St. Paul's Methodist Church, the National Honor Society, Senior band, and she is presently serving as Vice President of Girl Scout Troop No. 97.

Changes Suggested In Liquor Laws

A measure to repeal and reenact with amendments some sections of the Annotated Code of Maryland dealing with alcoholic beverages and to add some subsections was introduced in the House of Delegates by B. O. Aiken, delegate.

The bill would eliminate the necessity of a licensee having a dining room which serves full course meals at least twice daily, would cut down the capacity of an eating establishment from forty to twenty.

The license would authorize the licensee to sell for consumption off the premises not less than six bottles or cans of brewed beverages.

A license fee for a bona fide hotel or motel, and restaurants would cost $1,500 and provide that in the county no person under 21 would be permitted in the tavern or on premises where liquor was sold.

Sales of alcoholic beverages would be from 6 a. m. to 1 o'clock a. m. on the following day. It would be unlawful for any person to sell or for any person to consume any alcoholic beverages on any premises licensed between 1 a. m. and 6 a. m on any day of the week or at any time on Sunday after 1 a. m.

The board of license commissioners would be authorized to maintain a reserve fund of $100,000.

Those Who Haven't Gotten Applications Can Still Get Tags

Don't wait any longer if you haven't received your application for new license plates from the Department of Motor Vehicles, warns Mrs. Azella Parsons, County Treasurer.

Rather than trying to cope with the calls and letters from the 25,000 Marylanders who did not receive application forms, the DMV has issued a form which will allow persons to pick up their tags at once, without the delay of contacting the Department.

The form, which is at the office of the Treasurer in the court house, requires information shown on last year's registration card, which must be presented to the Treasurer's Office, and also information on insurance.

According to Mrs. Parsons, the total number of plates sold as

B&O Voices Desire To Keep Oakland On List of Stops

Barring further mail diversions by the Post Office Department, the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad has no plans for reducing the number of trains serving Oakland, the Deep Creek-Garrett County Promotion Council has been advised.

David A. Watts, Jr., director of passenger service for the C & O - B & O, assured Lynn Beckman, executive director of the council, that the B & O wants very much to continue rail service to Oakland.

He said improved highways in Western Maryland have diverted most of the railroad's traffic to private automobiles and the " B & O is left with no choice but to seek on-train and station economics so that we might be able to continue our service to the area".

Four B & O passenger trains, he said, stop daily at Oakland to pick up and de-train a total daily average of less than a dozen passengers. In addition, the railroad operates numerous special excursions to Western Maryland.

Mr. Watts said the B & O hopes in the near future to reschedule eastbound Train 32, the West Virginian, to offer a more convenient mid-day departure time from Oakland, and expects soon to have food service on trains 11 and 12, the Metropolitan.

He added the hope that the B & O can work closely with the promotion council to the mutual benefit of both.

Oakland is served by two westbound B & O trains, the West Virginian at 9:22 p. m. and the Metropolitan at 12:26 p. m. Eastbound trains are the West Virginian at 3:45 a. m. and the Metropolitan at 6:26 p. m.

Sanders-Schlossnagle Nuptials Held March 3 At Accident

Wedding vows were exchanged March 3 by Miss Linda Sue Schlossnagle and Dennis Lawrence Sanders.

Rev. J. Rogers Fike performed the double ring service before an altar decorated with palms, ferns, baskets of white gladioli and lighted tapers, in the Bear Creek Church of the Brethren, Accident.

Organist, Mrs. Lucille Sines, Friendsville, played the traditional wedding music and accompanied soloists Earl Clark, Oakland who sang "O Promise Me" and "Whither Thou Goest" prior to the ceremony and Mrs. Donald Grove, aunt of the bride, Waynesboro, Pa., in her rendition of "The Lord's Prayer" during the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Schlossnagle, Friendsville, are the parents of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Sanders, Oakland, are the parents of the bridegroom.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a gown with a Chantilly lace bodice styled with a scalloped neckline and long tapered sleeves. The empire crepe skirt was enhanced by a Chantilly lace chapel train, banded in crepe, which fell from shoulder bows. A bouffant veil of bridal illusion fell from a forward headdress of crystalized orange blossoms with seed pearl trim. She carried a lace covered Bible with a white orchid and streamers of lilies of the valley.

She wore small, cultured pearl earrings belonging to her mother and a cultured pearl necklace, a gift of the bridegroom.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Glenn Lane, sister of the bride, Downers Grove, Ill. Bridesmaids were Miss Carol Edwards and Miss Donna Savage both of McHenry. Miss Kimberly Sanders, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Sanders, Oakland, served as flower girl. All of the bride's attendants wore gowns styled along the line of the bride's gown. The matron of honor wore a maize chiffon and Chantilly lace over peau gown while the other attendants wore matching gowns of mint green with matching head pieces.

Best man for his brother was Donald Sanders, Pt. Marion, Pa. Ushers were Fred Sanders, brother of the bridegroom, Langley AFB, Va., and Ellis Schlossnagle, of Friendsville, brother of the bride. Assistant ushers were Glenn Lane, Downers Grove, and Glenn Schlossnagle, Accident. Ring bearer was Bradley Lane, Downers Grove, nephew of the bride.

A reception followed in the Accident Elementary School cafeteria. Mrs. Charles Whetsell and Mrs. Jerry Nemith, aunts of the bridegroom, served punch. Mrs. John Schlossnagle, Accident, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Paul Sanders, Cumberland, aunt of the bridegroom, served the cake, assisted by Mrs. Marie Coddington. Guests were registered by Mrs. Donald Sanders, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Roy Schlossnagle, sister-in-law of the bride.

For travel to York, Pa., the bride chose a coat-suit ensemble of beige and rust with beige accessories and an orchid lifted from her bouquet.

A graduate of Northern High School, the bride is employed at First National Bank in Oakland.

A graduate of Southern High School, Mr. Sanders attended Frostburg State College and served four years with the Air Force. He also is employed by the First National Bank in Oakland.

The couple will reside at Mt. Lake Park.

Out-of-county guests included Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Nemith, Miss Dottie Nemith, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Whetsell, Miss Debra Wineland, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Whetsell, Miss Linda Lee Whetsell, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sanders, all of Cumberland; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Schlossnagle and son, Stephen, Columbiana, O.; Mrs. Elizabeth Layman, Martinsburg, Pa.; Mrs. Donald Grove and sons, Timothy and Glen, Waynesboro, Pa.; Mrs. Blaine Reichenbecher, Addison, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Schlossnagle, Carlisle, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Higley and children, Joyce, Ronnie and Jerry, Shinglehouse, Pa.; and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Lane and son, Bradley, Downers Grove, Ill.

Question

Like everyone else I know, I try to take good care of my family's and my own small cuts and wounds. But will you please give me some explanation about when our doctor should be called regarding small or large wounds.

Answer

Without question, you should always contact your doctor—immediately — where serious cuts or wounds are concerned. This, of course, is vitally important if you have a wound that is spurting blood even if, for the moment, you seem to have been able to stop the bleeding. And in any case where you're not able to stop "oozing bleeding" within a period of no more than five or ten minutes, your doctor should be quickly informed. Any large cut or wound which needs cleaning or stitches should have your doctor's attention as soon as possible. Your own past experience should be a good guide, but, when in any doubt, please call—and fast—for your doctor's expert help.

Grand Jury

that grand jurors determine whether it was too big a job for one man and that an assistant be named, or whether the job was not being done properly.

Judge Hamill explained to the jurors why some cases were tried in court that never came before the jury. Persons charged with crimes which would normally call for grand jury action have the right to waive indictment and ask for an immediate trial on criminal information submitted by the State's attorney.

Other excerpts from the judge's charge:

"It needs no emphasis from me to support the proposition that law and public order are the basic conditions of satisfactory social organization, and that the criminal law is the most fundamental of all the branches of the law. Owing to the character and integrity of the men and women who have comprised its membership in the past, and the careful and conscientious performance of their duties, the Grand Jury has obtained and merited the confidence of the public so that service on the Grand Jury is regarded as a high honor".

"Recent Federal decisions have severely hampered law enforcement officials in apprehending persons suspected of a crime and seriously limited the evidence which may be produced at their trial".

"Our juvenile delinquency is at a minimum; there is no evidence whatsoever of any organized crime in Garrett County, nor are there any unsolved crimes of any import. This is the result of the competent and dedicated work on the part of the law enforcement officials".

Judge Hamill also told the jurors he had received some reports and complaints of illegal liquor sales in spite of the fact that there is now legalized liquor in the county. He asked the jurors to report on any information they may have concerning illegal sales of liquor.

He said that since he had advocated legalized sales of liquor that he felt he owed a duty to citizens, both wet and dry, and a special duty to licensees who paid $800 for a license and who abided by the law, to see that persons who are convicted of liquor or beer violations would be discouraged from any further infractions of the law.

Past Week Has Varying Weather

From last Thursday's sunny high of 39, the mercury dipped to 20 before rising all the way to 50 on Friday.

Saturday was blessed with spring-like weather, having clear skies and a high in the upper 50's. Sunday's gloomy skies marked the beginning of the end for spring weather, at least temporarily, with rain and fog-obscured skies and a high in the 40's.

Although Monday began with cloudy skies, they cleared to mostly sunny before noon. After an early morning reading of 32, the mercury climbed to 44 before beginning to drop again. Four inches of snow and sleet blew into the county on Monday night, causing some treacherous road conditions. Cumberland reported 10 inches of snow, and much snarled traffic, with schools closed for the day. A 34-degree high managed to turn the snowflakes into raindrops, but an overnight low in the teens changed it back to snow. High, gusty winds, 17-degree temperatures, and a fresh snow covering combined to make Wednesday driving dangerous on all roads. A high of 21 did nothing to help snow topped, ice coated roads. Thursday began with a temperature reading of 14 and partially cloudy skies.

pairs to ladies' quarters, recommended gas fired steam boiler with heat regulation for first and second floors, papering and painting, repairs to linoleum, wall coverings, toilet facilities.

Concerning court house: outward appearance fair, inside unclean, sidewalks in need of repair, more emphasis on snow removal. It was recommended that a general housecleaning be conducted immediately that custodian status be changed to maintenance engineer and adequate help be provided by cleaning women. Consideration was asked for combination power mower and snow blower. Complete renovation of Court House recommended for near future, and also jail and sheriff's residence.

The jurors commended Community Action program for work done and recommended that County Commissioners take advantage of the program. Painting in Judge's inner office, assessor's offices and repairs in photostat room be done.

Minor recommendations were made for county roads garages.

The jurors found the hospital clean and operating smoothly. Attention was called to need of painting in some areas, and the group found the proposed new wing to be an urgent need.

The grand jury by unanimous vote asked the commissioners to raise the salaries of the county school teachers.

A resolution for detention quarters for juveniles was made, and stricter enforcement relating to ordinance on junk yards recommended.

A final recommendation was that the grand jurors reconvene Monday, August 5 to determine what of the above recommendations had been carried out by the commissioners.

Plane Wreckage Yields Bodies Of Two Wheeling Men

Members of the Tucker County Senior Squadron, along with eight other Civil Air Patrol squadrons, helped locate the bodies of two Wheeling men, missing last Sunday when their single-engine plane crashed near Clarksburg.

Killed in the crash of the Piper Tri Pacer were Harold (Skeets) Taylor, 38, and the owner of the plane, Donald Straub, 36. Both men were veteran pilots, and were on a trip from Wheeling to Morgantown when they lost contact with the Morgantown FAA authorities.

College, Court Bills Passed By Senate

An enabling act has been passed by the both houses of the General Assembly to authorize the Board of Commissioners of Garrett County to borrow up to $350,000 and issue bonds for the construction of a community college.

Also enacted was HB398 to create a commission to study the establishment of a merit system in Garrett county.

HB594, which passed the House on March 1, has been enacted by passage in the Senate this week. This bill provides for the elimination of two non-jury terms of the Circuit Court in Garrett County. This leaves the court with only spring and fall jury terms, instead of also June and December.

All of these measures were sponsored by Del. B. O. Aiken.

Sent to the Senate were HB-1170, which would increase the Garrett County state's attorney's expense allowance to $6,000; and HB 1217, which would authorize the appointment of a Circuit Court stenographer. Both the above bills were also sponsored by Del. Aiken.

John Weber's vehicle had come to a halt behind the bus when struck in the rear and rammed into the back of the bus by the vehicle driven by Mr. Nine.

The children on the bus were not injured, nor was the bus driver. Mr. Weber may have sustained a neck injury, while Mr. Nine suffered a bump on the head.

Although damage to the bus was negligible according to police, Mr. Weber's car damage amounted to approximately $750, and Mr. Nine's car had $550 worth of damage.

Charges are pending in the case.

Students Study Eating Habits

In a recent study of student eating habits at Southern High School the participants of the Youthpower program learned that generally boys eat better than girls.

Linda Schmidt and Dianna Fitzwater completed the survey to find just how many high school students eat a good breakfast. From the results of the survey the following conclusions were drawn:

Only 45 percent of the girls eat breakfast while 69 percent of the boys head for the breakfast table every morning.

Boys eat a better balanced breakfast while most girls confined their meals to bread and cereal.

Very few students seemed to remember anything about the study of nutrition.

Students who eat breakfast regularly seem to be the more active ones in school and community activities.

Seventh grade students eat much better than twelfth graders do. The older students get, the worse their eating habits become.

The girls have sponsored several activities to promote better eating habits. They gave a food and fun sled riding party at Linda Schmidt's home with twelve attending.

At the last regular meeting of the North Glade 4-H Club they presented a program entitled "Food, You Can't Live Without It".

They have set up show case displays in the Southern gym lobby, library, and in the Vo-Ag library. A large display was assembled in the main lobby featuring the "Eatels" and emphasizing importance of food.

A recent radio program, the importance of food, gave some of the results of the survey, and explained the Youthpower Program.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving remembrance of our dear daughter and sister, Sarah Ellen Glotfelty, who departed this life fifteen years ago, March 15, 1953.

Death came to our loved one,
And took the soul away
As softly as the setting sun
Removes the light of day.
And now the soul reposes
Far beyond the sun's domain
In a land that knows no sorrow,
In a house that knows no pain.

Sun Letter To The Editor Ribs Delegate Aiken

Among the letters to the editor of the Baltimore Sun on March 19 appeared the following, in reference to an article which had previously appeared in that newspaper and also in The Republican.

"Sir: Three cheers for Delegate Aiken. It is certainly refreshing to learn that we have a legislator with the forethought and intelligence to read a bill and then make a decision upon the flip of a coin. After all, the State does not need $700,000, and we wouldn't want Delegate Aiken's wife to be angry with him, would we.

"Is this State being run by flips of coins? Is this the reason that funds are lacking for proper education facilities? I suggest that Delegate Aiken frame that particular coin of the realm used in his great deliberation and that the State then place this work of art in the Baltimore Museum of Art and title it 'Shame'".

Carl H. Ezersky, Baltimore

In an editorial in the Sunday Sun, Baltimore, the toss of a coin was further discussed. The editorial said:

"The bill to extend the life of slot machines appears dead, but the gambling spirit is very much alive in Annapolis' legislative halls. As a crucial moment in a recent debate in the House Ways and Means committee, Delegate Benjamin O. Aiken of Garrett County was in a position to cast the tie-breaking vote on a bill to end the sales tax exemption on soap powders and detergents.

"The trouble was that Mr. Aiken just couldn't make up his mind how he felt about it. The only fair thing to do, it seemed to him, was to flip a coin. He flipped it. It came down tails. He voted "no". Thus the state is left with no chance to collect some $700,000 in revenue it might have otherwise had. This may not be a mapor matter, but it is important that the public not get the idea that more important issues are decided this way. And we are almost certain that they aren't. Aren't we?"

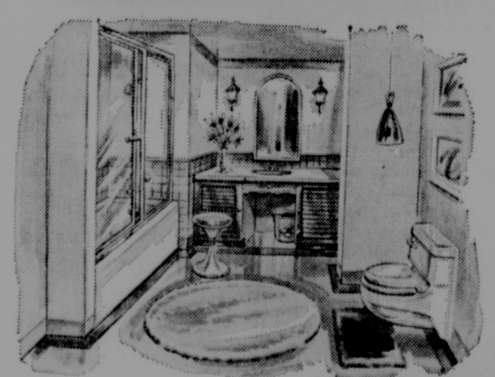
YOU, THERE!

ARE YOU ONE OF THE MILLIONS WHO TAKE HOT WATER FOR GRANTED?

Good.

Nowadays, people really should take their hot water for granted. And the millions who rely on dependable, economical Gas water heaters do. That's because a modern, family-rated Gas water heater delivers all the hot water a modern family needs. And it does it at a fraction of the cost of heating water electrically.



If all you want from a water heater is hot water—as much as you need, when you need it, and for the least amount of money—insist on a Gas water heater.

And then forget it.

Northern Wins

He was also the game's top scorer with 23 points on nine field goals and five of 11 from the line. Dane Umbel and Goehringer tied for runner-up honors with 13 each.

Cole led the Williamsport attack with 14 points and also finished second to Reichenbecher with rebounds picking off a dozen. That's why the loss was so keenly felt when the Wildcats needed him the most.

Larry Cross and Bill Malott each had 12 points for Williamsport which finished the season with a 12-11 record. A near-capacity crowd at North Hagerstown high saw the College Park bound Huskies shoot 40 percent from the floor, 23 for 57. Williamsport had a 37 percent night, 20 for 54.

Pat Wolfe, whose Huskies rolled to their 18th victory in 21 games, best record in the school's history, said he thought Northern's board strength made the difference. "We have a real fine team but Williamsport made us play its game and that hurt us".

Reichenbecher had Northern's first nine points of the game, the Huskies gettting off to an early lead and riding the top almost the entire first half. The score was tied at 9-9 with 2:45 to go in the first period when Reichenbecher dropped in a free throw with 53 seconds to go. The Huskies then froze the ball for the final shot. Terry Goehringer hit on a field goal at the buzzer, giving Northern a 12-9 lead.

Cole and Doug Holland combined to shoot Williamsport on top 16 to 15 midway in the second quarter but the Huskies came back to take a 24-19 lead into the dressing room at halftime.

With two minutes to go in the third quarter Williamsport got the lead for the first time in the second half on a Cole field goal to make it 36-34. The Wildcats also had the advantage 39 to 38 when that period ended. The stage was then set for Northern's strong finish.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Kathy and Kevin celebrate St. Patrick's Day . . . Kathy wears her green plaid dress, and Kevin his sweater with the emerald stripe. The hats are those we brought home from last night's party!

They don't really know what the day is all about. But they heard Dan singing in the shower, "the wearin' o' the green," and saw the color of the tie he placed on the door knob.

They don't miss a thing! That old saying that actions speak louder than words is certainly true around our children. They are regular little copycats.

That's why Dan and I make it a habit to go to church every Sunday with them. We want God and His Church to be a real part of their lives, not just something they have heard about.

Give your children a chance to know God. Go to church and take them with you.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

THE PRESENCE

Lesson for March 17, 1968

Background Scripture: John 14.
Devotional Reading: John 16:7-15.

BIRD-IN-HAND is the name of a quaint little Pennsylvania Dutch (German) town not far from where this writer lives. The name of the town is a reminder of the old proverb: "A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush."

Rev. Althouse

It is a kind of common-sense philosophy and quite descriptive of the dynamics of much human nature: a person will rarely give up something good for the promise of something better. This is why the settlers always outnumber the explorers. "I'll stick with what I've got" is the theme song of the majority of people.

Someone Else?

We can imagine, then, the feelings of Jesus' disciples on what proved to be his last night before Calvary. They had taken, it had seemed, a tremendous risk in leaving behind their homes, their families, their vocations, and their security when they answered his call to "Follow me!" And now he was saying that he would soon leave them! Someone else was going to be sent to take his place.

In their three exciting years together, they had become dependent upon him. Even that evening they had unintentionally demonstrated once again that they were not ready to "go it alone." Nevertheless, said Jesus: "the Father will give you another Counselor" (John 14:16).

He had to help them understand that it was really best that he go from them. For one thing, his going would be part of fulfilling the Father's will, completing the mission he had been given. Furthermore, the "Counselor" who would be sent in his place would be able to do even more than Jesus had been able to accomplish during the past three years. The Counselor "will teach you all things" and "be with you for ever" (John 14).

The Different Way

The promise sounded fine, but it was still Jesus whom they wanted, not someone else: a Messiah in the hand was worth two Counselors to come. But they had not understood: when the "Counselor" came, they would not lose Jesus; instead they would have him more surely than ever before. He would be with them in a different way now, no longer in the body, but as Spirit. Repeatedly he assured them: "I will not leave you desolate; I will come to you . . . but you will see me . . . In that day you will know that I am in my Father, and you in me, . . . and I in you . . . and I will love him and manifest myself to him . . . " (John 14:18-21 RSV).

Now there would be no limitations on his presence. In his earthly body he had been limited in time and space: he could be at only one place at a time. But now he would no longer be limited as a man is. Now he would be available to all who believe in him and are receptive to his spirit. Thus, as he was later to put it: "It is to your advantage that I go away, for if I do not go away, the Counselor will not come to you" (John 16:7 RSV).

Our Advantage

It is common for many of us to wistfully wish that we could share with the disciples their privilege of knowing Jesus in the flesh. We may feel disadvantaged by comparison. Our eyes never behold him, our ears never hear his voice, our bodies never feel the healing touch of his corporeal hand — we think! How much easier it would be to believe with all one's heart, to live triumphantly and serve him faithfully — it seems!

Yet it was Jesus himself who said: "Blessed are those who have not seen and yet believe" (John 20:29 RSV). This may seem strange to us and hard to understand, but those today who experience the presence of Christ in the Holy Spirit have a relationship no less vital than that which was the privilege of his first followers.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my son, Danny, who was killed March 16, 1967, USMC, at Ka-Son air base, Vietnam.

Remembrance is a golden chain
Death tries to break, but all in vain.
To have, to lose and so tragically part,
Is the greatest sorrow of my heart,
But in memory you are with me,
Comforting me when I have no tomorrow.
Tho your smiles no longer brighten,
And your face I can not see,
I will never lose the memories of a son so dear to me.
I often read your letters, look at your pictures, and it seems to say
Don't grieve for me Mom,
We shall meet again some day.

PEOPLE HAD BOILS IN BIBLICAL TIMES

They are often mentioned in the Bible. A boil's redness, swelling, local "hotness," and great tenderness as a fluid-filled core develops, gives a picture of a typical infection. Boils are usually caused by a staphlococci variety of bacteria which remains confined to the area of their entry.

It is called a boil when on the skin's surface, an abscess when it involves deep tissues. A carbuncle is a cluster of boils and a felon is a special type of boil affecting the thick tissues of the pad of a fingertip. Never squeeze a boil or a pimple. This spreads the infection. Diabetics, or patients with vascular disease, hardening of arteries or Buerger's disease require immediate medical attention.

Points Ont Dangers In Kite Flying

With the advent of spring-like weather and blustery winds comes kite flying season. There are many hidden dangers, which the Monongahela Power Company points out.

Thousands of posters have been distributed to persons, schools and public places throughout the electric company's service area with suggestions for safe kite flying practices. Persons are reminded that when kite flying they should; Use dry string, wood and paper, not wire or metal; Fly kites on days when there is no rain; avoid busy streets and highways; fly kites away from television and radio aerials and electric or power lines; keep away from fallen utility wires; call local power company office if a kite gets snagged in a power line. Do NOT pull the string or climb utility poles.

The body was taken to the Minnich Funeral Home in Oakland. Services were conducted Tuesday at 10 a. m. from the funeral home, and interment was in Garrett County Memorial Gardens.

CHARLES CALVIN MENHORN

Charles Calvin Menhorn, aged 72, native of Oakland, died last Friday, March 8, at his home in Baltimore, following a serious illness of some two weeks.

Deceased was born in Oakland, a son of the late John and Minnie Crim Menhorn and resided in this area until the late 30s or early 40s when he moved to Baltimore. He was employed in the meat department of a super market in that city for over fourteen years. While residing in Oakland he operated various businesses, managing a pool room, a bowling alley and at one time a restaurant.

He is survived by his wife, Naomi E. Deems Menhorn; a daughter Mrs. Joanne L. Schlueter; a sister, Mrs. Margaret Sampson, Stamford, Conn; a brother, William Menhorn, Akron, Ohio; and two grandchildren, Karen and Kathy Schlueter.

Potomac May Be Designated As A "National River"

Designation of the Potomac as a "National River" was proposed Friday, March 8 in an administration master plan to create a green ribbon of park and recreation land winding 195 miles from Washington, D. C., to Cumberland.

The plan calls for public ownership of scenic areas on both banks of the river and its islands totaling 67,000 acres.

Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall envisaged the cost of land acquisition at $65.5 million over 10 years and a need to spend $77.6 million to complete developments of what he termed "a remarkable remaining opportunity to preserve a river as a national scenic resource".

The federal government already owns or controls about 10,000 acres in the proposed park system. About 41,000 acres of private land would have to be purchased, but Udall stressed the probability that a substantial portion could be retained by present owners for residence or for farming, either as lifetenants or other arrangements. The 15,000 water acres within the plan would remain under existing state jurisdictions, it was stated.

FFBL Has 52 Families Enrolled

Fifty-two families have already enrolled in the 1968 Farming For Better Living program, according to L. Bush Swisher, of Morgantown, W. Va., FFBL project director. An enrollment goal of 85 or more families was set by the group at the dinner meeting last Wednesday.

A committee composed of Chairman Earl Clark, Secretary James McHenry and former farmer winner, Charles W. Mason, are preparing a list of names of likely families, interested in entering the contest, and these families will be visited by council members.

While only one family is named a winner each year, each family that enters is a guest at the annual county dinner and is awarded merchandise.

Mr. Clark, who was named chairman last week, is loan officer for the First National Bank of Oakland. He succeeded Maurice Brookhart, Garrett National Bank vice-president, who headed the organization the past two years and who was the first chairman of the group when it was organized in the county 21 years ago.

Richard Stanton, a fellow bank employe, was elected vice-chairman. Re-elected were James A. McHenry, extension agent, as secretary; and Nordeck Shaffer, of the Garrett National Bank, treasurer.

The days continue to increase in length so that next Thursday, there will be seventeen minutes more daylight than there will be tomorrow. The sun will rise ten minutes earlier at 6:20 a. m. and set six minutes later at 6:31 p. m.

The moon was full today at 1:53 p. m. and will be waning during this week. It will be at perigee, the closest it gets to the earth on Saturday at 9:00 p. m. The distance to the moon at that time will be 225,800 miles.

We continue to see Jupiter and Mars in the evening sky. Jupiter will be higher in the eastern sky, and earlier in the evening this week. Mars is moving eastward through the constellation, Pisces, toward Aries. Mars sets about two hours after sunset. Saturn will, by this week, be close to the sun as we look at it from our position on earth. It will not be visible as its light will be lost in the greater light of the sun.

The planet Vensus is visible as the brighest object above the eastern horizon before sunrise. It rises about an hour before the sun.

This week we find Mrs. Athey's Junior High School classes in the planetarium studying some of the reasons for climate differences on the earth. Mr. Slagle's ninth grade classes will be studying about Galaxies including earth's Milky Way. Tonight the Northern PTA will visit the planetarium for an orientation demonstration of the instrument.

Last week an article in this paper asked for information about a fireball that might have been seen over Garrett County on Sunday, March 3, at 9:45 p. m. Since there seems to be a great interest in fireballs, here is some information about them.

Fireballs are exceptionally bright meteors. They are also called bolides. Some fireballs are bright enough to be seen in broad daylight and occasionally they explode in mid-air. This phenomenon has been recorded by man since very ancient times. The Book of Joshua and records of the ancient Chinese have references about them.

An ordinary meteor is seen when a small particle enters the earth's atmosphere from interplanetary space. These particles moving at very high speeds vaporize as they pass through the air. This occurs because of the intense heat generated by friction, as the particle rubs against the air. This same thing occurs when a space vehicle re-enters the atmosphere. That is why space vehicles carry heat shields which prevent their vaporization. Meteors usually fade away after a few seconds and are not extremely bright. They are more commonly known as "shooting stars".

They Remodeled . . . And Went TOTAL ELECTRIC Their Monthly Electric Bill: $24

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Boggs remodeled their Sutton home in 1964 and in the process installed electric heat. Their total electric bills in 1967 averaged out to $24 a month . . . and that was for ALL electricity used in their seven-room house.

Besides their baseboard heating system they have most of the modern electric appliances—range, washer, dryer, water heater, garbage disposer, No-Frost refrigerator, etc.

Mr. and Mrs. Boggs are retired—he from the B & O Railroad and Mrs. Boggs from the Ben Franklin Company. That doesn't mean they're alone! Five grandchildren keep the place humming, and Mrs. Boggs will testify that their 40-gallon electric water heater has never failed to meet the demands.

The feature of electric heating she likes most is the cleanliness. "Just not having to dust everyday is reason enough to have electric heat," she says. And as for the cost: "We are completely satisfied."

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Boggs remodeled their home in Sutton in 1964 and went Total-Electric. They are quite enthusiastic about the heating system. The Boggs agree, "With electric heat, the entire house is warm and comfortable."

The Boggs home: proof again that older homes can easily be adapted to modern convenience.

Pick a John Deere 54 h.p. 2020 to hustle seedbed preparation, get this bonus...

Power and power outlets to hustle fully equipped planters—2- and 4-row

You can turn a lot of ground per day plowing 4 furrows or disking an 11-foot swath per pass at a steady 4-½ to 5 mph. That's par for a "2020." The news is just as good when it's planting time. "Floating" control, through cylinder or hitch, makes for constant planting depth over all terrain. And the "2020's" Power-on-Demand hydraulics lets you raise and lower fully loaded, fully equipped planters effortlessly, positively. The 8-speed transmission puts the exact planting speed you like at your fingertips. The proof is in the driving... be our guest for a field test. Credit available.

Veterenarians Are Briefed on Types Of Animal Diseases

Dr. F. D. Custer, veterinarian, is in College Park today attending a meeting at the University of Maryland which is a briefing for all state and federal veterinarians on subjects of foot and mouth disease, African swine fever and African horse sickness.

None of these diseases is in North America at this time, Dr. Custer said, but veterinarians were alerted by the recent outbreak of foot and mouth disease in England, termed the worst in the 20th century.

African horse sickness spread to Spain in 1967 and African swine fever, similar to hog cholera, first appearing in Europe in 1950s, spread to Italy in 1967. Dr. Custer said it was considered the most dangerous of swine diseases.

Maryland Livestock Sanitary Service officials are particularly concerned about the diseases being introduced into U. S. livestock through two international airports and the port of Baltimore. All three diseases can be carried in un-cooked animal tissues and also can be carried on clothing of farm people.

THE REPUBLICAN

VOLUME 92. OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD., MARCH 21, 1968 PER COPY 10c NUMBER 3.

Reasonable Offer . . .

The County Commissioners made a reasonable offer to the county teachers on Tuesday. This appeared to be the consensus of a number of private citizens early yesterday and also is the feeling of The Republican. The offer was made in good faith after calculating carefully the amount of money that would be involved and the additional burden that is being placed upon the county next fiscal year by the State Department of Education in requiring additional funds to be provided to maintain the county's minimum total for schools.

The offer meant a ten percent increase in salaries for all teachers, and requires an appropriation of $175,-000. Had they fully acceded to the demands of the teachers it would have meant double that amount and for some of the teachers with advanced degrees it would have meant an increase in salary of over 22 percent.

Already, as a result of this apparent "whole hog or none" attitude of the teachers, support for them has lost its momentum and appearing in the offing is a definite backlash, particularly from parents, and rightly so. This refusal of teachers to accept the offer leaves an open door to parent retaliation.

As of Wednesday teachers announced all extra-curricular activities would cease, meaning no PTA meetings, no school plays, no athletics, no junior-senior activities, no sermon night, no graduation exercises, no band or choral music events, no middle states evaluation

Easton Trims Huskies 90-70 In Semi Final

Northern Leads For Most Of First Half But Falters In Final Period

Northern High school, hoping for victory which seemed imminent in the 1st. half, was stymied by tight Easton High School defensive play in the second half and the Huskies dropped a 90 to 70 decision to the Warriors from Talbot county in the Maryland State class B tournament semi-final game Friday evening at the Cole field house at College Park.

Easton earned the right to battle it out with Lackey High school of Indian Head Saturday evening for state honors and won easily 75 to 62 for the state class B title.

Northern, with Gary Reichenbecher and Gary Umbel sparking the way, held a 25-17 lead midway through the second period and was outplaying the undefeated Easton team in every department.

With five minutes remaining in the first half, however, the Warriors caught fire and scored seven straight points, six of them by 6-1 Rocky Ainsworth.

Northern clung to a one to three point lead until, with 1:35 left at the half Larry Hayman netted a long jumper to put Easton in the lead at 30-29, never again to be headed.

During the third period Northern crept to within six points at 47-41 but Easton instituted a full court press which stymied the Huskies' comeback effort.

Easton led 69 to 50 after three periods of play and the Warriors' 25-point lead of 77 to 52 early in the final quarter was its widest margin.

The Huskies, guilty of 27 turnovers, to 12 for the Eastern Shore team, grabbed a total of

Changes Noted In Liquor Bill

Several amendments and changes were noted in House bill 795, concerning liquor legislation, according to B. O. Aiken, delegate.

The change in the license fee from $800 to $1,500, was a mistake, Aiken said, and has been eliminated from the bill which passed the House of Delegates on Friday and is now in the state senate.

The bill provides a closing time of 1 a. m. The bill does not make provision to take out any bottled goods except beer. The bill continues to keep minors from the premises where liquor is sold.

The board of license commissioners would be authorized to maintain a reserve fund of $100,-000 instead of $50,000.

A paragraph in the bill would raise the salary of members of the liquor board from $1,200 to $1,800. Members would be expected to pay regular visits to all persons holding a liquor license.

The legislature is scheduled to adjourn on March 26.

State Youthpower Winners Include Two County Girls

Linda Schmidt and Dianna Fitzwater were chosen as two of five state Youthpower winners at Annapolis on March 16. The two Southern High School seniors will now travel to Chicago on March 27-30 for the national judging of their Youthpower project.

The two girls had worked as a team on their project, "Food for Youthpower", and had kept a notebook record of their efforts to promote good eating habits. In addition to making posters, the girls had sponsored various activities and a party.

Miss Schmidt is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Schmidt, Swanton; Miss Fitzwater is the daughter of James Fitzwater, North Glade. Both girls are active in school affairs.

Mrs. B. O. Aiken, District director of the Maryland Bureau associated women, which sponsors the Youthpower project, accompanied the two on their Annapolis trip. While in the state capital, the group took a walking tour of Annapolis, visiting such historic spots as the Naval Academy, the State House, and other government buildings.

Other state winners were chosen from Frederick, Montgomery, and Somerset counties. Past state Youthpower winners have been Bonnie Buckel, Larry Buckel, Joanny Jones, Connie Crowe, and Carolyn DeBerry.

Evaluation For Southern High Will Be Made

Seek To Retain Accreditation Among Secondary Schools

Preparations are complete for the evaluation of Southern High School by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, it was announced by Robert F. Rodeheaver, principal. Committee members from the association will be working in the school from March 27 to 29.

To be an accredited member of the association, each member school must be evaluated every ten years using evaluative criteria set up by the National Study of Secondary School Evaluation. For the past year the members of Southern's staff have been working toward a successful evaluation.

Members of the faculty have evaluated the teaching, materials, course of study, and physical facilities of each subject area. Complete studies of areas of general information were made by nine committees. These included philosophy and objectives, school and community, program of studies, health services, school plant, student activity program, instructional materials services, guidance, and school staff and administration.

When the twenty-five members of the visiting committee arrive in Garrett County, March 26, they will be given a folio of pertinent information concerning Southern High School. In the folio will be a letter of welcome, a schedule for them to follow, and a book of information to be used in their work of evaluation. In the book will be listed names of the committee members of the self-evaluation, administrative and staff members, the school philosophy and objectives, and the school and community report. Other information to be used by the committee will include names of the officers of the student council, classes, and the PTA. Complete schedules of classes and a program of studies will be in the folio.

On Friday afternoon March 29 an oral report will be given by the visiting committee to the faculty, administration, members of the board of education, and the executive committee of the PTA.

Skidmore is charged with the rape of his 17-year-old daughter on March 17 at Mill Run, near Barton. State's attorney Fred A. Thayer submitted as evidence a copy of the statement taken at the Keyser jail at the Tuesday hearing. Called as witness was Tfc. Bernard Chabot, who, along with Tfc. Joseph V. The Garrett County Unit of the American Cancer Society has organized its 1968 community Crusade, according to Dr. William Savage, president, who announced the appointment of Mrs. Vernon Reichenbecher and Mrs. Thomas Staup as co-directors of the Crusade.

The 1968 Crusade against cancer will consist of an intensive community educational program and the gathering of funds for the American Cancer Society's on-going program of research, public education, and patient services, Dr. Savage said. April was designated as Cancer control month by a recent meeting of the Board of Directors for the Garrett County Unit. Dozens of volunteers will penetrate the area to distribute information on cancer control and receive contributions.

Commissioners Reverse Vote On Community Action

A proposal that the Community Action Program operate as a separate agency and that the County Commissioners dissolve itself of any future obligation beyond August 31, which was passed by a two to one vote, at a previous County Commissioners' meeting, was nullified by action of the Commissioners at a public hearing on March 13.

At that time Allen S. Paugh, commissioner, presented a motion "that the County Commissioners designate the Garrett County Community Action Agency to continue operation in its present status as a private-non-profit corporation, working with all agencies and individuals concerned with the needs of the county, and that the County will support this agency in the amount of 20 percent of its total budget either in cash or in kind, for the fiscal year 1968-1969. The motion was seconded by Hubert Friend, commissioner, which made it effective.

John Ross Sines in failing to approve the new motion, declared that "this Board unanimously agreed on March 4 to a motion designating Community Action as a separate agency", and would not change his mind.

It was brought out that actual cash allowances from the County Commissioners during the past year were $7,904.24, or 1.3 per cent of the total budget in cash.

According to a report from the CAA on the meeting, all 150 persons present were in agreement on the worth of the program, and had urged the County Commissioners to reconsider their resolution to disassociate themselves from the CAA.

Spring Is Sprung, In Theory, At Least

It has been a week of gradually warming temperatures and quickly climbing hopes that spring is here, both theoretically and in fact.

Last Thursday's partly clouded skies huddled over 14 degree temperatures in the morning, although a high in the 30's was reached. The following day began with 33 degrees, and registered a high of 51. Partly clouded skies were seen most of the day, although the clouds dispersed around 2 p. m.

Saturday was rainy and chilly, while Sunday was completely opposite, having sunny skies and a high of 49. Monday did even better weather-wise, having sunny skies and a high of 56.

Tuesday and Wednesday, both marred by some cloud cover, had identical highs of 72 degrees. Wednesday, the day of the spring equinox, marked the beginning of the theoretical spring, season, and, true to form, brought light spring rain throughout the night and also on Thursday morning. The Thursday 8 a. m. temperature reading stood at 49 degrees.

Teachers Reject Commissioners' Salary Offer

Call For Suspension Of Extra-Curricular Activities In Schools

The Garrett County Teachers' association on Tuesday night rejected a salary proposal by the Garrett County Board of Commissioners that would have provided from $500 to $800 raise for all teachers and also voted to suspend all extra-curricular activities beginning March 20.

Over 200 of the 227 teachers in the county met at Northern High school to vote on three measures, according to Lawrence Myers, president of GCTA.

Mr. Myers said the teacher association voted overwhelmingly to take the following actions:

That they could not in good conscience accept the salary proposal presented by the Commissioners;

That effective at 8:30 Wednesday all extra-curricular activities before 8:30 and after 4 o'clock would cease;

That sanctions, if requested by the association, would not become effective until after May 1; and that negotiations by the salary committee would continue.

All services for the safety of the students, especially in the area of transportation would be provided by the teachers, it was stated.

The county commissioners on Tuesday night had offered the teachers a salary of $5,800 to $8,100 in 12 years and from $6,-800 to $8,800 in 12 years for advanced degrees.

The teacher group had asked for $5,700 to $8,960 in 13 years and for $7,000 to $9,800 in 14 years for the advanced degrees. Teachers in the county presently receive the state minimum of $5,100 to $7,400 and $6,000 to $8,000 for the advanced degrees.

Mr. Myers, in explaining the teacher vote, said the commissioner proposal placed a premium on inexperience.

Robert Dexter of the Maryland State Teachers association and another staff member attended Tuesday night's meeting.

The letter from the commissioners was signed by John Ross Sines, president, and announced that the board would supplement teacher salaries for the year 1968-69 to the extent of a total of $175,000. He explained this amount would mean approximately $760.87 across the board increase, based on 230 teachers.

He suggested that it be divid-

Editorial Comment Continues On Aiken

Delegate B. O. Aiken of Accident, continues to get editorial comment on his action in tossing the coin to make a decision on how he would vote in a Ways and Means committee hearing. This one is from the University of Maryland student newspaper, "The Diamondback", It was sent to this office by a Garrett county student at the university. It reads:

Tale of the two-sided coin

State legislatures have often been held up to public ridicule —for their general ineffectiveness, provincial outlook and antiquated procedures. Maryland's General Assembly fit into that groove until last year when reapportionment and a new breed of legislators brought the state into the 20th century.

But the action Monday of Garrett County delegate Benjamin O. Aiken has again cast the legislature as a collection of self-seeking men playing at government.

Aiken, a member of the House Ways and Means Committee, was called upon to break a 12-12 deadlock on whether to end the sales tax exemption on soaps and detergents. If the tax were reinstituted, the state would have benefited by $700,000.

However, Aiken, the dedicated public servant that he is, announced that the extra money would be useful but "my wife would certainly be mad at me for supporting something which would raise the price of soap".

So, he flipped a coin. The coin came up tails and he voted against the extra revenue.

As sad as that behavior was, what made Aiken's action more reprehensible was the probability that, had the bill passed, the $700,000 would have gone to increase faculty salaries at the University.

We wonder if Aiken would mind very much if his Garrett County constitutents flipped a coin the next time they want to decide on whom to send to Annapolis. Perhaps they should go into the voting booth with a two-tailed coin.

Your Federal Income Tax

The Republican, in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service, Baltimore District, will publish each week in this column, tax information that will enable taxpayers to become more familiar with the Federal income tax laws.

Questions And Answers

Q. I've never filed an estimated tax before. How can I tell for sure what my income is going to be this year?

A. One method of estimating your 1968 tax is to use the income and expense figures appearing on your 1967 return. If your income or expenses change during the year, you can amend your declaration when quarterly payments are due in June, September and January.

Remember, too, that an estimate is just that. As long as your payments are made on time and total at least 80 percent of your final 1968 tax liability, you will not be penalized.

Q. I want to deduct my medical insurance premiums but can't find the place to do this on the tax form, Where do they go?

A. Enter your medical insurance premiums on Page 2 of Form 1040. Use the first and fifth lines of Part IV, Itemized Deductions.

The premiums can't be deducted on Form 1040A. That form can only be used by taxpayers who don't itemize deductions.

Q. Is income from a scholarship deductible?

A. Scholarships and fellowship grants are tax free within certain limitations. For more details, Document No. 5575, "Scholarships and Fellowships", may be from your local IRS office.

General tax information for students is contained in the new publication, "Tax information for Students and Parents", Document No. 5972. Both are free.

Q. I'm in a car pool and drive over 40 miles to work and back. Can we take a 10c a mile deduction for business travel?

A. No. Tax law considers commuting to work a personal expense and therefore no deduction is allowed. A deduction is allowed, however, for state and local gas taxes if you itemize. This is explained on Page 9 of the 1040 instructions.

Q. I have a pension from my company as well as Social Security benefits. I know Social Security is not taxable but how about the company pension?

A. If the company paid the entire cost of the pension, the amounts you receive will be fully taxable. If you paid part of the cost, only a portion of your pension benefits will be taxed.

If you will recover the total amount of your contributions within three years after you receive the first payment, your pension will not be taxed until you have recovered your cost. If you will not recover the amount of your contributions within the three years, a portion of the pension will be taxable each year.

Additional information on this subject may be found in IRS Document No. 5018, "Retirement Income and Credit". This document can be obtained at your local IRS office.

Q. My father, who qualifies as my dependent, is over 65. Is it true that I can't deduct the doctor's bills I pay for him anymore.

A. No. The medical expenses you paid last year for your father are deductible but they are now subject to the 3 percent limitation.

Another change in medical deductions is the new provision on medical insurance premiums. You may now deduct one-half of the premiums paid for medical insurance up to $150 without regard to the 3 percent rule.

Even if your total medical expenses including those you pay for your father are less than 3 percent of your income, you may still deduct half of your medical insurance premiums up to $150.

Q. I take a payroll deduction for savings bonds and put them in my child's name. Who has to pay the tax when they are cashed in?

A. It depends on how the bonds are registered. If the child is listed as co-owner on the bond, the purchaser is liable for tax on the interest. If the child is sole owner with the parent as beneficiary, the child assumes tax liability.

Q. If I send in my return now how long will it take to get my refund?

A. For returns that are complete and accurate, refund checks can be issued five or six weeks after the return is filed. Be sure to send your return to the regional service center in the envelope provided in the 1040 package for fast action on your refund.

Q. We bought quite a few big things for our house last year. Can we add the sales tax we paid on them to the amount listed in the sales tax tables?

A. No, only sales tax paid on the purchase of a car may be added to an amount listed on the sales tax table. If you believe you are entitled to a larger sales tax deduction than the tables allow, deduct the amount you have the records to substantiate.

A. Yes, you can.

Q. I have been buying shares of stock for some years on a monthly investment plan. How do I figure the cost of the shares if I sell some?

A. When no other price identification can be made, consider the shares you sold to be the ones you acquired earliest.

Q. Can my wife and I file a joint return this year if it is to our advantage even though we've filed separately in the past?

Question

This may easily seem like a superfluous question to you, but when and how should old prescriptions be thrown away?

Answer

Your question is far from being the superfluous one you feel it might be because the discarding of your old prescriptions is nothing to be taken lightly. Over varying periods of time, drugs do lose their strength and should be discarded. A change in color, any sign of mold or sediment usually means that a liquid medication has deteriorated and should be discarded. Ointments can be considered potent for at least six months while tablets and capsules will normally remain potent for a year or more. When you're discarding your prescriptions, please make certain no child will ever be able to "find them." In fact, it's a good idea to flush away your used prescriptions in order to be certain they have been fully destroyed.

ed as follows: non-degree provisional, $500 increase; degree provisional, $600; standard professional, $700, and advance professional $800. He stressed it was only a suggestion and that the final decision would be left up to the teachers.

Mr. Sines further explained that to provide the additional revenue that would be required for the $175,000 increase that the Board would be forced to increase the amount of surtax on income tax returns in the county from the minimum of 20 percent to approximately 50 percent, the maximum. He said this increase would provide only for about half of the amount required and that the remainder would have to come from other sources of revenue.

An increase of one cent on the tax rate would provide about $7,000, with the amount costing 23 to 24 cents on the tax rate, if the entire amount came from the county levy. The cost to the taxpayers would be double that amount or some 48 cents on the tax rate, if the demands of the teachers had been met fully, it was stated. The county rate at present is $2.25 per $100 of assessable property, a drop of 55 cents over the previous year. Assessments within the past year have been increased.

Reasonable Offer . . .

activities, and others.

The position of the teacher at present, is protected by tenure. After teaching for two years, it is impossible to unload him or her for any reason other than insubordination, even if he is incompetent. Should a teacher strike, that should end his tenure. Perhaps they ought then go on some kind of a merit system. In that way the board of education would be able to eliminate some of the "dead wood" a few of whom at present, are not even earning the amount now being paid.

In our opinion the school board should not hesitate any longer to seek an injunction to prevent any striking by teachers.

There is an apparent lack of citizenship and dedication somewhere along the line and in addition to a loss of respect for the teaching profession, by many parents, there is the added effect on the seniors. They are the ones paying the price. After twelve years of schooling and looking forward to senior activities and graduation they are now about to be denied these experiences.

The more mature and more professional way to have responded to the offer, in the thinking of many, would have been to accept, and then if necessary, plan further negotiations for future years. At it is, many people are turning to the way in which the county farm bureau acted. The Farm Bureau favored the raise for teachers up to the time that a reasonable offer was made by the Commissioners or until the time of a teacher strike. The reasonable offer was made, and rejected, with the threat of a strike still to come. We think the action of the teachers is regrettable.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir:

The "slaughter of the innocents" has begun as our children are caught in the cross fire of the teacher-commissioner dispute, and they are now being deprived of the extra-curricular activities that by tradition children should enjoy. Despite the offer by the commissioners, teachers seem prepared to sacrifice every child in order to gain their demands.

As a parent, I bitterly resent having my children thrust in the middle of this mess. I propose that parents step in where teachers step out, particularly in extra-curricular activities.

Superintendent Hawkins tells me that he personally feels that parents could take over the prom, plays, and any other extra activity they choose to sponsor. Arrangements for the use of the schools would be left in the hands of the principals.

I am convinced that parents, in defense of their young can be far more vocal and infinitely more militant than teachers, principals, or commissioners ever dreamed possible.

Very truly yours,
Robert B. Sincell

were to be delivered to the Board of Public Works this week. When finally approved by this board, architectural work on the building can begin. He hoped to have the building under contract by late fall.

Other business items approved included:

Authorization to renew lease for St. Peter's school building in amount of $3,250 to be used for kindergarten purposes;

Approval to establish kindergarten class at route 40 school, beginning in September, provided there are not fewer than 20 enrolled; to operate on a day long basis, half time under state program and half time under Title I with transportation on regular school buses;

Approval of plans to relocate the two-room pre-fab building at Dennett Road to Swan Meadow during summer with additional teacher to be provided at Swan Meadow;

Approval to prepare a small budget to help get the junior college underway and ready to open September, 1969, for submission to County Commissioners;

Delayed action on request by Kitzmiller school PTA for playground equipment until specific request for fixed amount was received.

Mr. Hawkins told members of the board that Morris Rannels, state supervisor of Transportation would be in the county Thursday to interview teachers being considered to replace Robert Martin, county supervisor of transportation. Such supervisors must be approved by the state superintendent of schools. The state requires that the supervisor be a teacher with at least three years experience, hold a master's degree and have six credit hours in school transportation.

Listen, Americans!

By DR. GEORGE S. BENSON
President—National Education Program
Searcy, Arkansas

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, who has been leading the fight in Congress against a boost in everybody's income tax, is motivated by a desire to halt the extravagane and dangerous growth of the Federal Government. Just before Congress convened, he came to the auditorium of our American Heritage Center in Searcy to talk "horse sense" with a large gathering of his hometown friends. After his formal address, they kept him up late with questions.

"If the growth of spending by the Federal Government continues at the present rate for the next 20 years," he said, "The Federal Budget will be nearly $700 billion!" The groan which came up from his audience was expressive, I am sure, of the feelings of all the taxpayers in America. "And, of course," said Chairman Mills, "it will have to be paid in taxes one way or another." Another groan.

About the only sure way to prevent the continuing growth of Federal Government spending, Wilbur Mills said, is for the people to insist that Congress be given the power to set a limit on the amount of money each department can spend each year. Gradually through the years, he said, this responsibility of Congress had been taken away by the President, Chairman Mills sponsored a bill in the 1967 session which would have specifically given Congress the power to establish ceilings on spending in every department of Government. It passed the House but died in the Senate. And Chairman Mills expects that the Senate, unless moved by a huge wave of citizen pressure, will continue to block the establishment of such controls.

Yet, in my opinion, such a legislative power over Federal spending, is the most important need in the life of our nation. Without it, political expediency, and not common sense and a regard for the financial stability of our nation, will control spending and it will continue to grow and grow.

As this column is written, the latest report of the "Joint Committee on Reduction of Non-Essential Federal Expenditures, Congress of the United States," has come to my desk. The Committee's name, under present circumstances, is something of a joke, although the members are sincere economy-minded members of the House and Senate. The Committee hasn't been able, ever, to actually function in "Reduction of Non-Essential Federal Expenditures." But its reports each month ought to motivate the entire American citizenry to demand immediate and stringent controls by the Congress over the expenditures.

The number of employees on the Federal payroll went up again in November, 1967. There are now 3,048,970 civilians on the payroll. This is an increase of more than 100,000 in 11 months! Salaries for these people are costing the taxpayers more than $23 billion. There are approximately 3,500,000 military personnel on the Defense Department payroll. When we add them to the army of civilian employees, this boosts the total employee payroll to more than $40 billion a year. That's $7 billion more than the entire Federal Government cost the taxpayers just 20 years ago.

If the Federal Government growth is not halted and goes on at the present rate, Chairman Mills' figure of nearly $700 billion could mean that the tax bill of every citizen would more than triple! Either that, or a continuing rise would occur in Federal deficit spending and the national debt, whose interest cost now has soared above $14 billion a year.

Real Good Effort

The Northern High Huskies achieved a great effort last week in advancing to the semi-finals in the class B basketball tournament.

They played great games against Valley High of Lonaconing and Williamsport in advancing in the tournament and for most of the first half of the game against Easton they showed their superiority in a number of ways.

They were not able to maintain the pace but continued to give a good account of themselves. Easton turned out to be the team to beat, as it easily won the tournament the following evening.

Their display of sportsmanship throughout the season seemed to be above reproach. More power to them in the coming seasons.

SINCERE THANKS

We wish to thank all our friends and relatives who gave help and comfort during the illness and death of our father. Our special gratitude is extended to our neighbors, for their concern and attention, and to those who brought their friendship to the hospital. The services rendered by the Garrett County Memorial Hospital and Dr. Mance lessened our burdens more than we can say and we are sincerely appreciative. The Funeral Director, Mr. Gerald Minnich, was most helpful. Our deep appreciation goes to Rev. Collett and the Sand Flat Assembly of God for their support and assistance.

Gives Two Proclamations

Proclamations concerning the celebration of Pythian Week and Wildlife Week in the state were released by Governor Spiro Agnew this week.

Pythian Week is being observed March 17 to 24. Wildlife Week is being observed during the same days but will continue throughout 1968 under the theme "Learn to Live with Nature".

The Knights of Pythias order was founded in 1864 to help heal the wounds and allay ill feelings generated by the Civil War. It is based on the virtues of Friendship, Charity and Benevolence. It is observing its 100th anniversary this month.

Governor Agnew, concerning wildlife, declared, "For centuries the human race has either grossly violated or completely ignored nature and its laws, believing that since nature could be subdued there was little reason to live with her. The time of reckoning is upon us. Now we find ourselves paying to clean the air we breathe and the water we drink".

Mrs. Dudley Ranney has as her guest this week her grandson, Andy Meade, of Framingham, Mass.

Mrs. Marguerite Crystal was the guest Wednesday of her cousin, Mrs. Eugene Baumgartner. Mrs. Chrystal resides in Davis, W. Va., but at present is staying with a cousin, Mrs. Randall Jones, in Terra Alta.

Lesson From A Ghetto ..

One recoils at the use of a term "ghetto" to describe any American community. The word originated in Europe to describe a sealed-off section of a city where Jews were restricted for residence. When night fell, the residents had to be inside the walls. And they were forbidden to leave it during the night. In this country it came to mean a quarter of a city in which a racial group segregated itself by choice. But no racial group in the United States was ever sealed off or segregated by law or regulation.

In modern times slovenly newsmen have adopted the term as one to identify essentially Negro areas of a city. But if one accepts this loose terminology, it is necessary to observe that another area which is occupied by a high concentration of another minority must also be termed a ghetto. New York's Chinatown falls in that category. No part of New York City is more densely populated by a higher percentage of a minority. In accepted modern terminology, these are ghetto people.

Something like 4,000 of Chinatown's residents demonstrated a few days ago. That's quite a turnout. If 4,000 residents of Harlem had marched anywhere, it would have made headlines and TV newsreels from coast to coast. Not so when Chinatown turned out its residents on a bitterly cold morning. You see, these 4,000 Chinese-Americans weren't asking for welfare handouts, protesting segregation, or demanding open housing. Nothing like that. They were petitioning city hall not to close the police station in Chinatown.

The crime rate in Chinatown has always been lower than in other sections of the city. But lately, outsiders have begun to invade the area to rob and rape and loot. The Chinese were only asking that the Mayor save their police station which he had marked for closing and consolidation with another station blocks away as an economy measure. As a matter of fact, the Chinese said that they'd be willing to pay higher taxes if the police station could be kept open, and the police on patrol in their ghetto.

Some of the youngsters among the 4,000 carried signs which read, "We Love Cops".

So the next time you hear some authority holding forth on the subject of ghetto, ask about the Chinatown ghetto in New York City. It hasn't experienced any of that police brutality we hear so much about. The residents "Love Cops". They aren't demanding equality, or handouts. They've earned equality, by hard work. Quite a contrast isn't it? Do you think maybe the news services and the TV news cameramen discriminated against the Chinese? —U. S. Press Association, Inc.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

The United States Supreme Court is supposed to reflect American jurisprudence at the highest level.

While it is difficult for a layman to evaluate the juris part of it, there seems a strange lack of prudence.

C. W. Harder

The recent court decision overthrowing the law making it illegal to a communist, or a member of communist front organization to work in a defense plant is, to say the bare minimum, a most strange one.

To all but the very blind, it is obvious that the chief goal of communism is to overthrow the United States, and set up a new system based on communism.

It is also well known that defense work is not aimed at possible war with Patagonia, Switzerland, or the New Hebrides. The entire effort and expense is devoted to preventing the communists, either Russian or Chinese, from landing a Sunday punch on these shores.

It is also equally well known that in this age of electronics, and other technological developments, that in a showdown, the side with the best secret sophisticated weaponry will have the edge.

Thus, letting avowed communists, or even communist sympathizers work in defense plants is most startling. Of course the court held that this decision did not condone espionage, which so far, the majority of the court does seem to be somewhat against.

On the other hand, if one puts fish in the reach of a cat, it is pretty much of a certainty that informing the cat the fish is not for him will not save the fish.

It was not too long ago, that two people were executed and another sent to prison for a long term for revealing what was then the United States atomic secrets. It is also noteworthy that none of these people held down high ranking jobs in defense work. In fact the leak of this vital information was accomplished by people with very ordinary jobs.

* * *

But perhaps there should be rejoicing that the U. S. Constitution does not give the U. S. Supreme Court authority to set the rules for playing football. Otherwise it could be expected that it would be required that a member of the team on defense be present in all signal huddles by the other side.

Two Parades To Feature Maple Festival

Two parade events will feature the 21st annual Somerset County Maple Festival to be held at Meyersdale, Pa., Friday, Saturday and Sunday, March 29, 30 and 31. Both parade events will be held Saturday with an agricultural parade at 1:30 and the festival parade at 6:30.

Miss Sally Miller, Somerset area high school senior, queen of this year's event, will appear in the festival parade with her two maids of honor. A number of marching band units will be in the evening procession.

Numerous tours have been scheduled over the week-end. On the Sunday prior to the festival a Maple excursion train will originate in Washington, concluding at Meyersdale. Several busloads of visitors also are expected from the Pittsburgh area.

A SIMPLE TEST FOR EMPHYSEMA

Advanced Emphysema and chronic bronchitis have caused millions of respiratory cripples. These diseases start slowly and early symptoms are not too troublesome. Many people wrongly ignore them. The best chance for control is an early detection and prompt treatment. Watch out for morning coughing spells, or shortness of breath during your daily activities.

Take this match test. Light an ordinary match and hold it lit about 12 inches from your mouth. Take a normal breath and then "huff" out the match without pursing your lips. If the match is not blown out you may have emphysema. See your physician for a positive diagnosis.

Yesterday at 8:22 a. m. the sun appeared to cross the celestial equator on its apparent trip toward the North. This is called the vernalequinox, the beginning of spring.

Day length to day is twelve hours eleven minutes which is fifteen minutes shorter than it will be next Thursday. The sun rises at 6:20 a. m. and sets at 6:31 p. m. today. It rises at 6:08 a. m. and sets at 6:38 p. m. on March 28.

The moon will be at last quarter at 6:08 a. m. today. During the week the moon will be a waning crescent. It will be seen between midnight and sunrise. Jupiter will be found in the eastern sky until about two o'clock at which time it will be overhead. It remains near Regulus, the bright star, in Leo, the Lion. Mars, visible in the southwest, sets about two hours after sunset. It is still moving closer to Aries, the Ram, from whom Venus can be found in the southeast about one hour before sunrise. It is the brightest object visible there. It may be seen after the stars have disappeared in the bright light of the rising sun.

Taurus, the bull, can be found north and west of Orion, the hunter. Taurus can be identified by locating two star clusters. One of these appears as a small dipper of six visible stars. This group is the shoulder of the bull and is the Pleiades or Seven Sisters. The other cluster is "V" shaped. A very bright star appears near the left end of the "V" but is not part of the cluster. The cluster is called the Hyades. The bright star is Aldebaran, an orange giant star, the thirteenth brightest star in the sky. Aldebarah will be due south at 5:00 p. m.; therefore, it will be found with Taurus toward the southwest in the early evening. They will set near 11:00 p. m. The Hyades is the face of the bull with Aldebaran, the bull's eye.

House Passes Teacher Bargaining Measure Friday

A bill to establish teacher election of units to bargain with school boards passed the House of Delegates last Friday and went to the Senate.

The bill, sponsored by the Maryland State Teachers' association and opposed by the Baltimore Teachers Union, calls for secret ballot elections in the 23 counties by June 1.

Through these elections, teachers in each county could choose an organization to negotiate with their school board about "salaries, wages, hours and other working conditions".

Would Prohibit Strikes

The bill would prohibit teacher strikes. It would penalize a teacher organization calling a strike by taking away for two years that organization's right to exclusively represent teachers.

The bill also would set up mediation procedures, using the State Board of Education and special three-man panels, whenever a bargaining impasse was reached.

School boards, however, would still be specifically granted the last word and final decision in any negotiations.

The Baltimore Teachers union, which won a representational election set up by a city law after a strike last year, opposes the bill primarily because of the no-strike clause and the conclusive negotiation powers that would be given to the school boards. The bill, paralleling city law, would allow the Teachers' association to challenge the Teachers Union of Baltimore in June, 1969.

All representational elections would be binding for two years. Representatives of the State's 24 school boards have asked for the passage of the teacher negotiation bill.

Delegate B. O. Aiken, Garrett County, said he was opposed to the bill. He said he didn't feel that teachers were really represented fully in the drafting of the bill and didn't "reflect the will of Maryland teachers". He said he feared it would initiate strikes rather than prohibit them.

Six persons died in a Florida automobile crash; the lone survivor said he tried unsuccessfully for hours to flag down passing motorists for help.

Seven Are Killed On State Highways

Seven persons were killed on Maryland highways last week according to the weekly review of the State Police. Five of those killed were drivers; one was a passenger; and one was a pedestrian. Alcohol wkas a contributing factor in three of the deaths; speed in three; and "driver error" in all seven.

"One of the most serious driver errors is to operate a motor vehicle with a known defect which substantially reduces the possibility of its being driven safely", noted Lt. Col. George Davidson, Chief of Operations of the State Police. "Obviously, inadequate tires are one of the easiest defects for the average motorist to spot.

"Unfortunately, some drivers never bother to check their tires even though common sense dictates that it be done routinely; others do check periodically but feel they can get a few additional miles out of worn tires".

Lt. Col. Davidson continued: "Defective tires create a hazard even at slow speeds under the most favorable weather and road conditions; the potential for a serious accident increases tremendously when the car is driven at a high rate of speed, especially when the roads are wet and slippery. One driver who was killed last week might still be alive had he recognized his responsibility to see that all of his car's mechanisms and equipment were in safe operating condition; in his case it was defective tires".

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks and appreciation to our neighbors, friends and relatives for the kindness and sympathy shown at the death of our beloved husband and father, John O'Haver. Their kindness and thoughtful assistance in our time of sorrow was a great comfort to us.

Our special thanks to Dr. Mance, Rev. Markley and the Durst Funeral Home.

There are a lot of good cars you can get for $3400. This is two of them:

If you don't happen to need two cars, there's only one thing that you need less. One car that costs as much as two cars.

Unless you want to pay a lot of money for a lot of horsepower that you'll never use. There's only one state in the country where you can go faster than a Volkswagen—Nevada. (No speed limit—they're big gamblers out there.)

The only extra horsepower you really need it for all those power gadgets. Which you need to drive a car that size. Which has to be that size to hold all those horses.

All of which also makes the average car cost almost as much to run as two Volkswagens. Considering a VW gets as much as 27 miles to a gallon of gas.

But if you're still not sold on the idea of two bugs for the price of one beast, why not take advantage of this special introductory offer: one Volkswagen, for half the price of two.

Gaelic Gaiety

Each country has its pride and folklore, but Ireland remains unique. Shana Alexander, in LIFE magazine, defines Ireland as the obverse of America, so rich in what we have lost—simple courtesy, concern for people, and picturesque speech. The St. Patrick's Day parade in Baltimore is enough evidence of pride in an ancestry of ancient kings, never conquered in the Roman invasion of Britain, as you see the Hibernians flashing Tara's harps, giant green ties, and shillelaghs.

But shouldn't their pride be accepted? We might say the Ireland saved printed civilization for the West. It was not shorn of its culture when the rest of Britain was invaded by Anglo-Saxons. The inhabitants of peat bogs and green pastures remained aloof with their high chief at Tara, and became enlightened by St. Patrick's real Christianity in the fifth century. Tribal law and no strong central authority, even papal power, enabled Irishmen to independently preserve and write pagan forms of their national epics. The monasteries not only preserved Latin and Greek in speech, but kept manuscripts in these tongues and offered havens for scholars who had to flee both 200 years of Viking raids and the Norman Conquest. Even when wars continued between septs, or small estates, and Henry II seized lands as territories of the Crown, the Irish held this literary culture safe from invaders. Today she continues to produce the greatest of the English playwrights.

The potato famine of 1879 sent many Irish immigrants to America, and who can say that we are not fortunate to have had them in our melting pot? They established reputations for being high as a kite or despondent as sin, but the gangs of hard-working men were certainly welcome to the builders of our transcontinental railroad.

Western Maryland owes some of its noble ancestry to the Northern Irish families of Thistle, Casteel, Browning, and Enlow. Near the old lumber camp of Bond, in what is now Big Run Recreation Area, were many small towns of three or four houses each, along Savage River. According to John Houl, of Deer Park, who worked in the logging operations at Bond, these were occupied mostly by Irishmen who came in to work on the grading and building of roads. He also recalls that Gaelic gaiety often overflowed into drinking and then into fighting.

The Irish may be great and yet simple because they have always revered the land, making their presence a blessing upon the landscape. In the great classic, Gone With The Wind, Scarlett O'Hara's Irish father explains to her that the land is like a mother to anyone of Irish blood, and that it really is the only thing worth fighting or dying for. When war tears apart former lives, or death or politics leave a family or a civilization completely debilitated, what do men do? They turn again to the land, where growing things give them hope.

There is something of poetry in the heart of one descended from the Irish, a turn of the rhythm or phrase which adds a distinct rarity. Thus, instead of a worn-out wish, the Irish say, "May the hinges of our friendship never grow rusty".

Frank J. Getty, of the Grantsville family, once told his students of the Irish humor and temperament, saying that an Irishman always laughs immediately when you tell him a joke. He's just thought of the one he's ready to tell you.

Erin go bragh!

Ten Persons Forfeit Collateral; Two Plead Not Guilty

Of the twelve summons listed on the Magistrate's docket for the past week, 10 persons chose to forfeit collateral.

Involved in the only cases listing a "not guilty" plea were James Theodore Laskey and Lloyd Franklin Brenneman, who were both charged with failing to yield the right of way. In a trial held Tuesday afternoon, Magistrate Maroney found Lloyd Brenneman guilty as charged, and James Laskey not guilty. Mr. Brenneman was fined $5 plus costs.

Those who forfeited collateral included Kermit Frank Jones of Elk Garden, $7 and costs for failing to have registration card in his possession; James Thomas Pollitt, Mt. Lake Park, $10 and costs for failing to obtain Maryland operator's license after 30 days permanent residence.

Irvin R. Rudy, Jr., Oakland, $22 and costs for failing to drive to the right of the center of highway; Josephine Hawker Berry, Clarksburg, W. Va., $19 and costs for failing to reduce speed to avoid a coilision.

Charles Earl Sims, Oakland, $10 and costs for failing to grant right of way to vehicle on right at intersection; Clarence Wade Feather, Terra Alta, $5 and costs for exceeding 50 m.p.h.

Stephen Larry Tichinell, Deer Park, $10 and costs for exceeding 50 m.p.h.; Elizabeth Loretta Cogley, Swanton, $5 and costs for failing to obey automatic light.

James William White, Thomas, W. Va., $30 and costs for exceeding 50 m.p.h.; $1 and costs for operating a vehicle without a license in possession.

Medicare Enrollment Up

Nearly half a million older people not previously enrolled have signed up for the voluntary doctor bill insurance under medicare since the start of the current open enrollment period, last October 1, Edward G. Phelps, Social Security District Manager in Cumberland, noted this week.

Although most older people in this area are now enrolled in the program that supplements their basic hospital insurance under medicare, some still need to take action by April 1, in order to get the protection, Mr. Phelps said.

Johnson Grass Causes Crop Loss

The state's farmers and weed scientists "obviously need a third partner—the general public—if we are going to reduce costly damage being done to Maryland lands by Johnsongrass", Dr. Robert E. Wagner, director, Maryland Cooperative Extension Service, told 60 participants in a Johnsongrass control meeting on the University of Maryland campus.

Johnsongrass is a tough, rapid-spreading, noxious weed. It produces rootstocks (called rhizomes) which can grow up to 200 feet a year underground—and each year new and vigorous plants spring up from "nodes" (joints) along this length. Johnsongrass literally chokes out other plants trying to compete with it and, if unchecked, can reduce productive land to a tangle of weeds in a hurry.

Eleven of Maryland's 23 counties suffered an increase in Johnsongrass last year, according to a recent survey by the Department of Agronomy, University of Maryland, in cooperation with the county Extension agents.

It is estimated that Johnsongrass now infests over 34,000 acres of crop land in Maryland, resulting in a production loss of $900,000.

The most effective methods and chemicals presently recommended for the control of Johnsongrass are described in University of Maryland Fact Sheet No. 178. It can be obtained from the County Extension office.

Fire Sweeps Home In Avilton Friday

A fire of undetermined origin gutted a small dwelling in the Avilton area last Friday.

The house, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Guthrie, was practically a total loss, firemen said, as only the framework and a bedroom were saved.

Mrs. Guthrie told firemen she was awakened shortly before she discovered the fire which seemed to start in a wall near the bathroom. Firemen said faulty wiring may have been responsible.

Fire companies from Grantsville, Frostburg and eastern Garrett County answered the alarm. Grantsville units arrived first, with Frostburg shortly after. The fire had spread rapidly and was out of control when firemen arrived. They remained on duty about an hour and a half.

A Study Of State Lands Is Asked

A joint resolution, No. 54, requesting a study of state-owned lands in this county and recommendations for the state's future policy concerning these lands, was introduced in the Senate by Senator George Hughes and referred to the committee on Finance.

The resolution declared that members of the General Assembly were concerned over the amount and location of state-owned lands in the county and over what should be the state's proper policy with respect to these lands.

The legislature is requesting the State Planning Department, the Department of Forests and Parks, the Department of Game and Inland Fish, along with County Commissioners of this county and other state and local agencies to ascertain the amount and location of these lands, the use presently being made of them, plans for possible future use, and the possibility of disposing of surplus lands by the state.

The resolution gave the problem facing the county that of so much land removed from tax rolls and from any share in the support of the county government.

The resolution asks that the agencies mentioned to develop a proposed program to meet the needs of the citizens of Maryland, consistent with proper development of this county and its government.

Th agencies were to report any recommendations they deem appropriate to the General Assembly of 1969.

Certain Life Preservers No Longer Accepted

The United States Coast Guard has withdrawn approval of certain types of life preservers, the Department of Game and Inland Fish announced.

No longer accepted are vinyl coated unicellular plastic foam life preservers with a solid bib front. Tests revealed they became stiff and hard to put on in cold weather.

The same type of plastic foam preservers, not slit in front, but covered with cloth, will no longer be approved but are acceptable as meeting Coast Guard requirements if in good condition.

The only vinyl coated unicellular plastic foam preservers accepted and approved are split in front and have a revised body strap arrangement. Low temperatures do not affect them. Maryland boating laws call for the carrying of at least one Coast Guard approved lifesaving device for each person aboard a vessel. Maryland boaters are urged to check their lifesaving devices to be certain they are in good condition and are approved under the Coast Guard regulations.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

The quality of political appointees to government jobs has long been a subject of discussion, perhaps starting with the republic of ancient Greece..

But jumping a couple of milleniums or so, it is interesting to note what recently took place in California.

C. W. Harder

For years the state controller, an elected official, appointed the estate tax appraisers who decided on death what the value of the deceased holdings were, and hence how much death tax should be extracted. This, in turn, led to quite a bit of political patronage, and some substantial controversy.

When Pierre Salinger, press secretary to President Kennedy, ran for the Senate from California, he made this situation quite a campaign issue, even though he did not win.

But when Ronald Reagan successfully ran for governor, elected with him in the sweep of the state was a new state controller, Houston Flournoy, who campaigned on the pledge he would rid the office of its right to make these highly lucrative appointments and would place them on a competitive examination basis.

As a matter of fact, he tried to put this reform through the State Legislature, but it was defeated by the opposition party which controls the Senate committee which had to pass on the measure to eliminate the state appraisal system and permit estates to hire private experts under court supervision.

But undaunted by this rebuff, Flournoy decided to see just how well qualified the present estate appraisers were by giving a competitive examination to the existing and aspiring appraisers. At the time there were 144 appraisers on the job as hold over appointees. Of this group 58 failed to pass the test, 12 failed to show up, and only 74, or just about half of the staff, were able to give evidence of being experts in the field by passing the test.

Presumably, there is bound to be a lot of replacements as it is now becoming painfully apparent that friendship or kinship with a government official does not an expert make.

SENSING THE NEWS

Internal Security: A Time To Act

In this era of cold war, in which Communism is waging a war of propaganda, subversion and clandestine operations against the United States, the American republic has need of a fully adequate internal security law. Those who wage war against the United States from within have to be handled with as effective means as U. S. armed forces use against Communist troops in the field.

Unfortunately, there are huge gaps in the nation's internal security. In recent years, the U. S. Supreme Court has invalidated much of the legislation enacted in the 1940s to give the American people protection against their enemies. The Warren Court thus has left this nation cruelly exposed to manipulation by the hate-American elements operating inside the country.

At long last, a comprehensive effort is under way to plug the gaps in America's internal security system. Sen. James O. Eastland (D.-Miss.), with strong bipartisan support, has introduced a proposed new Internal Security Act of 1968. It is outstanding legislation and, if enacted, should give the republic protection against the internal adversaries of the United States.

Sen. Eastland has pointed out that "any person who owes allegiance to the U. S. and yet gives aid or comfort knowingly or willfully, to the Viet Cong or to North Vietnam or to any other nation or armed group engaged in open hostilities against the United States, hostilities in which American boys are fighting and dying, certainly should be punished". But the Senator also pointed out that "so long as we remain in a state of cold war, where the constitutional crime of treason is virtually impossible to commit, there will be no way to reach persons who aid or would aid adversaries of the United States".

The proposed Internal Security Act of 1968 should cover this situation. Among the excellent and necessary features of the bill are prohibitions against teaching or advocating the forceful, violent overthrow of government.

The bill also would extend the statute of limitations in cases of treason, espionage, sabotage, sedition and subversive activities. Moveover, the bill would make it a criminal offense to commit acts whch, if committed in wartime, would constitute treason under the Constitution.

This new offense would be defined as giving of aid or comfort to an adversary of the United States by an overt act performed by a person owing allegiance to the United States. The term "adversary" would be specifically defined to mean any foreign nation or armed group which is engaged in open hostilities against the United States or with which the armed forces of America are engaged in open hostilities.

If the United States had such a law at the present time, it would provide a means of dealing effectively with North Vietnam's allies inside the USA. Hanoi has true war partners in the U. S., persons such as those who have collected blood to send to the Viet Cong, who have tried to halt troop trains in California, and who have demonstrated outside plants engaged in the manufacture of war materials needed by U. S. soldiers in Vietnam.

Sen. Eastland hopes that the proposed new Internal Security Act will have a speedy passage through Congress. Indeed it should, for this is a vital war measure. It is not enough to fight the Communists in Asia; the Communists and their fellow-travelers on the domestic scene also are a menace to the freedom of the American people.

The public can be sure, however, that the Communist Party, USA, the New Left and all the hard-core radical groups trying to help defeat the U. S. in Vietnam will coordinate their plans and propaganda to try to defeat Sen. Eastland's bill. It is imperative, therefore, that loyal Americans let Congress and the President know that they support the objectives of the proposed Internal Security Act. A flood of letters and telegrams to members of Congress and to the White House would counteract the predictable leftwing campaign and help speed enactment of this legislation.

Unquestionably, enactment of the Internal Security Act of 1968 is one of the most important legislative task of the months ahead. The young Americans who are fighting the Communists in Vietnam should have protection against a Communist-inspired stab-in-the-back at home. The best way to fight the leftist war from within, which undercuts the U. S. servicemen's brave efforts, is to get the Internal Security Act of 1968 through Congress and signed by the President.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear daughter and grandaughter, Linda Lee Blocher, who departed this life one year ago today —March 23, 1967.

We miss you dear Linda, we miss you so,
Daytime and night time, wherever we go.
What would we give to clasp your hand—your happy face to see.
To hear your voice and see your smile,
That meant so much to me.
You suffered hours—yes, hours of pain,
To wait for cure, but all in vain;
Till God alone knew what was best—
He called you home to give you rest.
Not dead to one who loved you,
Not lost, but gone before.
You'll live with us in memory,
Till we meet on the golden shore.

In Loving Memory,
The Family

Fiberglass Can Be Fun Fabric

Fiberglass can be a fun fabric to work with, if you follow these tips from home economists of the University of Maryland Extension Service Home Furnishing Specialist, Miss Elizabeth Langsdale.

Select the best quality of fiberglass you can afford.

Use 2½ to 3 times window width for each pair of curtains or draperies so pleats will be full and windows will look "well dressed".

Allow enough fabric for double heading and hems.

Use fine sharp needles and pins.

Do hand or machine stitching with loose tension and long stitches.

Use only non-woven fabric for heading.

If possible, work on large table or adjustable ironing board covered with fabric. A pillow case can be put over end of console type sewing machine to keep fabric in place while doing machine stitching.

After pleats are finished, hand tack bottom of heading between pleats.

Workshop Cancelled

The Simplicity Workshop scheduled for Friday, March 22, has been cancelled, it was announced by Mrs. Freda Denison, extension agent. Anyone who wishes to attend may go to the one to be held in Allegany County Thursday evening, March 21, 7:00 to 9:30 p. m., at St. Paul's Lutheran Church Hall, corner of Washington and Smallwood Sts.

Courage at Dusk

We live longer today! But, thanks to pension plans, bond-a-month savings, retirement income policies, social security, etc., a man can retire—and still cash a check.

Years ago couples had a harder struggle to prepare for the later years. The security they sought was spiritual as well as material. And even as they toiled to earn and save . . . they worshipped God . . . they trained their children in the faith . . . they relied on their Bibles, their prayers, and their beliefs.

But when dusk came, they possessed a kind of courage that no check will provide.

Times haven't changed. To possess that kind of courage in the later years, a couple must begin in the early years to seek and serve God in the life of the Church.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons.

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

THE SOURCE

Lesson for March 24, 1968

Background Scripture: John 15 and 16.
Devotional Reading: John 15:1-5.

A young man idolized Abraham Lincoln. He bought and avidly read every book on Lincoln he could find. He made a collection of the Great Emancipator's speeches. All the drawings and photographs of the sixteenth President were systematically hunted down. Some of Lincoln's memorable sayings were committed to memory.

Rev. Althouse

One day, years after the great project had been begun, someone said to him: "Do you know what: you remind me very much of Abraham Lincoln!" Smiling a Lincolnesque smile, the other replied: "That is understandable, for I have lived with him for many years."

To Resemble Him

It is sometimes said that when we live with someone long enough, whether in a literal or figurative sense, we may very well become quite like them. Partners in marriage, for example, often grow to resemble each other. Adopted children may sometimes seem to bear the likeness of their foster parents.

It is in this same way that a person may grow in his fellowship with Christ, until, at last, he begins to take on characteristics that reflect the influence of the Master. This was the challenge Jesus set before his disciples: "By this my Father is glorified, that you bear much fruit, and so prove to be my disciples" (John 15:8 RSV).

This power to "bear much fruit" finds its source in a close, living relationship with Christ. "I am the vine," says Jesus, "you are my branches. He who abides in me, and I in him, he it is that bears much fruit, for apart from me you can do nothing" (John 15:5 RSV). Anyone who has ever tried to do it "on his own" knows the truth of Jesus' claim. He is the source of whatever power we have.

The Withered Branch

Sometimes, however, men and women, as they have climbed the ladder to "success," have cut themselves off from the source of their success. John Wesley found that many of the poor people who were converted under his ministry became moderately prosperous because of their new way of life. Unfortunately, as many of them grew in material success, they tended to drift away from their faith. They became "too busy" for the fellowship that lifted them out of their poverty. Wesley's solution: "If those who gain all they can, and save all they can, will likewise give all they can."

This is always the danger of prosperity. It tends to seduce us away from our source. We grow further and further away from Christ and, as we do, we find our power begin to dwindle. It may not happen suddenly, but bit by bit. At last, overextended in every direction, we find we have exhausted our God-given power and find nothing but emptiness where once Christ dwelt in us. "If a man does not abide in me, he is cast forth as a branch and withers . . ." (John 15: 6 RSV).

A Matched Set

Jesus said, ". . . unless you abide in me" (John 15:4), but how do you go about "abiding" in him? We have already seen how one young man lived for a number of years under the influence of the words and deeds of Abraham Lincoln and became like him. We may abide in Jesus in the same manner. He himself said: "If . . . my words abide in you" (John 15:7). As a young man immersed himself in the utternances of Lincoln, so the Christian may do the same with the teachings of Jesus Christ.

If Christ is the "true vine," the branches are bound together too. "This is my commandment, that you love one another as I have loved you." The Christian who remains close to his source, life in Jesus Christ, also finds it brings him close to his fellow men. It is impossible to have one without the other. The source compels us to be one.

CAPITOL COMMENT

by
Charles "Mac" Mathias
Congressman, 6th District, Maryland

Urban Needs and Resources

Last week I had the interesting and educational experience of joining Mayor D'Alesandro and other Baltimore City officials for a review of city programs and activities in a number of critical fields. Our discussions covered education, housing, public health, transportation, manpower training, and other fields in which Federal cooperation with and assistance to the City are virtually important.

While it was encourgaing to hear of the work under way, it was sobering to study the reports of the tremendous needs which have not yet been met. In almost every area, the job ahead in Baltimore, as in most of our great cities, is a difficult and challenging one.

As I assessed the current situation with Mayor D'Alesandro and the other Members of Congress who were present, I was struck by the contrast between local needs and the Federal support proposed in the President's budget for the coming fiscal year (fiscal 1969). Although our urban population nationwide continues to grow, and although city needs become greater every year, the Federal contribution simply is not keeping pace.

According to figures prepared by the Bureau of the Budget, proposed expenditures, including net lending, in seven critical types of urban programs for fiscal 1969 total $163 million less than the estimated expenditures in those same fields for fiscal 1968!

In many cases, where the needs are great, Federal expenditures are so low in comparison as to be virtually token. An example is mass transit, where great capital investments are required to rehabilitate existing systems and build new ones to take some of the pressure off city streets and urban freeways. Yet the President's budget for this fiscal year includes only $100 million for mass transit — 50c for each American, or 72c for each citizen living in an urban area. For fiscal 1969 the proposed expenditure is somewhat larger, $150 million, but this still adds up to just 74c per capita, or about one dollar for every urban American.

Mass transit thus appears to be a case in which Federal funds are being spent, relatively unsystematically, in amounts sufficient only to keep the idea of progress alive, while postponing any real commitment or really effective investment.

The situation in regard to housing is even more discouraging. Although housing shortages are critical in Baltimore and so many other cities, the major Federal housing programs —including net lending — are actually being cut, according to the Budget Bureau, by $1,822,000,000, to a level of spending almost half a billion dollars below that of fiscal 1967.

Meanwhile, insufficent steps are being taken to improve the quality of Federal housing programs, to make them more efficient and more responsive to the real needs of the cities. I am a co-sponsor of the legislation introduced by Senator Charles Percy and Representative William Widnall to encourage home ownership among families of lower incomes. I hope that legislation of this nature can finally be passed by the Congress this year, as one of the progessive reforms required if we are really going to make a responsible start toward answering the needs of Baltimore and all American cities.

No. 5669 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this proceeding is to secure the foreclosure of all rights of redemption in the following property situate in Election District No. 16 of Garrett County, Maryland, sold by the Collector of Taxes for Garrett County and the State of Maryland to Mary Naylor Bennett and Homer L. Bennett, the complainants in this proceeding:

All those lots or parcels of land adjacent to "D" Street in the Town of Mountain Lake Park, in Election District No. 16 of Garrett County, Maryland, which are known as Lots Nos. 218, 219, 220, and 221 on the Plat of the said Town of Mountain Lake Park, Maryland, which is recorded in Liber W. H. T., No. 6, Folio 800, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, containing 20,000 square feet, more or less, and being the same lands which were conveyed to Virginia Broadbelt Baker, late of Baltimore City, Maryland, deceased, by John W. Kimmell, late Treasurer of Garrett County, Maryland, by deed dated July 9, 1921, and recorded on April 17, 1940, in Liber A.G.R. No. 122, Folio 243, of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

The bill states, among other things, that title to said property was vested in the above named defendants at the time of said tax sale and still so remains; that the amounts for redemption have not been paid, although more than one year and a day from the date of sale has expired.

IT IS THEREUPON, this 11th day of March, 1968, by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, ordered that notice be given by the insertion of a copy of this Order in some newspaper having a general circulation in Garrett County, Maryland, once a week for four successive weeks, before the 5th day of April, 1968, warning all persons interested in said property to be and appear in this Court by the 3rd of June, 1968, and redeem the property herein described and answer the bill, or thereafter a final decree will be rendered foreclosing all rights of redemption in the property and vesting in the plaintiff a title free and clear of all encumbrances.

New Fire Hall Is Built At McHenry

A new fire hall, 50 feet by 100 feet, has been erected by the Deep Creek Volunteer Fire company at McHenry. Ground for the construction was broken last fall by B. O. Aiken, member of the House of Delegates.

The building includes a 3-bay garage which will house the two pieces of equipment now owned by the company, and will provide space for future equipment.

The front portion of the building is about 50 by 50, with overhead doors and a concrete floor. The rear area is a split level design with office, toilets, kitchen and paneled meeting room. The lower level will be used as a furnace room, storage and a space for a recreational center for members.

Equipment at present consists ot one American Marsh pumper, 500-gallon capacity, mounted on a 1958 Ford chassis, which carries 1,000 feet of 2½-inch hose and 500 feet of 1½-inch hose, plus two reels of one-inch hose for fog fighting of small fires.

The equipment truck will carry such things as boots, coats, helmets, small auxiliary pumper and other small tools.

Firemen of this company are responsible for the care of a large portion of the lower part of Deep Creek from above Glendale bridge to the hydro-electric dam including all small and large inlets; from Sand Flat on U. S. 219 to about half way between McHenry and Accident, on other roads; Marsh hill road, Cherry Creek, Bumble Bee, Mosser, Hoyes Run, and all inter-connecting roads; state park road, Beckman and Harvey Peninsulas.

The proposed community college will be under protection of the McHenry department.

Twelve members of the department have completed the University of Maryland's basic firemen's training course and other classes are being planned for next winter. The group is a member of the Garrett County Volunteer Firemen's association, the Allegany-Garrett Vol. Firemen's association and the Maryland State Firemen's association.

Opportunities For Army Enlistees

The U. S. Army is conducting a campaign to inform young men who will be completing their education this June of the advantage of enlistment over the draft, Sergeant Helmick, local Army Recruiter, announced this week.

One benefit offered enlistees but denied draftees is that of selecting their Army job training. "Men who enlist may select their own job training under one of the Army's guaranteed enlistment options. Those who are drafted are assigned in accordance with Army needs, with no choices available to them," said Sergeant Helmick.

Young men desiring comprehensive information about Army enlistment options, their requirements and their benefits, may call Sergeant Helmick at Cumberland 722-6600 to arrange an appointment or to request a visit by him to their home or school.

Contract Awarded On School Units

The Wilson Construction company of Cumberland, was low bidder on construction of three school units, and was awarded the contract for these additions, it was announced Tuesday by Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools.

The bid for the three units was $579,000. Mr. Hawkins said the company was prepared to start construction next week, weather permitting, with completion date for the Dennett Road addition set for this fall, in time for the opening of school, and the others by November 1st.

The George F. Hazelwood company, also Cumberland, was the only other bidder with a total of $712,000.

The construction includes an eight room addition and new gymnasium for Dennett Road school; the enlargement of the agricultural shop and greenhouse for Northern High school, and the vocational addition for Southern High.

Money for the vocational and agricultural additions would come through the Appalachian regional commission with two grants totaling $112,684 in federal funds and $272,800 from state vocational funds.

The construction at Dennett Road is designed to relieve the overload at Center Street and Loch Lynn.

Construction at Northern will provide an addition to the agriculture center including a shop and greenhouse, and up-date the present shop facilities.

At Southern the addition will consist of a food service and business education wing, a two-story building of block and brick.

Charles Pyles Enters Plea Of Not Guilty

Found Not Guilty Of Murder By Reason Of Insanity

Charles E. Pyles, of Vindex, arraigned Wednesday afternoon on a charge of fatally stabbing his father, Sherman Pyles, at his home on December 22, entered a plea of not guilty by reason of insanity.

After the plea was filed in writing by his attorneys, Clarence Penman and W. Dwight Stover, the court took testimony from Dr. Herman Reiner, psychiatrist at the Clifton T. Perkins state hospital, after which Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill found him not guilty as charged but committed him to the superintendent of the Clifton T. Perkins hospital for further treatment and until released by due process of law. The case against Joseph Pyles, as an accessory, was nolle prossed.

The court recessed Wednesday afternoon and will convene in ten days or so to hear additional cases.

Delone Brown, charged with murder of William Paugh, will be tried in the near future. At present he is at the state hospital undergoing psychiatric examination. Mrs. Ruth Malcomb, indicted for being an accessory after the fact, in the Paugh murder, is now back in the county jail after undergoing psychiatric examination, and will await trial.

Harold Crawford, indicted on charges of carnal knowledge and burglary, will come up for trial Tuesday, April 9. Robert Hanlin, indicted on a charge of assault with intent to murder, is also at the state hospital undergoing examination. Hanson Friend, on a charge of forgery, will be tried by a jury on April 8.

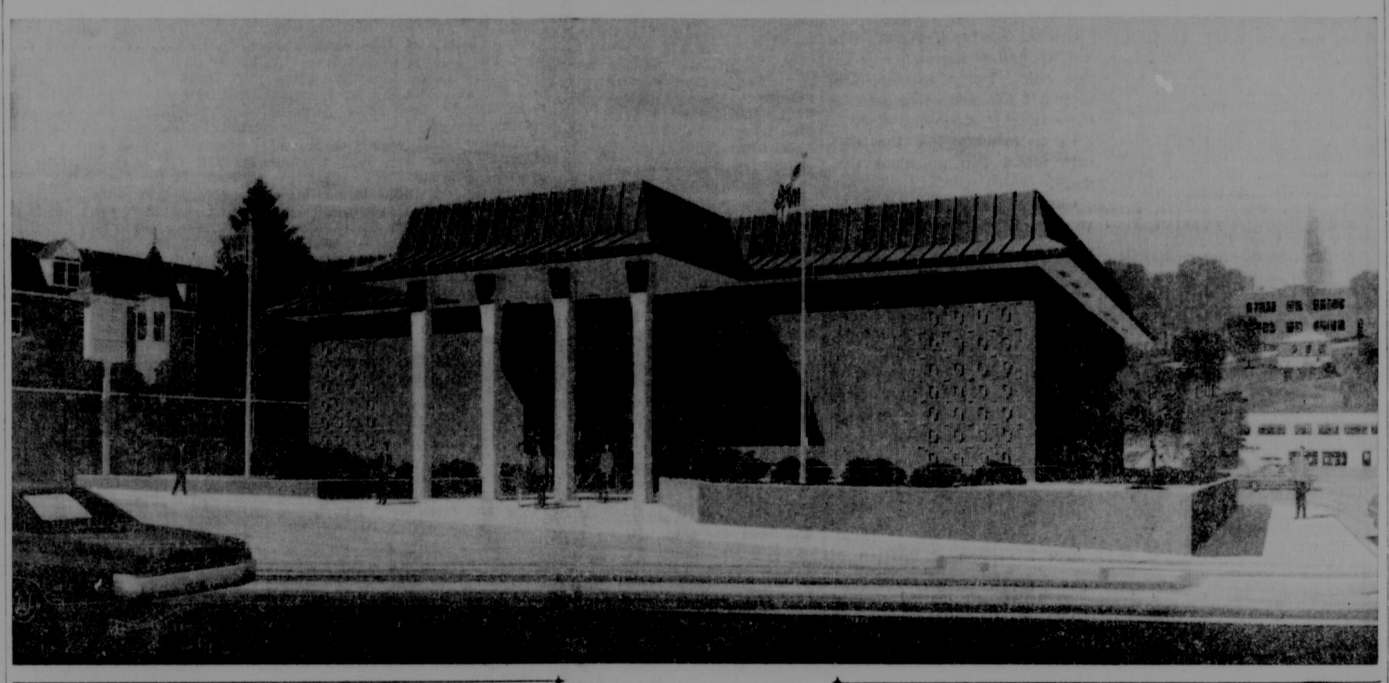
Installation has just been completed at The First National Bank in Oakland and at its branch offices in Friendsville, Deep Creek Lake and Grantsville of a camera surveillance system. The purpose of the equipment is to discourage hold-ups as well as to give greater protection to the bank personnel and to customers.

The cameras are located at strategic points that will photograph the lobby and teller windows in all offices, so that if a hold-up should occur, a picture of the bandit is automatically taken by the camera which is activated simultaneously with the handing out of cash to the hold-up man. Suspicious persons loitering or lurking in the banking area, and who appear to be strangers, can also be photographed without their knowledge.

While the system does not prevent hold-ups, it does act as a deterrent to would-be bandits since there are notices posted on the front doors of the banks and at the teller counters to the effect that the premises are protected by Photoguard.



Installations of Photoguard Motion Picture Cameras were completed this week at the several offices of The First National Bank and is believed to be the first of its kind in this area.

George K. Littman, President of the bank, stated that various types of security installations have been studied and this equipment is in addition to the regular alarm which has been maintained by the bank for many years. The service has been obtained through the Mosler Safe Company of Baltimore.

EVERYBODY HAPPY?—It looks that way as Jerry Minnich, left president of the Oakland Rotary Club, presents a check for $1,00 to James Rook, president of the Oakland Volunteer Fire Company, Inc., as a gift to the firemen from the service club. Th check is to aid in partial payment for the new fire truck whic the department recently acquired.

How New Garrett National Bank Will Look

OAKLAND POST OFFICE was one of three offices, assigned to the Cumberland Sectional Center, to be cited by the U. S. Treasury Department for its total participation in the 1967 U. S. Savings Bond Campaign. Postmaster Guy Wm. Hinebaugh and his staff last Wednesday were presented the certificate awarded for outstanding performance of the local office during the recent bond drive. Morris Richardson, postal field service officer, made the presentation on behalf of F. Alvin Webb, regional director of the Post Office Department, Washington, D. C. Mr. Richardson said in part: "Democracy and freedom are not just words, but living concepts presently being defended in Vietnam and other parts of the world." Standing behind Mr. Richardson shown presenting the award to Postmaster Hinebaugh are Robert Root, of the maintenance staff; Elizabeth Sisler of the clerks, and Don Scott representing the carriers.

An architect's conception of how the new Garrett National Bank building will look on the corner of Second and Green streets in Oakland when completed, was made available this week through Wesley Schaible, president.

How the new bank will appear is shown in the accompanying photograph. Some preliminary work has been done at various times during the winter months under direction of William A. Shirer, contractor, by providing footers, constructing the vault which contains 17 tons of steel within the poured concrete and getting the necessary pipes placed for drainage.

Mr. Schaible explained this week that the building would be two stories in height, in addition to the basement, that it would be 80 by 60 feet in size, with the 80-foot front facing Second street.

Construction will be of green glazed brick and there will be a copper mansard roof.

The first floor will contain the main vault, commercial tellers, note windows, private offices, with public entrances both in front and rear. On second floor there will be space for the bookkeeping department, record keeping department, auditing department, the board room and the employes' lounges. An elevator is being provided in the rear section of the building.

A planting wall will be constructed on four sides. There will be large windows on either side of the entrances, extending from ground floor to ceiling, with smaller windows on the two sides extending also to the ceiling.

The building will be held in 20 feet from Second street and thirteen feet from Green street.

Mr. Shirer, contractor, said some fifteen months had been spent in the planning stage. Keith Williams, Winchester, Va., is the architect.

Mr. Schaible said the building would be completed, hopefully, by early 1969, possibly sooner, depending upon weather conditions.

The present bank structure was sold several monhts ago to Dr. James H. Feaster, Jr. The site of the new building formerly was occupied by the old Oakland Bakery building, the Glotfelty restaurant, the F. A. Smouse grocery story and Hinebaugh's Restaurant building which held the corner spot since early in the century.

A new restaurant was constructed during the past year for use by Richard O. Glotfelty, at the extreme north edge of the lot.

WALL CAME TUMBLING DOWN—The front wall of the Jackson 5 and 10 literally came tumbling down yesterday morning, but opposite from the way the workmen intended. Fortunately, there was no one on the sidewalk at the time and an automobile which had been parked on the street with two small children in the back seat had just moved a minute before the crash. Harry Beeghley, one of the workmen, saw the wall start to collapse and jumped behind a telephone pole. A piece of lumber struck him on the calf of the leg, but he remained on the job. The debris covered the sidewalk between the McLaughlin building and the Matthews restaurant. The latter building was damaged slightly.

Police Capture Accused Car Thief In Oakland Tues.

A young West Virginian captured in Oakland after a high speed automobile chase through three states and a footrace with town police was hauled before Oakland Trial Magistrate Robert M. Maroney on Tuesday.

Freddie Leroy Lewis, 17, a former Bruceton Mills, W. Va., resident who was confined to Pruntytown Institution near Grafton, was charged by Tfc. Donald Smith after Lewis' capture by Oakland Police Chief Percy Lawton and Officer Stancy Bowsers at the corner of Third and Oak streets. Lewis after eluding Tfc. Smith from Sand Flat to Oakland, abandoned his stolen car at the corner of Second and Alder streets and fled on foot.

Lewis pleaded guilty to a charge of exceeding 70 m.p.h. and also pleaded guilty to operating a motor vehicle without an operator's license. On the first count, he was given a 30-day suspended jail sentence; on the second, he was ordered to spend one day in the county jail, pending West Virginia officials' arrival to pick up the boy for return to that state. Mass Meeting of Parents Arranged

A mass meeting of parents to explore ways and means of continuing extra curricular activities for children at Southern High is being planned for 7:30 p. m., Tuesday, April 2, at Southern High Cafetorium.

The meeting is the result of parents' response to a "letter to the editor" written by R. S. Sincell in last week's edition of The Republican in which he suggested that "parents step in where teachers step out", particularly in extra-curricular activities.

In the teacher-commissioner conflict over salaries, teachers have refused to participate in any school activitiy after 4 p. m. As of March 20th, they dumped plays already in production, and called off trips, debates, baseball, parties, prom, and graduation activities.

New Salary Proposal For Teachers Set

A new salary proposal will be offered to the Garrett County Teachers at a special meeting scheduled for this evening at Southern High school, it was indicated here this morning.

The new proposal would go from $5,900 for standard professional to $8,500 after 14 years of service, to $7,000 for a person with advanced degree to $9,400 after sixteen years of service.

The previous scale offered by the County Commissioners last week, was from $5,800 to $8,100 in twelve years and from $6,800 to $8,800 in 12 years for advanced degrees.

Lawrence Myers, president of the Garrett County Teachers association was non-committal about the meeting or the new proposal, but it was admitted that the teacher salary committee had met with Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent last evening to receive the new proposal.

Mr. Hawkins said he told the group this would be the final offer, that no strikes would be tolerated, and that the authority of the courts would be used to the fullest, should a strike be called.

Mr. Hawkins said the offer of the commissioners would provide $175,000 of the amount needed and that the balance would be state funds.

The details of the new proposal will be presented to the teachers at tonight's meeting.

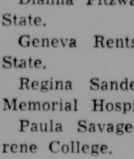
Maryland Map Is Unique Tourist Aid



The official 1968 Maryland Highway Map, just published by the State Roads Commission, in cooperation with the Department of Economic Development, details Maryland's modern highway system and also pinpoints 83 of the state's most outstanding travel attractions, as well as 40 state parks and recreation areas. No other state offers this type of map.

Maryland's array of historic, scenic and recreational attractions are indicated on the reverse side of the highway network map. The map is folded to provide convenient access to tourist information on the state's four distinctly different regions: Western, Southern, Central Maryland and the Eastern Shore. Atttractions are indicated on individual regional maps and keyed by number to a descriptive listing.

The Maryland map is specifically designed to enable the visitor to see the state easily by automobile. It is illustrated with photographs and sketches. Tourist information centers and 28 state police stations, where assistance can be obtained, are listed. A chart indicates facilities and activities available at state parks. Covered bridges, ferries, old mills, battle fields and other historic landmarks are located and described.

Copies of the 1968 Maryland map are available free on written request from Dept. M-68, Tourist Division, Maryland Department of Economic Development, State Office Building, Annapolis, Maryland 21401.

PHARMACY PHACTS

Question

I'm alive and healthy today because of drugs that were unknown 30 or 40 years ago. Because of this, I'm getting more than a little tired of hearing the drug industry constantly criticized. Can you give me a few thoughts that will help me defend what I know I owe my life to?

Answer

Thank you for your understanding of this situation. First of all, the average person still doesn't seem to realize that it is our drug industry which is making possible an added average 20 years of life where most people in this country are concerned. An added 20 years of better health than has ever before been possible! And you can ask the critics to look back only 30 years and remember the epidemics which can now be controlled for which no control was then possible. And drug cost? How many people realize that with today's steadily rising health costs, drugs are taking only 14c of the health-dollar as against 17c of the health-dollar taken in 1946? There are, of course, many more technical answers to this type of criticism, but these are a few of the facts worth consideration.

Observing K.-C. Week

Members of the local Knights of Pythias are joining with some 18,000 other members in Maryland in the observance of Knights of Columbus Week, March 24-30. The Order was founded March 29, 1882 and is noting its 86th anniversary.

their children. They are irked and are ready to do something about the situation. They don't take kindly to the idea of having their children 'used' by the teachers". This is the gist of conversations Sincell reported he had had with interested parents.

"It is obvious", he said, "that parents would have some difficulty in sponsoring baseball games, plays, and musicals. Help for major events such as the Jr. - Senior prom, class picnics, trips, sermons and graduation would receive the primary consideration at Tuesday's meeting".

Parents and interested citizens from both high school areas are invited.

If teachers reach agreement on the salary proposal being offered tonight at Southern High and agree to continue the scheduled extra-curricular activities, the parents' meeting would be unnecessary, Sincell said.

It was pointed out that the company does not require any participation of funds by the local chamber or from any other group. The corporation would build its own plant. The exact nature of the business was not stated, but would be revealed later if the survey is favorable.

The card would require the person's name, address, age and education, whether they would be available to work, what type of work desired, what kind of work a person would be qualified to do, and whether the person would desire office or plant work.

161 Years Of Escalation

Grandmother used to say that the first hundred years are the hardest. She wouldn't have believed the figures we're prepared to recite, but she was right, as always. The first hundred years were the hardest.

In 1806, the U. S. State Department had a modest 8 employees. The next time anybody bothered to count, it appears, was in 1909, when the total, including the Secretary, was 209. That's a rate of increase of about 2 employees a year, on the average. But after the first hundred years, the pace began to quicken. By 1922, the number of employees had tripled, to 631. That's a bit more than 2 employees a year, to be sure. Actually it divides out to 32 a year.

The next accounting we can find is for the year 1938. The Department of State had 963 employees that year. Those were the years of the great depression, and the pace was slowed to a 50 percent increase in the 15 year span.

Then, things began to pick up. And the momentum hasn't been lost. Five years later, midway of the war, State had 2,755 employees. By 1946, three years later, the count was 7,623. These are all figures developed by the Senate Committee on the Judiciary in the 1953-55 hearings concerning "Interlocking Subversion in Government Departments."

About a year ago, and that's the latest total we can find, it was reported that the State Department now has something like 43,828 employees. Now there is a right hefty hike. Indeed, it is almost 6 times the figure for 1946. Is it possible that our personnel needs in the Department of State have risen from 7,623 in 1946 to 43,823 in 1967? Neither ITT nor General Motors has grown that fast.

When you contemplate figures like that some items in the news begin to make some sense. For example, there was a great furor in the press about two State Department employees—friends of Otto Otepka—who had been sequestered in a dilapidated, rat-infested building without janitor services, without any work to do. You must understand that Otto Otepka insisted on telling the truth to a committee of the U. S. Senate. At the Department of State, that is a heinous crime. Nobody is supposed to tell a Senate Committee the truth. Or even the time of day.

And with 43,823 employees to coddle, where in the devil are you going to put two identified friends of Otto Otepka? In a broom closet, of course.

How many of the 43,828 work abroad? That's a secret. Only the Russians know that.—U. S. Press Association.

While the flowers bloom up there.

William Elmer Barb, indicted for embezzlement from the Dutch Oven Bakery, entered a plea of guilty and was sentenced by Judge Hamill to three years under jurisdiction of the Commissioner of Correction. The sentence was suspended and he was placed under the supervision of the Parole and Probation department. He was ordered to pay back $646.29 to the company as soon as possible.

Appeals Heard

Several appeals were disposed of.

Gerald Minnich appealed decision of Trial Magistrate Robert M. Maroney, who had found him guilty of failing to grant right of way. A jury deliberated about three hours but sustained the magistrate's verdict. Judge Hamill fined him $10 and costs.

Crate Robert Carr appealed Magistrate Maroney's decision on a Maryland overload case in which he was fined $412 and costs. He entered a plea of guilty and Judge Hamill lowered the fine to $100 and costs.

Russell Eugene Lambert appealed a decision of Mr. Maroney on a fine of $20 and costs for failure to comply with the Maryland road fuel tax law. He pleaded guilty and Judge Hamill upheld the magistrate's decision.

Henry Oran Martin appealed two decisions from the magistrate, one $20 for failing to comply with the road fuel tax law which the judge upheld, and one for $1,111 for exceeding the vehicle load by 21,850 pounds. He pleaded guilty and Judge Hamill reduced the fine to $200 and costs.

Ellis Snyder was fined $50 and given 30 days on an assault and battery charge against his brother, Sherman Snyder, by the magistrate. He appealed but pleaded guilty. Judge Hamill sentenced him to one year under jurisdiction of the Commissioner of Correction but suspended on condition he stay away from his brother and pay the fine assessed by the lower court.

Curtis Eugene Gilpin appealed a decision of Mr. Maroney fining him $100 for spotlighting with firearms in possession. He pleaded not guilty but was found guilty and fined $200 and costs.

A rape case against Michael Conway, removed here from Queen Anne's county will be heard April 30.

ATTENTION CITIZENS

On March 19 the Garrett County Teachers' Association decided by an overwhelming vote not to accept the Commissioners' salary offer for the following reasons:

1. It failed to recognize the advanced training and experience of the fully qualified teachers by offering them only $300 more than the unqualified teachers.
2. The Board of Education had approved the teachers' salary proposal in its entirety.
3. Many organizations had indicated strong support for the entire GCTA salary proposal.
4. The offer was 40% less than the amount requested by the GCTA.
5. It had been indicated to the teachers that money was available for granting this raise without major revisions in taxes.
6. Even if the GCTA salary proposal had been granted, evidence indicates that Garrett County would still have a difficult time recruiting and retaining qualified teachers.

On that same date the Association authorized its salary committee to continue negotiations.

CAPITOL COMMENT

Congressman, 6th District, Maryland

One of the most complicated issues assigned to the House Judiciary Committee is antitrust law. This is a subject which often appears very dry, technical and perhaps obscure to the layman, but actually it has a vast impact on all of us. The existence and practices of monopolies — what used to be called "the trusts" — could effect every American's life, and dictate the prices he would have to pay for goods and services, the quality of products and the choices he would have in the marketplace. Thus everyone has a vital interest in how our antitrust laws are made, and how they operate to guarantee competition and free enterprise.

Many of our antitrust laws are now over 50 years old. In the judgment of many experts, they have not kept pace with the radically changed circumstances of American business. For several years I have been urging the creation of a blue-ribbon commission, with representatives from business, the legal profession, the academic community, government and the general public, to review the entire complex of antitrust law thoroughly and recommend revisions. There is wide business and professional support for such a step, which seems desirable to guarantee that no new type of monopoly can gain a stranglehold over any segment of the marketplace.

I was very interested in reports last month that the government is finally moving toward a study of the antitrust laws. According to these reports, however, the study was emanating not from the usual source—the Department of Justice, whose Antitrust Division has jurisdiction in this field — but from the White House itself. Further study was reportedly being conducted by a "task force" whose membership and mandate were not made public.

Now, there is nothing to prevent the President from consulting anyone on any subject. But since this particular procedure seemed a bit unusual and mysterious, I did ask the Justice Department for further information.

The reply, received last week, was hardly reassuring. The Department did confirm the existence of a White House panel on antitrust, but could not disclose to me its membership or the scope or purpose of its inquiry. This reply is quite disturbing to me. Presidential advisors — official or unofficial — are no more immune to bias than any other citizen, and the best safeguard against undue bias is wide disclosure and publicity.

Given the gravity of the subject, and its vast implications for American business and commerce, I believe that the full membership and purpose of such a task force should be known. I have therefore asked the President to advise the Congress and the people fully on the operations of this group.

Two members of the newspaper staff of The Acorn interview Superintendent Willard Hawkins and Dr. John J. Cairns, the chairman of the visiting committee for the evaluation of Southern High school. The students are Connie Baker and Randy Overdorff.

Evaluators Begin Work at Southern

by Randol L. Overdorff and Connie S. Baker

The evaluation procedures began at Southern High School on Tuesday evening, March 26, as twenty-five educators arrived at a dinner sponsored by the Garrett County Board of Education.

The evaluation is conducted by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, and is conducted every ten years in order that the schools may be accredited as maintaining a high level of education.

Members of the team are specialized in a specific field and will appraise the departments to which they have been assigned in relationship to what extent the instructional material and services benefit the student, regarding the fact that the primary purpose of the school is to serve the needs of the student. Not only is the curriculum being judged, but also, the effectiveness of the teacher's presentation of the subject to the student. A study of the administration is also being made in order that a complete picture might be obtained as to how well the school educates the pupils.

The members of the committee realize the present education situation in Garrett County. Because there are no extra-curricular activities, they are questioning the students to discover whether the program satisfies their needs under ordinary circumstances, disregarding the fact that the activities have been terminated at present.

Dr. John J. Cairns, chairman of the evaluation team stated, "We are primarily interested in the academics, and we are judging the school as to how well it prepares the students for responsibilities, both today, as students, and tomorrow, as adults".

Snowstorm Drops Four Inches On Spring Buds, Plants

A surprise snowstorm provided a topic for much discussion and grumbling during the past week, especially since the rest of the week was decidedly spring-like.

Cloudy skies boded rain for the county last Thursday morning, and although they did not keep the temperature from hitting a peak of 69, the clouds did manage to hang over for another 24 hours before the sun could shove them aside. Fritrast to the cold, snowy weather day's high was 72, a sharp confound Saturday morning. Both Saturday and Sunday were cold and windy; however the sun did manage to peak through long enough to melt some of the four inches of white stuff. Monday came along with a 32 degree reading at 8 a. m. and clear skies. High for Monday was in the upper 40's.

On Tuesday, clouds once again hovered above, but the combination of sun, 67-degree temperatures, and wind managed to move them on. Wednesday began with 51 degrees and sunny skies, and the mercury climbed to 69 during late afternoon. The thermometer showed 43 degrees at 8 a. m. on Thursday, and skies were cloudy.

India Missionary To Speak Apr. 3 At St. Paul's Church

The Rev. John W. Finney, missionary to India, will speak at St. Paul's Methodist Church in Oakland on Wednesday, April 3 at 7:30 p. m.

Mr. Finney, who claims both England and the United States as home, is in this country for a year's furlough.

Born in England and originally a Friend (Quaker) missionary to India, Mr. Finney has been a missionary of the Methodist Board of Missions since 1949. He has established technical training departments at Hill Memorial School in Baroda and earlier at Ingraham Institute in Ghaziabad. He also has been active in evangelism, rural extension, and Christian economic life.

He was educated at Gamble Technical Institute at St. Helens, England, and for some years was a tool and die maker in a cable factory, before deciding to become a minister. He went to India in 1945 as a missionary of the British Society of Friends and did educational and evangelistic work for three years at Itarsi. He has done academic study at Arkansas University and Cornell University.

The missionary rally at the local Methodist Church is one of several Sub-District rallies to be held throughout the week in the Romney District. Persons from all Methodist Churches in the County as well as from surrounding counties in West Virginia are being urged to attend.

Powtr Company Plans Third Generating Plant

Plans for a third giant coal-fired generating station, with a capacity of 1,300,000 kilowatts, were announced by Allegheny Power System.

C. G. McVay, president of Monongahela Power Company, said that the construction schedule of the new station, calls for the first unit of 650,000 kilowatts to go into service in 1973 and the second unit, also of 650,000 kilowatts, in 1974.

The location of the new station is yet to be determined, McVay said. The station, yet to be named, is another stage in the expansion program. This system, which serves over 870,000 electric customers in a five-state area of West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Ohio and Virginia, had a generating capacity of 2.9 million kilwatts at the end of 1967. Completion of this third station, he said, would double the system's capability to 5.8 million kilowatts in 1974.

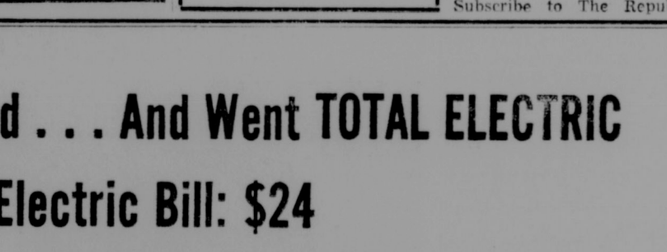
They Remodeled . . . And Went TOTAL ELECTRIC
Their Monthly Electric Bill: $24

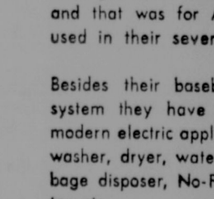
Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Boggs remodeled their Sutton home in 1964 and in the process installed electric heat. Their total electric bills in 1967 averaged out to $24 a month . . . and that was for ALL electricity used in their seven-room house.



Besides their baseboard heating system they have most of the modern electric appliances—range, washer, dryer, water heater, garbage disposer, No-Frost refrigerator, etc.

Mr. and Mrs. Boggs are retired—he from the B & O Railroad and Mrs. Boggs from the Ben Franklin Company. That doesn't mean they're alone! Five grandchildren keep the place humming, and Mrs. Boggs will testify that their 40-gallon electric water heater has never failed to meet the demands.

The feature of electric heating she likes most is the cleanliness. "Just not having to dust everyday is reason enough to have electric heat," she says. And as for the cost: "We are completely satisfied."



Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Boggs remodeled their home in Sutton in 1964 and went Total-Electric. They are quite enthusiastic about the heating system. The Boggs agree, "With electric heat, the entire house is warm and comfortable."

The Boggs home: proof again that older homes can easily be adapted to modern convenience.

Honor Society Initiates Nine

Nine new members from the junior and senior classes were accepted for membership and initiated into the National Honor Society on March 13, at Southern High School, Oakland.

The initiation ceremonies were held at Cornish Manor where a banquet was held in their honor. James Feaster, president of the society, was master of ceremonies and introduced the guest speaker, Albert Ringer, Supervisor of Junior and Senior High Schools. Mr. Ringer spoke about his trip to Russia.

The students accepted to the organization are Marilyn Englander, Marianne Filsinger, Janet Harmon, Ruth Sisler, Gary Kitzmiller, John Purbaugh, Dennis DeBerry, Mary June Brown and Jeannie Renschler.

To be eligible a student must have all A's and B's from the tenth grade, or one C and a 3.5 average. He must also be recommended and approved by a faculty committee.

Students who are already members are Andy Cosby, James Feaster, Faye Green, Emily Harvey, Valetta Lee, Lois Graham, Judy Simpson, Bill Hawkins, John Crowe, Cynthia Tusing, Judy Wolfe, Rebecca Michaels, Rebecca Sherwood, Karen Otto, Rebecca Maroney.

Uncalled For Spending

Federal spending for fiscal 1969 was set at a record $186.1 billion in the President's Budget Message to Congress. It has been described as a "bare-bones budget." This description is supposed to make it a little more palatable to accept tax increases.

The plain fact is that federal budget figures include proposed spending of taxpayers' funds on a business as usual basis, most particularly in areas where government enters into tax-exempt competition with taxpaying, private enterprise. The budget includes a request for new loan funds of $304 million for rural electrification — although rural electrification is completed for all practical purposes. Another $116.5 million was requested for the Bonneville Power Administration—up substantially from the previous year. Lesser amounts were requested for other federal power projects, and a request was submitted for $1,276,000 for "planning" of the federal Dickey-Lincoln hydro-electric project in Maine. The last Congress rejected requests for such funds.

As long as federal spending includes hundreds of millions of dollars to further programs in competition with taxpaying, investor-owned industry that is willing and able to meet our energy needs, it hardly makes sense to talk about a "bare-bones" budget. In these days, when the country needs every source of tax revenue, the people should not be expected to support privileged and costly tax-exempt government experiments in socialism.—Industrial News Review.

One Case On Docket

The docket of Trial Magistrate Robert M. Maroney listed only one name for the past week.

Bud Lewis was charged by Arlie Breedlove with being drunk and disorderly on March 23 at Oak Park Tavern near Crellin. Lewis forfeited collateral of $25 plus costs on the charge.

RECEIVES SILVER BOWL—Russell L. Smith, mayor of Oakland over the past twelve years, receives a silver bowl at a surprise dinner last evening at the American Legion home in Oakland, arranged by members of the city council. H. D. Swartzentruber will be sworn in as the new mayor in April. Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill, master of ceremonies, is shown presenting the bowl. He also received a plaque.

Surprise Dinner Honors Mayor

Some thirty persons gathered at the American Legion home in Oakland last night for a surprise dinner honoring Russell L. Smith, who will give up his position as mayor after six consecutive two-year terms. Mr. Smith was defeated for his seventh term by nine votes by H. D. Swartzentruber, who was among the guests last night.

Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill served as master of ceremonies and presented Mr. Smith with a silver bowl and a plaque which stated "for devoted service and forward seeking leadership as mayor of Oakland."

The dinner was engineered by members of the present council. Among those attending were Al Wilson and Bruce Douglas, of the Phoenix Construction company, Cumberland; County Commissioners Hubert Friend and Allen Paugh; William Goldsborough, state roads engineer; Thomas Sluss, county roads engineer, several members of the city council and others.

One Cited in 3-Car Pileup on Oak St.

A three-car chain reaction pileup on Oak street at 4:45 p. m. Wednesday resulted in a citation for Elmer B. Kitzmiller, Rt. 1, Oakland.

Kitzmiller's vehicle plowed into the rear of a car driven by Barry Milton Adkins, Terra Alta, whose car was shoved into the rear of a car operated by Mortimer E. Williams, Gormania, W. Va. Mr. Adkins and Mrs. Williams cars had come to a stop for the red light at Third and Oak when Mr. Kitzmiller drove into them, according to Percy Lawton, city police chief.

Town police officer Hobart Shillingburg, who investigated, charged Kitzmiller with having inadequate brakes. Damage to each car was estimated to be $150 to $200.

Explorers Meet

Members of Explorer posts 31 and 70, of the Deep Creek Scout district, participated in an "Explorer Day" at Potomac State college in Keyser, W. Va. More than 60 boys and leaders took part in the all-day activity. Purpose of the event was to strengthen the Explorer posts in the six county area that is served by the council.

State Legislature Ends 70-Day Meet Without Fanfare

The Maryland Legislature ended its regular 70 days session Tuesday night without the usual fanfare.

The midnight deadline was one of the most peaceful and orderly in years.

Republican Gov. Spiro T. Agnew told the predominantly Democratic Legislature in his message at the close "it has been a productive one".

Agnew expressed disappointment at the legislature's failure to enact his proposals to expand community health and alcoholic programs, loans to college students, rapid mass transit and more housing regulations.

On the eve of closing Monday, the Legislature plugged a possible loophole for continued operation of slot machines and approved spending $57.7 million for capital improvements.

The 1968 Legislature did enact a number of important measures, although the quantity of revised legislation appeared to be small. As examples, it:

Provided for a new state board to administer community colleges.

Revised business taxes to eliminate so-called nuisance levies and raised the corporate income rate from 5¼ to 7 per cent.

Raised the maximum interest mortgage rate from 6 to 8 per cent, but prohibited hidden charges.

Provided four legal reasons for abortion.

Set up a procedure for negotiating between the teachers and school boards in the 23 counties.

Required the health department to list drugs by generic names instead of brand labels, a move expected to save at least $1 million a year in state-supported medical care programs.

Required all establishments which sell alcoholic beverages to serve Negroes.

Established a fund of $129 million for water pollution control.

Spelled out broad powers of the governor to call out both the state police and national guard in anticipation of a public crisis.

Overhauled highway administrative procedures which included a one-third increase in motor vehicle license fees.

Alabama Gov. Lurleen Wallace shows slight improvement in fight against cancer.

HAPPILY EVER AFTER

You know how it is when you're a child, you are sure you are going to "live happily ever after" somewhere, sometime.

As you grow older, the story may change a little. The fairy tale princess turns out to be the girl next door; your castle in the air, a white house on Orchard Street. But the goal remains the same, the happy ending on the far side of the rainbow.

But life doesn't always happen like that. Sometimes storybook marriages end in divorce, a promising job becomes a dead end, or a sure-fire investment turns out to be a total loss. Misfortune or your own weaknesses make your days seem futile and empty. What then of childhood expectations? Where do you look for joy and hope and bright tomorrows?

God's love is the only way to find real and lasting happiness. Comfort, strength, and purpose are yours for the asking. Why not attend your church today and find new inspiration for your life?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
. . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

FOR US!

Lesson for March 31, 1968

Background Scripture: John 17.
Devotional Reading: I Timothy 2:1-8.

One summer while on college vacation, I was working as a door-to-door salesman of miscellaneous household items and had an experience that made a deep impression upon me. It was a broiling July afternoon: sidewalks hot, air thick, and not the slightest hint of a breeze. I hadn't sold anything all day and I was both hot and discouraged as I dragged myself up the front steps of the next house.

Rev. Althouse

As I rang the doorbell, I noticed an elderly man on the steps of the house two doors away. He smiled and nodded. I nodded back but was probably unsuccessful with the smile. The door in front of me was opened and I was invited in. Not only was the woman interested in my wares, but she made a substantial purchase.

I Prayed For You

Minutes later as I left the house, I noticed the elderly man once again. "Sold something, didn't you?" he said in a voice that indicated that he wasn't really asking a question. "Yes," I replied, "but how did you know?" His eyes twinkled as he said: "I prayed for you; you looked so discouraged when you went in."

For a moment I was speechless. The words, "I prayed for you," kept sounding again and again in my mind. The best reply I could manage was: "Well, thanks very much; I appreciate it." His smile seemed to rest upon me all the way down the street.

Though I would not claim that the man's prayer produced my sale that day, neither would I discount it. The important thing, however, is that a perfect stranger had compassion and prayed for me. While I had been in the midst of making that "one more try," the old gentleman outside was holding me in prayer!

Unknown Intercessors

The words, "I am praying for you," may sound trite to us, but when we are in deep need of spiritual strength and power, they may sound wonderful to our ears. For some reason, our own efforts at prayer may be fruitless. Perhaps we are too emotionally involved to be able to pray as we might. It is then that the prayer of someone else on our behalf can mean so much to us.

Those close to us may pray out of their specific knowledge of our need. Others whom we do not know may be of help to us as they pray more generally for, "the sick," "the lame," and "the infirm." A friend may place our name on a prayer list. It is amazing how swiftly a request for prayer can "get around" among people who believe in the power of intercessory prayer.

Yet, even if it seems that no one is praying for us, there is, in reality, someone who may be sure does intercede on our behalf: Jesus Christ. The seventeenth chapter of John records that first prayer of intercession for us: "I do not pray for these only, but also for those who are to believe in me through their (the disciples) word, that they may all be one" (17:20).

An Advocate

Nor is this the only evidence of his intercession for us. Hebrews 7:25 tells us: " . . . He always lives to make intercession for them (who draw near to God through him)". In I John 2:1 we read: " . . . we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous . . . " And the Apostle Paul assures us in Romans 8:26 (RSV): "for we do not know how to pray as we ought, but the Spirit himself intercedes for us with sighs too deep for words;

Though there are times when we feel that nobody cares, that we are utterly alone in our concern, it is not so. We are never abandoned by Christ. Thus, whenever we feel utterly alone, let us remember that Christ at least is praying for us and, very likely, though we do not know it, there are others praying with him . . . for us!

IMPORTANT NEWS FOR DIABETICS

It is possible to thoroughly sterilize an insulin syringe and its needles so there is no danger of an infection. But, you must be carefully accurate and as the hypodermic needles are reused they can become dull, causing pain.

Disposable equipment is now perfected and if you can afford the additional cost, you can protect yourself against infection, while saving much time, and eliminate needle pain. Disposable needles alone now cost less than $2.00 per month. The disposable insulin syringes and the needle combinations cost less than $5.00 per month. We will be glad to show them to you.

Department Tours Oakland

The tenth, eleventh and twelfth grade students in the Business Education Department toured various businesses in Oakland, last Friday. They visited the IBMI building, the telephone company and the art show, where they viewed thirty exhibits.

Viking Holds Primary

Members of the Viking Staff took their places at the polls March 20. Some were responsible for a section of a grade, while others dismissed students from their classes. The students were voting on questions as to whether their opinions were similar to those of their parents, their vote on the Democrat and Republican candidates for President, and their one favorite candidate for President. The student body also voted on the present government's policies on the War in Vietnam, the urban crisis, civil rights, and inflation.

National Winners

Word was recently received that the essays of several juniors at Northern have been accepted for publication in the Annual Essay Anthology, a biennial edition of outstanding essays written by high school students.

Announced as winners were Gary Reichenbecher, John Wisor, Jeannette Loughrie, Mary Humberson, and Rita Hummel. Certificates of acceptance were presented to the students by Miss Dixie L. McClellan, English teacher.

Student Council Activities

Northern's Student Council has been making plans for future events. A special meeting to discuss elections was held Monday morning for all freshmen and sophomores. At the meeting Bonnie Buckel, president, made students aware of the responsibilities of SC offices and encouraged nominations for the upcoming SC primaries.

Among the Student Councils' list of projects are: the United States Savings Stamps sale, the Alma Mater contest, special emblems for SC members, and the annual SC picnic. Committees are now planning for the Awards Assembly, the up-dating of the point system, and revision of the handbook.

Career Day

Career Day, sponsored by the Nike Club, was held Tuesday, March 19 for all junior and senior students. During the day students attended general sessions as well as special group sessions with the guest speakers to further the understanding of the specific vocations.

Guest speakers for the morning sessions were Charles S. Catherman, Catherman's Business School, Cumberland; Tunis Lyon, Forestry Department; John A. Huiess, Department of Agriculture; and Mrs. Virginia Hammersmith, from Tri-State Beauty Academy.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir:

I would like to add my opinion to the parents of Garrett County who think our so called teachers are punishing our children, to satisfy their own selfish demands.

As a parent, I have two children in school. The oldest one is a junior and has looked forward to her first prom, as so many others have done, for eleven years. She has decided to drop out next year if the strike goes on as threatened. Others have also voiced the same opinion. The other, a 6th grade student, has always been active in County Choral activities. She too is very discouraged. I feel that the teachers are deliberately encouraging our youth to become juvenile delinquents.

As parents we have encouraged our children to complete high school, and seek a college education. Most of them have gone along with this, but now they are saying, "What is the difference". If the teacher doesn't care what happens to them, why should they?

I am willing to help other interested parents sponsor extra curricular activities our children have worked so hard to achieve, if our teachers are too weak minded to go ahead with them. In my opinion, if the teachers are not willing to accept the more than reasonable raise in salary they have been offered, let them strike, therefore get rid of the ones that are causing the trouble. As has already been stated, some of them are making more now, than they deserve.

Although our youth work hard for good grades, we have teachers who will not recognize their efforts. These are the ones who should be excused of their duties, before they ruin every child's ideal of schooling. I'm sure I'm not the only parent that has been shocked by some of the things that are allowed to go on in our county schools. It seems to me the teachers have been very lax in disciplining themselves, rather than the students, for sometime. They should set better examples for the youth of today.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Maryland Loughry

Route 2, Box 1-A
Accident, Md., 21520
March 25, 1968

Dear Sir:

A reasonable offer presupposes a reasonable wage for the job. The reasonable wage in Maryland for teachers with fourteen years experience and eighteen years of schooling was $9,815 last year. It will be several hundred dollars more next year.

Therefore, the Commissioners did not make a reasonable offer.

Should we parents stand by and watch our experienced teachers leave for positions where people care enough to provide the very best education for their children? This can only hurt our children.

Why did no one complain when three departments in our high schools closed this year for lack of qualified teachers, but cessation of extra-curricular activities causes a furor? Just what is important in the education of our children?

Our teachers are concerned about the real education of our children. They know that without qualified teachers only our children will lose. Garrett County will not attract and hold qualified teachers unless Garrett County pays a reasonable wage.

Sincerely yours,
Paul S. Frank, Jr.

918 Park Street
McKeesport, Pa. 15132

Dear Sir:

Your paper of March 7 carried a news article concerning the bill introduced in the Maryland Legislature by Delegate Benjamin O. Aiken and Senator George L. Hughes requiring the Garrett County Commissioners to provide funds to raise teachers' salaries.

Their joint statement criticized the Commissioners for reducing the 1967 tax levy by 55c, causing a number of teachers to leave the school system. The general inference was that taxes were reduced throughout the county. This was not so.

We are owners of property at Deep Creek Lake. In 1967, despite the reduced levy, we actually paid higher taxes than in 1966. In 1966 our taxes were increased 55.7% over 1965. No capital improvements were made during that time. In all, our taxes have increased about 450% since we purchased our property.

Owners of lake property pay more than their fair share of taxes, yet receive little in return. We do contribute to the economy of the county, purchasing goods and services, and Deep Creek Lake would certainly not be the popular resort area it now is if development had been left to local residents.

Assessments on lake properties are at an all time high, and the 55c reduction in last year's levy merely kept our taxes near 1966 levels. If additional revenue is now needed for increased teachers' salaries and other services, it seems logical that those whose taxes were actually reduced last year should make up the difference. Increased assessments on those properties would take care of this.

Although I write as an individual, I am quite sure that hundreds of other lake property owners feel as I do.

Yours sincerely,
Alvah M. Squibb

Reply To Last Week's Editorial

1. "A request for an increase in teachers' salaries was presented to the county commissioners several weeks ago, which would raise the starting salary to $5700 and gradually increasing to $8960 at the end of thirteen years; and up to $9800 for persons with master's degrees.
We believe the request is a valid one and one that the county commissioners could very well agree with and proceed in making it a reality.
"The county spends less for education than any other county in the state. It has the lowest debt service of any county in the state, and is understood to have a substantial unbudgeted surplus on hand because of the continual rise in the assessable basis which now approximates $75 million dollars.

"Every county in the state except Garrett County has given a supplemental salary above the state minimum. Certainly a crisis exists, and is more critical than ever before."

The above is quoted from an editorial in THE REPUBLICAN, dated February 29, 1968.

"The county commissioners made a reasonable offer to the county teachers on Tuesday."

This is quoted from an editorial dated March 21, 1968, and after the county commissioners had offered a beginning salary of $5800 to $8100 for Bachelor's degrees and $6800 to $8800 for Master's degrees and twelve years of experience.

Our question is this: Why was our request valid, and recommended to the commissioners on February 29, but seemed to be unreasonable on March 21? What conditions affecting Garrett County's ability to pay changed so drastically in a period of a mere three weeks?

2. We would suggest to THE REPUBLICAN that they check their figures more closely before quoting them to the public. Their estimate of the cost of the Teachers Association salary proposal is grossly inaccurate and misleading. The cost would have been approximately $290,000 instead of $350,000 as suggested by the editor. This "error" of $60,000 would provide an additional $260 per teacher in Garrett County if added to our proposal. If this error was unintentional, we feel sure that the editor will be glad to correct it in this issue of The Republican.

3. The statement that an increase of 22% at the top of the scale for teachers with advanced degrees is a public admission of how "antiquated" our salary scale has really been. Had the Commissioners granted this increase to those teachers who have made the effort to better prepare themselves for their professional duties, they would still be paid $500 less than the State average for teachers with similar preparation based on the 1967-68 salary scales. However, every county in the state is expecting to further increase salaries this year. This only makes the gap still wider. Are your children less than average? Do they deserve less than average paid teachers?

4. THE REPUBLICAN indicates that teachers have adopted a "whole hog or none" attitude, and suggests negotiating the controversy. Had they felt it to be convenient to publish an article submitted by our organization explaining our reasons for not accepting the Commissioners' proposal it would have been seen that we propose further negotiations, if the Commissioners will so agree. We would like to remind The Republican and the public that we have been in negotiations with this body for 14 months, and that this "reasonable offer" covers a two year period instead of one.

5. We definitely resent the reference to our lack of citizenship and dedication. Is this an open invitation for us to transfer our citizenship and dedication to some other county that might, just possibly, appreciate these qualities?

6. Tenure is a State Law, and applies to teachers in all counties of Maryland. The "dead wood" referred to in this editorial is probably as small, percentage-wise, in Garrett County as in any other county in the state. At least, The Republican hesitated to quote figures in this case to prove their point.

7. It would seem to us that as long as the Teachers Association is willing to accept just what is handed out to them, they are supported by the press. But when they as a group are willing to fight for a principle in which they firmly believe, they are severely scolded and declared to be lacking in citizenship and dedication.

8. We have persistently maintained throughout this campaign that the prime issue in this controversy is the staffing of our schools with competent and qualified teachers. To do so, a competitive salary scale is a must. Does THE REPUBLICAN consider a difference between Allegany County and Garrett County of $1200 to $1500 at the top of the scale as being competitive? Or are these experienced personnel the "dead wood" that is suggested by The Republican that we eliminate?

9. If copies of THE REPUBLICAN'S editorial of March 21 were circulated among prospective teachers in the geographical areas in which we recruit teachers, there would be no reason why our association would have to resort to application for formal sanctions. This editorial speaks loudly for the educational climate of Garrett County.

10. If your schools are not adequately staffed with qualified teachers next year and in the years to come, who are the persons that will be most affected? Your children, of course. This is what the Garrett County Teachers Association is trying to guard against by seeing that our salary scale is competitive with other counties in the state of Maryland.

Eight Are Killed On State Highways

Eight persons were killed on Maryland highways last week according to the weekly survey published by the Maryland State Police. Three of those killed were drivers, one was a passenger, and four were pedestrians. Alcohol was a contributing factor in four of the deaths, speed in two, and "driver error" in five.

"Of the eight persons killed last week four of them were pedestrians", noted Lt. Col. George Davidson, Chief of Operations of the State Police, "and alcohol was a contributing factor in two of the four cases.

"Much has been said, and rightly so, about the hazards caused by the driver under the influence of alcohol. However, the same sense of responsibility which should motivate the operator not to drink and drive should extend, also, to the pedestrian. Although he does not, under most conditions, cause as much tragedy as the drinking driver, he nonetheless has a responsibility to safeguard his own life and the lives of others".

Events Above The Mountain Top

March 28-April 4

The sun rose today at 6:09 a. m. and will set tonight at 6:37 p. m. Next Thursday, April 4 the sun rises at 5:57 a. m. and sets 6:45 p. m. Daylight is with us for twenty minutes longer by the end of this week. Today there is a partial eclipse of the sun visible in Antarctica and the South Pacific.

There will be a new moon today at 5:49 p. m. During the week the moon will be a waxing crescent visible in the sky shortly after sunset during the early part of the week. It will be seen later in the evening as the week ends. On Monday, April 1 at 6:00 p. m. the moon will be at its apogee of 252,000 miles from the earth.

Mercury and Saturn will be too close to the sun, as we view the sky, to be seen. Jupiter can be found as the brighest object in the eastern sky after sunset. During the night Jupiter moves toward the west setting about 3:00 a. m. Mars is visible for a little more than an hour, low in the west, before it sets. Venus too is visible in the brightening glow of the eastern sky for about an hour before sunrise.

The brightest star in the sky is Sirius. Sirius is a blue hot star of 18,000 degrees F which like our sun is converting hydrogen into helium. A similar action takes place when a hydrogen bomb is exploded. This star is 8.7 light years away from us or about 51 trillion miles. This is twice as far away as the closest star to our sun, Alpha Centauri, which is not visible from our Latitude. Sirius is in the constellation of Canis Major, the Great Dog. This is southeast of Orion, the hunter.

In the planetarium this week, we find Miss Dixon's third grade, Dennett Road, studying satellities and planets. Visitors from Allegany County's Central Elementary School will learn about planets and the circumpolar constellations. Mrs. Strauss and Mrs. Overdorff's fourth grade classes from Accident will be studying satellites, and the atmosphere.

Couple To Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Bittinger, Sr., McHenry, are announcing the approaching marriage of their daughter, Beverly Elane, to Robert William Thrasher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Thrasher, Deer Park. The ceremony will take place on Saturday, April 27, at 7 p. m., at the Deer Park Methodist church. Rev. William Markley will be the officiating minister.

A reception will follow the ceremony in the church social room.

Miss Bittinger is a graduate of Northern High school and is employed at Integrated Business Methods. Mr. Thrasher, a graduate of Southern High school, is employed by the Ashby Fyr-Fyter company.

Upon completion of basic training they will be given eight weeks of advanced instruction.

Those in training include Kenneth E. Jamison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Jamison, route 1, Deer Park; Junior M. Detrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Demetrious Detrick, Friendsville; David G. Bittinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clark L. Bittinger, star route, Grantsville; Galen D. Harvey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Galen B. Harvey, Kitzmiller; Thomas W. Bowser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. April Program Is Announced For Homemaker Clubs

Demonstrations for the Extension Homemaker Club meetings during April will be "What to Keep and Where", and a short report on "landscaping", announced Mrs. Freda S. Denison, extension agent. Mrs. Denison will visit clubs and present the topic.

April 2, 1:30 p. m., Hoyes Club, at the home of Mrs. Clark Schlossnagle; 8 p. m. Casselman Valley home of Mrs. Clayton Livengood, with hostess, Mrs. D. W. Klotz.

April 3, 1:30 p. m., Grantsville Club, with Mrs. Ollie and Raymond Loechel.

April 4, 1:30 p. m., New Germany Club, at the home of Mrs. Bernard Merrill.

Shirts Score Fashion Comeback

The shirt and blouse are back in the 1968 fashion spotlight — along with waistlines, curves, and snowy-fresh feminity, Mrs. Denison advised.

Current styles emphasize the new, fitted waistline. Necklines range from classic lace ruffles to the long-collared shirt worn with a man's huge tie. There are "body shirts which hug the figure and must be stepped into, dressy Irish linen evening shirts bearing rhinestone buttons, and ultra-feminine blouses of mousseline.

Most of these 1968 blouses and shirts are made of fabrics which have great-wash-and-wear-ability, she pointed out. Polyester-cotton and Kodel-cotton blends lead in the sportswear field while Dacrons, nylons, and linens — in varying degrees of sheerness - are favorites for afternoon and evening wear.

A newcomer now used for bright-colored print blouses is Cantrence, a featherlight nylon yarn already popular in hosiery and lingerie. It is hand-washable, requires no pressing, and is prized by women travelers, busy career girls, and harried homemakers.

Sassafras

The name of sassafras will soon be spoken by the oldsters and some young devotees who gather the orange roots for a brewing of sassafras tea as a tonic to "clear the blood" and rid it of winter sluggishness. Whether it has or has not the ability to stimulate us out of lethargy, one must admit that the pungent drink is a real novelty alongside modern beverages. In one period the sassafras was termed the "Ague Tree" because those who had the ague, or chills and fever, were made to perspire after drinking the hot tea, and thus they rid themselves of this illness.

Sassafras oil is used today for some candy and soft drink flavorings, as well as in medicines and as perfumes for soap. Its properties of curing were so well-known by American colonists, as taught by Indians, that the first consignment to England from Massachusetts contained a large amount of sassafras roots. It could be termed our nation's first industry, at the complete cargo of a ship was valued as twenty shillings a pound in our first exports to a mother country.

In New England the boiling of sassafras bark made an orange dye for colonial homespun woolens. Each fall it is possible to see this same vibrant color, as well as yellow or scarlet, in the three different leaves, one simple leaf, one shaped like a mitten, and another like a mitten with a thumb on each side. Conrad Richter compares them with red turkey wattles hanging on the short trees. The roadsides delight us with overhanging leaves in late summer, as sunlight dapples the varied forms against the dark bark.

Perhaps you may have been fortunate enough to see full-grown trees; they are a rarity in our mountains, with peculiar bark overhanging itself like a shingled roof. The sapling seem to be abundant, especially in abandoned fields, where one root sends out root-stalks in a mass, but maturity is not reached in many habitats. Although a tree scientist may now consider it a weed tree as far as usability is planned, the brilliance of the foliage repays the landowner who spares this tree. Birds are readily attracted to the blue berries borne after the greenish-yellow flowers of spring have appeared. Whitetails also relish it, so its value to wildlife makes good management allow it to live in proper localities.

Sassafras wood is generally regarded as weak, light, and brittle, but because of its durability when in the soil it was readily used by pioneers as posts and fence rails. Barrels and crossties are also made from it, and it may be valuable as a windbreak.

Sassafras actually belongs to the Laurel family, Lauraceae, many members of which are aromatic shrubs or trees, but do not include the mountain laurel of our county. F. W. Besley, our first state forester, lists it as common to all sections of Maryland, but of little commercial importance. Sassafras albidum of the United States, and two species, one each in China and Formosa, are all that survive of an ancient genus of trees.

The name survives in a small town in Kent County and in the river which must have had sassafras trees growing beside it. It forms the natural boundary of Kent and Cecil County. Since the largest of these trees now grow in the mountains of West Virginia, North Carolina, and Tennessee, it seems fitting that the highest point in neighboring South Carolina is 3,560-foot Sassafras Mountain. It is a shame that we have no such name in Garrett County, for the countryside has a blessing in its beauty, scent, and that saucy-sounding name—sassafras.

Question

My husband seems to have an abnormal affinity for athlete's foot. What are some of the precautions he should take in trying to avoid this problem?

Answer

Just to begin with, he should be most careful around the usual places where people are are going barefooted . . . swimming pools, showers, etc. And when he is in these potentially disease-prone areas, he should be wearing slippers or thongs at all possible times. Athlete's foot is a fungus which can grow only in moist, warm surroundings, so it is important that he keep his feet as dry as possible. Have him wear cotton or wool socks and stay away from nylon, rayon or other non-absorbent socks of any kind. We can also recommend foot powders and sprays which will provide extra absorbency as well as guard against reinfection.

County Teachers

ers last Thursday night, some additional adjustments were worked out by the school superintendent which were accepted by the Teacher committee on Monday night.

These adjustments added $100 to the non-degree teacher, making the starting salary there $4,900 instead of $4,800, with a maximum of $7,100 after twelve years.

In the standard professional category the salary after six years of teaching went from $6,900 to $7,000 with $7,300 for seven years, $7,600 for 8, $8,000 for 10 and $8,000 for 11 instead of $7,900. Among the salaries of those with master's degrees there were $100 boosts among those teaching from 8 to 12 years, going from $7,900 to $8,700.

A measure to increase the salary of public school teachers $400 to $700, was passed by both houses of the legislature and imposed certain requirements upon the County Commissioners with respect to teacher salary scales.

The bill required a supplement to the state minimum teacher salary scale. This measure is now awaiting the Governor's signature. This measure establishes a floor but not a ceiling.

The pay proposal accepted last week affects some 230 teachers in the county. Almost 200 of that number attended last Thursday night's meeting.

Mr. Hawkins had told a teacher salary committee previous to the meeting that the offer was to be the final one, and advised against any strike activity.

Mr. Myers will be succeeded in the position of president of the teacher association by Richard Travis, athletic director at Southern High school, when the association has a general meeting on April 25. The election of other officers will take place at that meeting.

TO MY FRIENDS
(Written July, 1967)

That I request no preacher
Over me to eulogize,
To tell how good or bad I was.
You all may be surprised.
But the life I've lived will tell to all,
My part in the Creator's plan
Have I shown love to my neighbors?
Have I been a friend to man?
The Lord above knows what I've done,
Much more so, than does man.
He knows if I am worthy,
If I've done the best I can.
So to him I leave the judging
And rest my faith and hope
To meet again with those I love
And hear these words I've spoke.

County Boy's Holstein Has Triplets Monday

Triplets were born on April Fool's day to "Queen," a Holstein cow owned by a 10-year-old Garrett county farm boy.

Gerald Weimer, who lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alphonsus Weimer, on a 300-acre dairy farm with sugar camp and timberland, said he will name the three bull calves Tom, Dick and Harry.

Gerald's father was on hand in the barn when the triplets were born, as it is a rare occasion in cattle circles.

Young Weimer, who is a fifth grader at Route 40 school, belongs to the Route 40 4-H club. Although this was the first set of triplets, about five years ago the Weimers had twins born to one of their cows.

It is a 53-minute color film concerning this man's missionary work in that African country.

The April rally for Southern High school will be April 20, at 7:30 p. m., presenting "The Crestmen Quartet" and local teen talent for an all musical Campus Life rally.

New Farming For Better Living booklets of recommendations for progress in farming in 1968 were mailed this week by L. Bush Swisher, FFBL Project Director to the more than sixty farm families already enrolled in Garrett County in this year's FFBL program. Additional books will be mailed to other families as they enroll. A goal of 85 or more farm families enrolled by April 15 has been set by the members of the county FFBL council.

Farm families may enroll in the 1968 program by contacting Mr. Swisher, Box 888, Morgantown, W. Va. or by seeing county agricultural agency representatives, banker, or Monongahela Power Company office.

Farming For Better Living is an annual contest that now begins its 29th year, Swisher explained. It operates in 24 West Virginia counties and Garrett County. It is sponsored at the top level by the Cooperative Extension Service and College of Agriculture of WVU and Monongahela Power Company. Sponsors within the county are businessmen, bankers, newspapers, civic groups and club and other agricultural agencies working through the county FFBL council.

Spring Means Lawn Time

With balmy breezes of spring, your lawn will begin awakening. Get it off to a good start, says Dr. Elwyn Deal, turf specialist at the University of Maryland, for a luxurious lawn all summer.

Begin by raking to remove leaves and dead grass which may smother new growth.

Feed the new grass with a complete fertilizer such as 10-5-5 or its equivalent at about 10 pounds per thousand square feet. Many lawns will also respond to about 50 pounds of ground limestone per thousand square feet, but the only way to be sure you need it is to have a soil test. (Lime is normally needed only about once every three years.)

Another raking with a heavy steel garden rake will help work the plant food into the soil and make a good seed bed in bare spots. Reseed the bare spots and rake the seed in lightly. In reseeding, use the same mixture as the rest of the lawn to avoid off-color spots.

Spring is also an ideal time to eliminate unwanted garlic and crabgrass from the lawn. A spray of 2, 4-D will take care of the garlic for the rest of the season.

But, Dr. Deal cautions, this herbicide can cause a great deal of damage to most ornamental plantings. Be careful not to let the spray drift onto nearby shrubs.

A good way to apply 2, 4-D is with a chemically treated wax bar. Simply drag the bar over the weedy areas. This will allow you to work near shrubbery without fear of damage to desirable plants.

Four chemicals have shown good control of crabgrass. During the past three years, Dr. Deal reports, Dacthal and Betasan or Pre-San have given good to excellent control with little or no bluegrass injury. Azak has given fair weed control but has sometimes thinned the turf. Tupersan was somewhat erratic in control, but was extremely safe on newly planted grasses.

For best control, these chemicals should be applied before April 15. For further information contact your County Extension agent and ask for Agronomy Mimeo No. 26 and 23.

Helpful Hints On Lawn Care Are Given By Agent

"Would you like to have your lawn remain all year without weeds or disease, and stand up under heavy wear?" This question was asked by James W. Simms, extension agent for 4-H and Youth.

From a distance, many lawns look like they meet these qualifications, but a closer look will tell a different story, he said.

Some causes of poor lawns: Following improper fertilizing and liming practices; using the wrong grass species or poor quality seed; mowing too closely; watering indiscriminately.

There are other causes for poor lawns, but these four account for the most trouble.

Fertilizing at the wrong time of the year or using improper amounts of lime and fertilizer can encourage weeds and reduce the vigor of the lawn, he advised.

Nitrogen is an important element in lawn fertilization. Too much nitrogen gives dark green growth and may over-stimulate the grass for a short time. Too little nitrogen will result in low vigor of the grass. If the fertilizer program used on your lawn is not balanced properly with nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium, it will result in a weakened stand of grass which weeds can invade.

To insure proper fertilization use the soil analysis program. The County Extension office will analyze soil free of charge and recommend exactly what the soil needs. Bring approximately one pint of soil from lawn or garden to the Extension Office located in the basement of the Post Office Building in Oakland. If one does not take a sample, follow the general rule of thumb and apply 80 lbs. of ground limestone and 35 lbs. of 5-10-10 fertilizer per 1,000 sq. ft.

For additional information on lawn care, contact Mr. Simms at the County Extension Office.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

March 28, 1968

To the Editor,
Dear Sir:

I have never before written to a publication of any sort to express my opinions, but I do now feel a strong compulsion to speak out concerning the recent teacher salary debate.

The blame for the situation existing here, in regards to this hassle, has been alternately placed with the County Commissioners, the School Board and School Superintendent, and with the teachers. I think it's time we faced a few facts and placed the blame where it really belongs, with the parents and taxpayers of this county.

Let's be realistic! The County Commissioners are subject to public pressure and their concern over the tax rates in the county are necessarily dictated by the feeling of the public at large. The School Board and School Superintendent are also subjected to these pressures and are bound by the limits of the budget they have to work with. The teachers, like any other workers, want a decent wage schedule and indeed are entitled to it. They also realize that without a good salary base, Garrett County may well be without teachers in the future.

I, for one, would like to commend the County Commissioners, the School Board and School Superintendent and the Garrett County Teachers Association for yielding to the situation and each one adding a part to the solution of the problem.

I don't relish the thought of a teacher strike either. It would be easy to blame any of the three groups mentioned and then sit back and feel secure in my own self-righteousness. But when I look around for someone to kick, I find there is no one here but us Garrett Countians.

We talk of "dead wood." There is bound to be some, but how did it get here? Could it possibly be that, since Garrett County has had the lowest teacher salary scale in the state for as long as I can remember, we might accumulate a little more "dead wood" than normal?

I feel that we, the parents, citizens, taxpayers and voters of the county, are responsible for this situation because of the complacency we have shown through the years.

The mass meeting of parents, called for April 2, will now be called off because the immediate threat is gone with the teacher acceptance of the setttement offer made by the Board of Education. Why not go ahead with this meeting, with the purpose in mind of continuing to show our concern for the education of our children? I am quite certain that all the problems in the field of education have not been resolved by the settlement of this particular phase of the controversy. There will be other problems in the future, so why not work for the solutions before they reach the critical stage? If we are as concerned about our children's education in general as we seem to be about whether or not they have extra-curricular activities, then we should be willing to work continually for the betterment of our educational system in the county.

Self-government, which is what democracy is all about, carries with it a great burden of responsibility. If we want to be self-governing, then we must take up our burden of responsibility, discard our feelings of complacency, and put our collective shoulders to the wheel.

Concerned for the future,
Paul W. DeWitt
Star Route, Oakland.

Sermonette

"THE KING IS COMING"

by Dr. Lawrence Sherwood, Pastor, St. Paul's Methodist Church, Oakland

It was a day of great excitement. Word passed quickly that the King was coming to Jerusalem. Everyone who heard the news dropped what he was doing in order to join the crowds that had gathered to get a glimpse of the coming King.

At last the King came into view. It did not seem strange to the people gathered along the road that he was riding on a donkey. Indeed, this was what they expected. Had not the prophet said: "Tell the city of Zion: Now your king is coming to you. He is gentle and rides on a donkey." Thus, the King's entry into Jerusalem on a donkey was but the fulfillment of ancient prophecy.

People were caught up in anticipation of what the coming of the King might mean. Many of the people spread their cloaks in the road so that the King might ride over them. Others got branches from the palm trees and waved them high. Some of the people shouted: "Praise to David's Son! God bless him who comes in the name of the Lord! Praise be to God!"

Thus did Jesus make his entry into Jerusalem on the first Palm Sunday; thus did the people react to his coming.

But where were the masses a few days later when Jesus was about to be crucified? Were some of the same persons who had shouted his praises on Palm Sunday also shouting "Crucify him!" in so short a time? Or were all of those who proclaimed him King now with the silent ones who would do him neither harm nor good?

The people had expected an earthly King who would conquer other nations and would make his people great. They could not understand such a meek King as Jesus who came to rule in the hearts of men.

Thus, the Palm Sunday acknowledgment of kingship quickly turned to silence. The phrase "King of the Jews" nailed to the cross of Jesus was placed only in mockery.

Still history repea
Even in our own time are all too willing to pr
Jesus as King in an easy but when he demands obedien in life they want him to go hi way so they can go their own way.

Jesus still yearns to rule in the hearts of men. It is not enough to be with the Palm Sunday crowd who proclaimed Jesus King on their own terms. We must submit our total lives to his will.

Medicare Doctor Bill Insurance Rates Raised

The premium for the doctor bill insurance part of medicare increases from $3 to $4 in April, Edward G. Phelps, Social Security District Manager in Cumberland, today reminded older people in this area.

Persons 65 and over who are enrolled for the supplementary medical insurance and receiving monthly social security checks will find the checks delivered to them on April 3 a dollar less than last month's payment. For couple's receiving combined benefits, the reduction is $2.

All social security benefit check amounts were changed last month when a 13 percent benefit became effective. The amount of the increase in benefits was considerably more than the $1 by which the medical insurance premium is increased, according to Mr. Phelps.

The Government will continue to match the increased premium, so the doctor bill insurance will continue to be worth twice the amount of the premium paid by the individual older person. The medicare law provides for the periodic review of the costs of the medical insurance program, Mr. Phelps said, and for any necessary adjustments in the premium rate.

Is Your Name BARNES?

Do You Know That:

Barnes, an old and honored surname, is principally of English and Irish origins. In the former category it admits of a few derivations. According to some authorities on the origin of names, it was applied, when surnames first came into vogue, to those who lived near a barn. It is said also that Barnes is of local origin and was applied in mediaeval times to immigrants to England who came from Bearn, a place in France. Still again, there are some who state that it stems in some way from the Old English and Norse word "bairn" meaning "a child".

In its Irish aspect, Barnes is derived from the Gaelic "barrawanai" meaning "fomenter of strife". It was popular in the ancient districts of Thomond and Tirconnell. The coat-of-arms of the Irish branch of the Barnes family bears the motto "I Am The Same During My Life".

Among the high ranking officers who served in the Continental Army during the Revolutionary War was Lieutenant Edward Barnes (1744-1803) of the Massachusetts militia.

The first census of the United States, taken in 1790, has sixty-five listings of persons by the name of Barnes who were residents of Maryland and heads of families at that time.

"The Barnes Family Association" was organized at New Haven, Connecticut in June 1903. Three Year Books were published by it from 1907 to 1910.

Henry Lee Barnes (1877-1934), a descendant of Thomas Barnes who emigrated from Essex County, England in 1656 and settled in Marlboro, Massachusetts, was a distinguished physician who practiced his profession in Providence, R. I. He was an authority on tuberculosis.

John Barnes (1859-1919) was justice, Supreme Court of Wisconsin.

Gilbert Hobbs Barnes (1889-1943) was professor and head of the department of economics, Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, O.

Frank Plummer Barnes is vice-president, International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation, with offices in New York City.

Verdi Beethovan Barnes is lieutenant general, U. S. Army.

William Alexander Barnes, a physician of note, practices his profession in New York City, where he serves also as professor of surgery, Cornell University Medical College.

Blaine Fazenbaker and friend, Daniel Harris, of Washington, spent the week with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jonas L. Fazenbaker and grandfather, Joe Fazenbaker. They also visited Mr. and Mrs. Wayne O'Brien and sons, Swanton, Saturday evening.

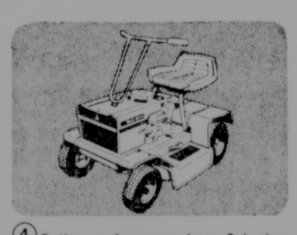
ISN'T IT ABOUT TIME YOU DISCOVERED THE DIFFERENCE IN BOLENS

(1) Better performance from Husky tractors. Four models, 7 to 12½ hp. Features like automatic transmission, a true three-point hitch and a power lock hitch that makes attachment changing a snap.

Sure, you're tired of chug-and-cut lawn equipment that's scarcely better than a sickle and a hoe. Machines that can eat up more time and energy than they save. ■ Well, you can forget about those worrisome machines.

Discover, as Arnold Palmer did, the complete lineup of outdoor power equipment that takes the drag out of lawn chores all year... discover Bolens.

Bolens engineers began designing equipment about 50 years ago with two questions in mind: "What should the equipment do? What will you want it to do?" As they found the answers (and find them they did), they built the machines.



And the result is better performance, for you, across the board.

(2) Better performance from the Center-Pivot Steering Estate Keeper. Turn in a 21-inch radius. Mow around a tree in one pass. Cut 90° corners without backtracking. Put an end to hand trimming.

(3) Better performance from the Lawn Keeper. Also features Center-Pivot Steering that puts you on top of every mowing job. Turn in a radius as tight as 14 inches. Curl around corners, trees and shrubs.

(4) Better performance from Suburban Riding mowers. Trim within ½ inch on either side, adjust cutting height from 1½ to 3 inches. A separate blade clutch locks the blade in an off position.

(5) Better performance from Orbit-Air walking power mowers. The base fully encloses the blade which minimizes the danger of objects being cast out. The cuttings are so fine you don't have to rake.

NOW! FREE LAWN CARE BOOKLET!

For a limited time only, co-operating Bolens dealers are offering a free booklet written for Bolens by noted lawn specialist John Bradshaw. Called "Better Lawns," it gives practical hints on everything from starting a new lawn to selecting the correct grasses for shady areas. Get yours today.

Paul S. Frank Jr.

April 4-11

The sun rose at 5:57 a. m. today and will set at 6:45 p. m. giving us twelve hours, forty-eight minutes of daylight. Next Thursday the sun rises at 5:46 a. m. and sets at 6:52 p. m. giving eighteen minutes more of light on April 11.

The moon will be at the first quarter phase at 10:28 p. m. tomorrow night. During the week it will be visible in the east afternoon and in the west before its sets near midnight. The moon will be waxing during the week.

Mars in Aries is still visible low in the west setting about an hour and a half after sunset. Jupiter in Leo near Regulus, is high in the eastern sky at seven o'clock. It is the brightest object in the sky other than the moon. Venus in Aquarius is low in the east and is visible for a short period before sunrise. Saturn will be in conjunction with the sun today. This means it will be in line with the earth but on the other side of the sun.

Gemini is a constellation containing two bright stars fairly close together. Each star is at the end of a line of fainter stars which extends parallel to each other southwest to Orion, the hunter. This constellation represents the twins, Castor and Pollux. Pollux is the brightest star in Gemini who gave its name to one of our manned space projects. Our expression "By Jiminy" is a corruption of an Elizabethan expression, "Oh, Gemini". Castor and Pollux were thought by ancient mariners to help them navigate.

In the planetarium this week we find Mrs. Eary's third grade, Loch Lynn, studying seasons. Mrs. Minnick's third grade, Rt. 40, studying the sun and the moon, and constellations. On Monday Mrs. Lee's fifth grade, Dennett Road, will be studying constellations. Next Wednesday the sixth grade from Columbia Street School, Allegany County, will visit.

Keith Cummings and Ken Dill were named as new marksmanship leaders. Darwin Fike and George Zimmerman were named "small motors" leaders.

PRACTICALLY DEMOLISHED—That was the assessment on the automobile which was struck by train No. 11 last Saturday afternoon on the Baltimore and Ohio Second street crossing, causing the death of Mrs. Robert L. Spring is so much more than just a season. It is a miracle, enacted against a backdrop of perfect days. It is the time of rebirth . . . of reaffirmation.

Spring is Christ's story, beautifully illustrated by nature. It is all the teachings of the Church, brought to reality, spread out gloriously for you to see. Nature in her sweet, new loveliness, touches the world, touches you with the Christ-like spirit. If your vision has been dulled, she gives you the chance to see again more brightly than ever.

Palm Sunday is here again. Never before have the doors of the Church seemed to stand quite so open . . . so ready to receive you. Never has the lesson of everlasting life . . . Christ's lesson . . . been so poignant. There will be new richness in your life if you will trust in the Church. In your soul there can be eternal spring, and all the bleakness, questioning and doubt can be erased from your heart forever.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

THE STUMBLING-BLOCK

Lesson for April 7, 1968

Background Scripture: John 18 and 19.
Devotional Reading: I Corinthians 1:18-24.

Little Billy's mother was appalled. While doing some cleaning in Billy's room, she had spied his new Sunday school quarterly, picked it up, and thumbed through it. What she found on its pages shocked her sensibilities and stirred her anger. She found it hard to believe that Billy's teacher would deal with something so unpleasant as the crucifixion! That might be all right for adults, she reasoned, but hardly fifth grade children.

Rev. Althouse

"Billy!" she called. Absorbed in his favorite television program, "Vampire Man," little Billy did not respond immediately. When at last he did appear, he simply confirmed that "Yes, that is what we are studying in Sunday school now." Armed with this answer, his mother decided to call on the pastor and voice her complaint.

The pastor waited patiently while she stated her objections. "In other words, Reverend," she concluded, "I don't feel there's any place in the children's department for a subject so distasteful as the cross. Reserve that for the more mature students and delete it from the children's department." The minister waited until she was finished speaking and then said, "Mrs. Niap, if we take away the cross, there is nothing of Christianity left. Surely you understand that?" Surely, she didn't.

Stumbling block

Nor is Billy's mother alone in her feeling about "the cross and all that." Paul himself acknowledged that the cross was "a stumbling block to Jews and folly to Gentiles." A well-known actor of several decades ago once admitted that he appreciated the story of Jesus "up to the point of the crucifixion." That he found to be personally obnoxious. "Take away the cross; it's the story's one weakness."

Without the cross

Yet it cannot be done. Assume for the moment that, after Jesus had prayed for his disciples, he left them and disappeared, never to be seen or heard from again. Would that have made any difference for the Church? We would still have his wonderful teachings, would we not? We could still practice and live by the "Golden Rule," couldn't we?

The answer ought to be obvious: it is the cross which makes Christianity both unique and possible. Others may debate the nature of God, but the cross translates into action what the words about God can only suggest. As Christians, we do not have to speculate about God, he has already shown us what he is with the cross. He has said it as dramatically and plainly as it can be said.

Without the cross, then, there would be no Christianity. Extract the cross from the New Testament and, no matter how cleanly you snip with your scissors, you will find that there is little left. The teachings of Jesus, the "Golden Rule," are taken seriously only because of the cross.

Do as I do!

Unlike most of us, Jesus did not ever ask his disciples to do what he himself would not do. His approach was not one of "Do as I say, not as I do." If anything, his whole ministry was founded upon the invitation to "Do as I do." This had been evident in the upper room when he washed his disciples' feet to demonstrate the humility they should practice in their love for one another. Now, on the cross, he was demonstrating both the power and the endurance of God's love.

Delete the cross? No, it cannot be done; it must not be done, for this "stumbling block" is really the gospel's power, not its weakness.

WHEN DO YOU HAVE AN EMPTY STOMACH?

Sometimes a physician may direct you to take a medicine on an empty stomach. For example, some penicillin is about twice as effective when taken on an empty stomach. Three hours after a meal all the food in the stomach has moved to the next digestive process. It is empty.

If you do not know exactly how to use any medicine and your physician or dentist is not available to answer questions, ask us. The odds are we can immediately give you the correct answer. Never take chances. We are glad to help.

Extension Agent Reveals Schedule

The Extension Agent, Home Economics, Mrs. Freda S. Denison, will be presenting the lesson "What to Keep and Where" to homemaker clubs during April. The following schedule was announced:

April 9, 1:30 p. m., Mars Hill Club, home of Mrs. John W. Butler; 7:30 p. m., Deer Park Club, at Deer Park Episcopal Church.

April 10, 1:30 p. m., McHenry Club, at the E. U. B. Church Basement; 8:00 p. m., Route 40 Club at the Route 40 School.

April 11, 10:00 a. m., Meadow Glade Club at the home of Mrs. George O'Brien; 7:30 p. m., Oakland Club, home of Mrs. Charles Mason.

April 12, 1:00 p. m., the officers of College Week for Women and Mrs. Denison will meet at the home of Mrs. B. O. Aiken and plan for the Annual County dinner and program.

Storybook Clothes "In"

Now that the romantic storybook look is back in fashion with enough tucks, ruffles, ribbons, and laces to make every very young miss feel like a heroine, Mrs. Denison said "Thank heaven for little girls".

In line with the new trend toward femininity for big girls, little sisters are having their own Victorian revival — complete with shirtwaists, dirndls, pinafores, aprons, stand-up collars, and wrist-length sleeves. Fortunately for busy modern mothers, there's nothing old-fashioned about the fabrics involved. The majority of these flattering outfits are in materials combining Dacron with cotton or Orlon with cotton, or in other synthetics and blends which are completely machine-wash-and-dry-able.

Even better news for practical homemakers is the wide selection of children's wear bearing the durable press label.

The earlier you shop for children's summer wardrobe, the better will be the selection of favored styles and fabrics in the sizes you need. And, before you buy, it's wise to check labels or tags for washing directions—and also to determine whether fabric has such additional advantages as durable press and soil release finishes, Mrs. Denison concluded.

CAPITOL COMMENT

by Charles "Mac" Mathias
Congressman, 6th District, Maryland

Toward A Congressional Code of Ethics

I have often discussed in this column the need for a code of Congressional ethics and conduct to help Members of Congress keep their activities above any suspicion, and to give the public and the press yardsticks by which to measure the conduct of their representatives.

Now the House is finally within a short distance of adopting such a code. The Committee on Standards of Official Conduct, created last April, has just filed a report proposing rules and standards for Members and key staff members to follow, and procedures for enforcing the new code.

The Committee's recommendations will probably not win universal acclaim. Some will probably call the proposed rules too weak; others will say that they are so strong that they invade the legitimate privacy of Members and their families. The Committee has made a frank and conscientious effort to balance these concerns, and to draft proposals which serve the public interest without imposing hardships on Members.

At the heart of the Committee's report is its most controversial recommendation, which would require limited financial discolosure by all Members and principal staff assistants. This rule is intended to advise the public of those individual financial interests, professional affiliations, outsides fees and and capital gains which might be most likely to produce conflicts of interest beween a Member's personal situation and his official duties.

Under the proposed rule, Members and key staff would have to report the following for the public record:

—financial interests in any business regulated by a Federal agency (such as a radio station) or doing substantial business with the government (such as a defense contractor), if the individual's interest was worth over $5000 or had produced income of more than $1000 in the previous year;

—the name of any professional organization or firm of which the individual or his spouse was an officer or advisor, if income from that firm exceeded $1000 per year;

—the source of any outside income or capital gain exceeding $5000 per year, or of any reimbursements (from outside the government) of over $1000 for expenses.

In addition to making this limited public disclosure, Members and key staff would be required to file the details of these types of interests with a standing Committee of the House, which would have the responsibility of investigating any alleged misconduct.

The Committee also proposed a new code of official conduct to clarify the proper uses of campaign funds, to outlaw the types of outside activities which might raise questions, and to define realistic limits on gifts and honorariums.

These recommendations go a long way toward shedding more light on the activities of the Congress and clarifying the types of questions which have troubled the public in the past. I shall support the Committee's proposals, and hope that they will be brought before the House for adoption without delay.
